Dave, did you ever figure out what your fuckup below was trying to say, or did you scrape out your wifde's cunt for the yeast?

BILLY SMITH STEPS ON HIS OWN DICK THUSLY:

English skills, quite ironically in <VfQHf.14581$rH5.8121@newsread2.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"That's interesting there idiot. I bet you really did flunk high school math and probably elementary too. Oh thats right, wasn't that when was in Floriduh. Spelled Florida but the DUH is for your Dumb Ass."

"wasn't that when was in Floriduh" - Billy makes good fuck up!

Consult Roger's West VirginiaThesaurus.....such as it is.
Or such as it isn't.

Roger claims that these misspellings are keyboard errors.
Not!
Mark my prediction. Within a day or two Not Roger will rebut this post with misspellings he claims have been made by the object of his warped desire and his Eternal Stalkee, Lloyd Davies.
In fact, Not Roger will respond with no less than thirty such rebuttals while using no less than four screen names and as many dialup connections.
How many fifty-something sociopaths do YOU know who feel it necessary to maintain no less than four dialup accounts at one time?
I can name only one. Roger Wiseman.

Chop! Chop! Roger has been cut off at the ankles by his intellectual superiors and he hasn't the sense to realize it.

"eteranl" As in forever?
"ionly" Ions? Lonely? Who knows?

"expossed" Still no spell check.

"workibg" As in working?

"assulted" Darned typos!

"Champoin".Whassup, Wiseman? No dictionaries in the mental ward?

"Anoinymous"...a cross between anonymous and annoying?

"Acident" Roger's mom got preggers by accident.

"Alreaedy" Alright, already!

"Amouints" Roger amounts to nothing.

"Aposterphe" This guy is a hoot, ain't he?

"Basios"...word Woger uses when he gets neeeerrrrvous.
"Behing"...a cross between being and behind?

"Coiward" As in peeking from behind his mommy's curtains.
"Feamle"...I think he meant female.
"Losser"...only loser Roger can do it better.
"Ignroant"...typical, considering the source.
"Sluprs"...only Rogie knows what this means.
"Travelled"...a Rogerism, replete with ignorance.
"Postss"...pssst...Roger..that should be Posts.
"Defgenerate"...well, it's Roger's word...
"Faity"...he meant to say Fairy, but you know Roger.

"Ghet" Get a load of Curtain Boy!
"Distribiution"...Roger likes using phonics.
"Biotch"...he meant Bitch, but his phonics took over again.
"Methjadone"...a West Virginia substitute for Heroin.

"Sumbliminal"...one of Roger's favorites.
"Recepticle"...either of Roger's moist cavaties.
"Cociane"...a West Virginia drug of choice?
"Tiome"...Roger meant to say Time...but his fingers were numb.
"Beraking"...no definition. Could mean 'beraking' the leaves,
"Amny"...he meant 'any',
"Nlay"...a town in Maylaysia? Vermont?
"Al;ong"...only Wussman knows what this means.
"Becasu"...well, becasu Roger is not the brightest bulb on the tree.
"Seperation". Why? Because Roger cannot "seperate" from his mommie!
"Sisnce" He meant Since, but his pudgy little fingers slipped off the keys.
"gnetically" What?
"provce" (prove?)
"Piuzza" (West Virginia Pizza)
"Schol" (school?)
"strill" (still?)
"shoitgun" 12 ga or 20 ga?
"Snoip" (How they spell "snip" in Glen Dale)
"Maturbater". Wiseman does it all the time, he just can't spell it.(leaves a sticky residue on his right hand)
"Coskscuking". It's a Roger thing, as in Lavender Lads.
"Waddleing". Only in Glen Dale, eh?

" Stgop" Roger's version of Stop.

"Fahter's" He meant Father's Day.

"fserting"..would that be festering?

"poists". Roger meant "posts".

"snadwich" As in peanut butter and jelly?

"regualr" Glen Dale rendition of "regular".

"aftrer" After? Aftrer what?

"soory". Sorry Roger fucks up again.

"didnb't" He didn't?

"whoile". He ate the whoile thing?

"Woamn" He's hooked on West Virginia phonics, all right.

"prrof" And he kin prove it, too.

"beforfe" Was that before he lurned to spell?

"yoiuy" Roger's version of "y'all".

"illerate" Only illiterate Roger can spell like this.

"haeart" Aw, how heartless of me to laugh!

"valule" Roger has no values. No wonder he can't spell it.

"proch" Doesn't everyone have one on their house?

"inmstitution" Where Roger's mom put him in June 1999.

"timne" It's Howdy Doody time?

"whgo" What? Who dat?

How debilitating this link must be to Underdog Wog. After all these years living in his Mommy's house to have the true value of his home exposed? After taking others to task for living in poor neighborhoods?
Hey, Rog. We all have to live somewhere and your hovel is no exception.

Now, Wogie, lest you castigate or denigrate others may I remind you that there are many of us who have garages bigger than your house? Heck, I have a garden larger than your lot.

BILLY SMITH STEPS ON HIS OWN DICK THUSLY:

English skills, quite ironically in

That's funny boy. Isn't it true that Marie owned the house for years before your sorry ass ever showed up?
Or that you moved in with Marie at the tender age of 44? Most probably because everyone you've worked with got tired of your crap and you got canned from every job you've ever had. .

Because Woger is obsessed with homosexuality. It's kind of like when he talks about Lloyd incessantly. He talks about Lloyd's alleged virginity. At least from his perspective, I guess if Lloyd is truly the virgin Woger clams. Then he doesn't have to worry about diseases or anything like that.

How's that syphilis treating you? You're the last one to be talking about a guy's sexual experiences. Ever since you moved back home to Marie at 44 you haven't gotten any either. Unless you want to count the Lavender lads and their ilk. Try again Bubba Boy. Not to mention that your wife divorced you because you were such a lame assed individual.

Poor delusional Vile. Roger doesn't have to make up his life accomplishments and continually broadcast them because he hasn't got low self esteem like you do.

Sure you do, Roger. You have lots of self esteem and you show it daily. Of course, if being designated as Asshole Of The Year allows you bragging rights, then I'm sure your self esteem has risen to new heights.

Such are your life accomplishments, Rog. You've been appointed Asshole Of The Year, are on a first name basis with FCC Enforcer Riley Hollingsworth and are well known to the Chief of Police . These are three such "accomplishments" that would bolster anybody's self esteem. Oh, wait. I left out your mental problems and proclivity for stalking. Did I leave anything out?

Perhaps somebody can fill me in here and let me know if I missed any other of your other "life accomplishments".
(watch now as Roger, in retaliation, grabs his camera and heads to Dave's house. A Little Bitch scorned is a terrible thing...)

Now you plagiarize? Too bad you can't even spell non sequitorcorrectly, though.

Er, Woger: It's spelled "non sequitur." Now what was that you were saying?

Feel free to post anything which confirms any of your claims.

Roger has a lot to be proud of. Don't believe me? Run his callsigns through Google and read the letters he was sent from FCC Enforcer, Riley Hollingsworth.

That alone is an accomplishment, is it not?

While being forced to take his Amateur Radio tests over again, something that would cause great shame to a normal Ham, this dimwit proceeds to posit that he was randomly chosen from a pool of VEC testees and did nothing out of the ordinary to draw the attention of the FCC. Apparently Not Roger is of the belief that if one tells a lie often enough that eventually others will believe it, too. He has fooled himself, but the rest of us? Well, to put it in Texas lingo? That dog don't hunt.

Learn to read fatass:

http://www.arrl.org/news/enforcement_logs/2006/0131.html?nc=1

"NOTE: Issuance by the FCC of a Warning Notice indicates that the FCC has what it believes to be reliable evidence of possible rules infractions and not necessarily that the recipient has violated FCC rules. The FCC has the authority, pursuant to §97.519(d)(2) of the rules to readminister any examination element previously administered by a volunteer examiner. These enforcement letters are representative of recent Advisory Notices, Warning Notices, Notices of Violation and other FCC communications to licensees and others involving possible

I don't have AIDS

that you would wish on anybody shows just how sick you truly are

I would not wish even on Robeson, my thoughts involed a nice humane heart attack or him falling and breaking his neck or just deciding to grow up and act like an adult

but not AIDS which I have of course seen the progress of that disaese

What's lebo sex Roger? Is that lesbian or lesbo? Is that what you did when you dressed up as a woman and got with the Lavender Lads?

Thank you, Roger, for affording me so much fun. You have, via your stupidity and immaturity afforded me and several others a whole lot of entertainment. By the very virtue of the fact that you claim to be educated only adds to the humor. You claim that you have an education, yet your third grade comments prove otherwise.
Your childish pranks add to your already sad reputation and in all honesty? While I find you entertaining? I also find you to be quite pathetic.
I feel sorry for you, Roger. You really have no redeeming qualities and it would appear that you are forever doomed to a life of hiding behind those drawn curtains and spending the rest of your days friendless.
I really do feel deep pity for you. You need help, Roger.

You're on to something. Maybe he switched services, they saw what a screw-up he was, and that's why he had such a short career.

3Y0X NEWS..........
PETER I ISLAND DXPEDITION QRT. As your editor was putting the final touches on this week's bulletin, the 3Y0X DXpedition went QRT at 1813z on December 19th (Last contact was with K8LTG on 17m CW). According to their Web page the Peter I team reported at 1900z, February 18th:

"The weather cleared sufficiently to offload even more of the 'ready to go' gear -- and four Team Members! Gary/K9SG, Carlos/NP4IW, Wayne/KU4V and Robert/SP5XVY are all safely aboard the ship. The rest of us are working in consolidating loads for the helicopter and trying to elevate the QSO count even higher than the 81.9K Qs uploaded as of 1400utc today. Even though Gary/K9SG (our Team physician) is no longer on the island, we were able to persuade him to leave the defibrillator behind (just in case)!" QSL via N2OO. Remember, updates, pictures/videos and logs can be found on the 3Y0X Web page at: http://www.peterone.com/ADDED NOTE: Just before going to print, your editor checked the Peter One Web page one more time and saw the following: "This ham radio log contains 86,522 QSOs from 8-Feb-2006 0550Z through 19-Feb-2006 1100Z."

(ed. GREAT JOB GUYS! Where are you going next?)

WHAT DXING IS ALL ABOUT? Congrats to John, W1BIH, a veteran DXer, for working the 3Y0X. "Why" you say does John get a special mention in the OPDX? John is 90 years old. He lives in a retirement community and sold his complete station last year when he moved. For John, Peter One Island is the last country John needs for DXCC, and he missed the last two Peter One Island DXpeditions. However, on Thursday, February 9th, Don, N1DG, picked up John and took him to his station. About thirty minutes later there was a big smile on John's face. You see, John has now worked his last country (335 current), and he can now get back on the top of the honor roll. "Oh", by the way, Peter I was his country number 390 (including deletes)! WOW!!!! Since then, John has worked 3Y&#65533;X from his retirement community station on 20M CW with 100w and a G5RV strung from his window 20' above the ground. See John's QSO with 3Y0X at: http://005d89a.netsolhost.com/videos/w1bih.htm

Congrats to the 3Y0X team for having a QSO with Commander Bill McArthur on the International Space Station, NA1SS, on February 13th. The 3Y0X QSO pushed McArthur's count of DXCC entities worked from space to 104. Read the story at: http://www.arrl.org/news/stories/2006/02/14/4/

6W, SENEGAL. Peter, HA3AUI, continues to be active as 6W/HA3AUI until March 31st. His main focus will be on 20/17 meters SSB, with some PSK and RTTY. However, he has also been heard on 15 meters. His operating does vary, but watch 20 meters after 1100z, 17 meters after 1600z and 15 meters after 1300z. QSL via his home callsign, direct or by the bureau.

9H, MALTA. Members of the Texas DX Society (TDXS) are pleased to announce their DXpedition to Malta (IOTA EU-023), March 1-8th. Team Malta members are: Cal/WF5W (9H3W), Steve/W9DX (9H3DX), Madison/W5MJ (9H3V), Don/N5DD (9H3RY), Bill/K5WAF (9H3WF), Mike/K5UO (9H3UO), Paul/W5PF (9H3PF) and Keith/NM5G (9H3KD). They will participate in the ARRL International DX Phone Contest, March 4-5th, as 9H3DX. During non-contest periods all 9H3 callsigns may be used, but primary activity will be 9H3DX on SSB, 9H3V on CW, 9H3RY on RTTY, and 9H3WF on PSK. They will be active on 80-10 meters and possibly 160m. QSL Manager is W5PF for all callsigns. Visit the TDXS Web site for more details and online log searches at: http://www.tdxs.org

C6, BAHAMAS. Peter, W2IRT, will be in Nassau operating as C6/W2IRT for the week of March 4-10th. He plans to be on 17/20 meters for the most part using 100w and a dipole. This is a spare-time holiday operation. QSL via his home callsign; direct, by the bureau and LoTW.

CQIR (Ireland Calling: Preliminary Announcement: Win a trip to Ireland!). In 2007, the Irish Radio Transmitters Society (IRTS) celebrates their 75th anniversary of its founding in 1932. As part of its jubilee celebrations the Society is organizing an International Radio Contest, "CQIR - Ireland Calling". For this contest, references to Ireland means the island of Ireland and its offshore islands - both EI and GI. CQIR is a once-off event with a difference - overseas entrants with 75 or more QSOs have the opportunity to win a trip to Ireland. CQIR is a 24-hour, single-operator HF CW/SSB contest on the weekend of 29/30 September 2007. As this is the fifth full weekend in the month, there is no clash with any established event. CQIR is a celebration of both the IRTS Jubilee and the "Irish" amateur-radio community worldwide. It's where the Irish, at home and abroad, work the World - and where those of Irish descent identify themselves by including their ancestral county in the exchange, for example: County Limerick, County Antrim etc. Full rules and county codes will appear on the IRTS Web page at: http://www.irts.ie
Also, free software will be provided to support CQIR.

CN2, MOROCCO. Brad, K7ZSD, will be active as CN2SD from March 20-28th. He will also be active in the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as a Single-Op/Single-Band (20m) entry. QSL via K7ZSD.

DAYTON HAMVENTION NEWS. George/W8UVZ and George/K8GG cordially invite all 160 meter enthusiasts to the Topband dinner gathering during the 2006 HamVention in Dayton on Friday night. This annual event brings together 160 meter operators from around the world for food, drink and camaraderie. This year please note that the dinner location has changed due to the unexpected closing of Neil's Heritage House in Dayton. Here are the particulars:
Date: May 19, 2006
Time: Social Hour 6:15 PM (cash bar), Dinner 7:30 PM

QTH: The Barnsider Restaurant (Near Hara Arena and Hamvention)
5202 North Main Street (Highway 48 just north of Needmore)
Dayton, Ohio (937) 277-1332
Fare: Salad, rolls and butter, dinner entree, dessert and beverage.
Dinner entrees will include Grilled Salmon, Grilled Chicken Breast, Grilled Pork Chop and Tenderloin Beef Tips. (It will not be necessary to choose entree until arriving at restaurant).

Reserve a seat and pay dinner cost to: George Taft W8UVZ, 271 Parkshore Drive, Battle Creek, MI 49014 (E-mail w8uvz@voyager.net). Reserve now and pay dinner charge by May 1st. Overseas visitors may pay at the door but need to reserve by E-mail (or airmail) now. This restaurant has limited space, so please make your reservations ASAP (have only 100 seats).

DXCC NEWS. Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager, informs OPDX that the following are approved for DXCC credit:
R1MVC and R1MVW - Malyj Vysotskij Island (M-V Island)
Operation from 15-28th November (2005)

EI, IRELAND. Laci, HA0HW will fly to Ireland on February 24th and will spend a week near Dublin. He informs OPDX that he will try to operate with his "good-old travelling radio (FT-840) and well-tried fishing pole verticals." QSL EI/HA0HW via the HA Bureau or via QRZ.com address.

FR/G, GLORIOSO ISLANDS. Didier, F5OGL, informs that the Glorioso expedition (IOTA AF-011) previously planed from March 16th to April 7th is one more time postponed but still not cancelled. A TV reporter team could join the expedition. A new scheme is under work, and they will update their Web site as soon as possible at: http://glorieuses2005.free.fr/

FY, FRENCH GUYANA (IOTA Op). Operators Steve/MW0ZZK and Florent/F4CYZ will be on the air from the Island of Royale (SA-020) with the callsign TO7IR between February 23-27th. Activity will be on 80-6 meters on CW/SSB and the Digital modes. QSL via IZ8CCW (Antonio), direct or by the Bureau.

FY, FRENCH GUYANA. Operators Marc/F1HAR, Olivier/F5MZN, Laurent/F6FVY and Herve/F5HRY will be active as FY5KE in the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th) as a Multi-Single entry. QSL via the Bureau or direct to CBA.

IOTA NEWS.....
AS-046. (Update OPDX.746) XYL Aniko, HA5TAA, from Budapest, Hungary, was rewarded a Far East trip by the company she works for and is expected to activate Tioman Island for about seven days out of her 14 day and 12 night trip between February 27th and March 12th. Look for 9M2/HA5TAA to be active on 20 meters SSB around March 3rd. Aniko has been a radio amateur for about four years.
Her husband is also a radio amateur (5 years). His callsign is HA5AZZ. QSL via the HA QSL Bureau or via the address on QRZ.com.

JD1, OGASAWARA ISLANDS. Remember to look for operators Toru/JI5USJ and Makoto/JI5RPT to be active from the Island of Chichijima (AS-031) from now until February 28th. Activity will be on 160-10 meters signing JD1BLX (Toru) on SSB/RTTY/CW and JD1BLY (Makoto) on CW. Suggested frequencies are:
CW - 1821, 3511, 7011, 10114, 14040, 18098, 21040, 24920 and 28040
SSB - 3795, 7050/7227, 14255, 18128, 21260, 24960 and 28460 kHz.
QSLs via their home callsign, Bureau is OK. More information is available online at: http://www.aa.alpha-net.ne.jp/ji5rpt/jd1

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
QSL STATUS FOR 5N0/OK1AUT, 5N0ZKD, 5N99ZKD AND 5N0W. David, OK1RK (5N0ZKD and 5N0W), informs OPDX that he has done the last bundle of QSLs for the 5N0/OK1AUT, 5N0ZKD, 5N99ZKD and 5N0W operations during his stay in Nigeria. He mentions that anyone needing a QSL for these activities should send them in because this is the last call for them. PLEASE NOTE: David can ONLY confirm QSOs for his 5N0W operation for contacts between 1999 and May 2000. Contacts/QSOs made later belong to Vasek, OK1DXE.
ALSO NOTE: David is not a member of OK QSL Bureau; therefore, send QSLs with a SAE to his postal address: David Klimosz, Paprskova 1339/10a, 14000 Praha 4, Czech Republic.

NEW ADDRESS. Charles Harpole, K4VUD, has announced that he has a "CHANGE OF ADDRESS - PERMANENT - EFFECTIVE FEB.23, 2006". The change will also effect the following callsigns: HS0ZCW, 9N7UD, 9N1UD, A52UD, XW1UD, KG4FPK, AC4TT, VU3CHE, V26V and K4VUD. His new address is:
Charles Harpole, 5900 Baywater Dr., #506, Plano, TX 75093. He also mentioned, "Soon, I will file an alternate address in Thailand where I will be living for the indefinite future."

K7C QSL STATUS. Bob, KK6EK, K7C Expedition Leader, released the following statement about the K7C QSLs this past week: "Thanks for asking about the K7C Kure QSL cards. The cards are going out as we speak. Tom, N4XP, has worked through about 8 of the 40 trays. It will take several more weeks to complete it. If you have not yet sent in your cards, I strongly suggest the following: Go to the K7C website and check your QSOs against the online log using DXA (www.cordell.org/DXA, click on the map and then log in with your callsign). If there is any discrepancy between your personal log and what shows on DXA, I suggest you write to me. While I cannot change the K7C log, I can give you some good advice for submitting your requests for QSL cards. If you logged onto DXA to watch the activity in real time, I would very much like to hear of your experience. Please go to the link www.cordell.org/DXA, and click on '2005 DXA SURVEY.' This will bring up a page with instructions and a small set of questions. If you will send your comments to me (KK6EK@cordell.org), I'll send you a nice certificate for being a "CHARTER DXA USER." Here is the QSL route:
K7C KURE DXPEDITION 2005, c/o K4TSJ, Box 1, Watkinsville, GA 30677
Thanks to all for helping make K7C a great experience!"

QSL T40C via N1KI. Activity was by Winston/CO2WF and Dercel/CO2UG from Ciudad Habana, Cuba, during the ARRL International DX CW Contest.

RK2, KALININGRAD. Members of the "UA2 Contest Club" will be active as RK2FWA during the CQ WW 160 SSB Contest (February 25-26th) as a Multi-Op entry. QSL via DK4VW.

SPECIAL EVENT. Look for Australian special event stations to be active during the 18th Commonwealth Games in Melbourne, Australia, with some 4,500 athletes from 70 countries competing. To celebrate this event, two special event callsigns will be aired: AX3MCG and AX3GAMES. AX3MCG - (Melbourne Commonwealth Games) will be active daily between March 1-31st, by operators David/VK3EW and Peter/VK3QI; aiming to achieve at least DXCC.

AX3GAMES - A multi-operator roster will also activate this callsign generally active daily on all bands.

Special Commemorative QSLs for both callsigns will be available via the VK3 Bureau. AX3MCG and AX3GAMES are the only special event callsigns issued by Australian Communications and Media Authority to celebrate the Commonwealth Games. Individual VKs may also substitute the AX prefix during the games period.

SPECIAL EVENT. To commemorate 128th anniversary of the liberation of Bulgaria from Ottoman yoke by Russia, the Balkan Contest Club LZ1KZA (LZ5A) will operate with special event callsign LZ128LO from March 1-31st. Also, the special event callsign LZ128LO counts 10 points for "St. Teodosii Tyrnovski Award" (For details, visit: http://www.balkanclub.8m.com). QSL to LZ1KZA via the Bureau or direct to: P.O. Box 36, 4300 Karlovo, BULGARIA.

SV5, DODECANESE. Willi, DJ7RJ, will be active as SV5/DJ7RY from the Island of KOS (EU-001) between February 26th and March 18th. Most of the activity will be on the lower bands. QSL to his home callsign.

T68, AFGHANISTAN. Johnny, LA5IIA, is back in Kabul and is active again as T68G. He was heard this past week on 20 meters SSB and 17 meters CW. The length of his stay is not known. QSL via LA4YW.

TG, GUATEMALA. Operators Francisco/TG9ANF and Sergio/TG8AOV will be active as TG9ANF in the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th). QSL via TG9ANF. Visit Francisco's Web page at: http://geocities.com/tg9anf

TG, GUATEMALA. Operators Mario/TG9ADQ, Sergio/TG9SM, Marcos/EA1APV, Julio/TG9ATG, Edgar/TG9AXF and Francisco/TG9ANF will be active as TG7M in the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th). QSL via EA1APV. Activity will take place from the "Reserve of the Mayan Biosphere", which is located in the north part of Guatemala, in the frontier zone with Mexico and Belize. It is part of the Mayan Forest. Its biological wealth is characterized by a complex cosystem of forest, with great flora species and abundance of fauna.

V7, MARSHALL ISLAND. You have a few more days to work Ikou, JL1WQO, as V73WQ until February 22nd. Activity will be on 160-10 meters CW/SSB/RTTY. Most of his activity during the past weekend was on 20/17/15 meters SSB. QSL is OK via the Bureau or direct.

VP2V, BRITISH VIRGIN ISLANDS. Just a reminder! Look for Jim/G3RTE and Phil/G3SWH to be active as VP2V/G6AY from Anegada Island (NA-023) between February 23rd and March 1st. Operation will be primarily CW on 80-10 meters but with some SSB and the possibility of some 160 meters CW operation. They will have two 100 watt stations and hope to be on the air as much as possible, propagation permitting. QSL via G3SWH with SAE and adequate return postage, via E-mail for a bureau reply <phil@g3swh.demon.co.uk> or via the RSGB bureau.

You know all about that lisp. Is that the one you exhibit when you are with the Lavender Lads? I've never had a lisp so you need to go up your meds a little bit.
>>>>>>>>>>>>>>>

Wogie went to the Moundsville sperm clinic this morning to donate. The nurse handed Wogie a small, sterile glass two ounce container. Wogie looked at the small container and told the nurse, "This will not do. I need something larger, much larger."
The nurse, thinking Woger was bragging, came back with an eight ounce Dixie cup and handed it to Woger. Woger once again told the nurse, "No, I need something larger, much larger."

The nurse, calling his bluff, next brought a plastic bucket she had pulled from the janitor's closet. Woger looked at the bucket and said, "This ought to be about right."

As the nurse was closing the door to give Wogie some privacy she noticed that Woger had dropped his pants and was sitting on the bucket. The nurse told Woger that this is not how it is done and Woger looked up at her and said, "You asked for sperm donors, didn't you? Well, I'm donating all the sperm I gathered from the Lavender Lads last night."

1706. THE THOUGHTS OF YOUR RADIO GOD K1MAN: K5LBJ (ARRL BIG PROJECT STATION) GOES "BIG TIME" WITH K1MAN

K1MAN BULLETIN - B060215B -

K5LBJ (ARRL BIG PROJECT STATION) GOES "BIG TIME" WITH K1MAN

Dateline Belgrade Lakes, Maine, USA.

K1MAN came on 14.275 MHz. after KE9RY signed with OE8ANK at 8:30 EST on Wednesday, 15 February 2006.

OE8ANK and K5LBJ were calling CQ (they apparently could not hear each other), and K1MAN answered and made contact with both stations at the same time in hopes that a three way QSO could be established. Ray, OE8ANK, said that he was in Southern Austria, and Harry, a K5LBJ High School student, said that he was in Austin, Texas. K5LBJ (in "K1MAN shock?") suddenly "froze up cold" and totally dropped out of the QSO, not responding to several calls. K1MAN then finished up with OE8ANK and called K5LBJ back again and again. N6GJR, Carl, then called in from the Dallas area for a short QSO. K1MAN signed with him and then started the IARN daily talk show since the frequency was now totally clear. Five minutes into the K1MAN talk show, Harry, K5LBJ, called K1MAN on the telephone, not to join the talk show, but to respectfully "complain" about K1MAN "taking over" "his" frequency(1). But, being delighted to have kids(2) on "my" 14.275 MHz. frequency (hi), and in the true spirit of good amateur practice, I immediately stopped the talk show in progress and turned the frequency back over to K5LBJ who then called CQ, CQ, CQ, CQ, CQ, repeatedly.

K1MAN then checked in again and tried to get a signal report and info on K5LBJ and the "ARRL School Club Roundup" which they were working. But, the kids had no interest in such "rag chewing;" they just wanted contacts, Harry said. No problem. Harry did say that they would be on for an hour. No problem. At 9:08 EST, fifteen or so minutes later, Harry said K5LBJ was going QRT. Not an hour by any stretch, but these are just kids, right? No digital clocks in the ARRL premier Big Project ham shack???? ARRL petty hobby politics???? Perhaps the kids actually believe the prevailing ARRL "party line" that K1MAN is not a duly licensed amateur radio station????

I gather K5LBJ went QRT so the kids could attend classes and study such American fundamentals of citizenship such as the United States Constitution which guarantees equal justice for all, except for K1MAN, and due process of law for everyone, except for K1MAN, hi! Perhaps some "bible study: In the beginning there was ARRL, and the Lord saw that the League was good in the Garden of Newington, etc.!"

I am truly flattered that the premier ARRL Big Project student station(3) would come to 14.275 MHz. right after the new K1MAN talk show was announced to the world. Actually, 14.275 MHz. is a very popular special event frequency, isn't it? They say that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery. If you can't bring Mohammed to the mountain, bring the mountain to Mohammed, hi! K5LBJ thus went big time with K1MAN on 14.275 MHz., in the major leagues of amateur radio.

73 and GL de K1MAN

(1) First the Boy Scouts and now the kids, right? I can see another $21,000 NAL from "Rot Riley" now, can't you? Hi!

(2) Honestly, when was the last time you worked someone under age 30 on 20 meters? In fifty years of amateur radio, I could count it on one hand with the exception of when I was 20 and talking to myself, hi!

(3) Check out K5LBJ on www.QRZ.com.

Woger, the derelict that he is, hides behind the curtains of his mommy's

You have obviously noted that each and every curtain in Roger's house was drawn in the middle of the day?
What is this recluse trying to hide? What is he afraid of? His neighbors?
Lloyd? Stagger Lee? Isis? Dave? Lloyd II ? Chief Stenger? Sgt. Vogler?
Riley? His own shadow?

Keep those shades down, Curtains Boy. You never know when a hidden video cam might be across the street from you. And phone calls? Oh, gee. That is a walk in the park for someone to do with a mini tap in your neighborhood junction box. Some of those mini taps run off phone line voltage (others have self contained battery packs) and transmit 50 to 100 milliwatts in the UHF range. Get you scanner out Wog..never can tell when you are being listened to.
And don't bother looking at your nearby phone junction box. It is locked.
And yes, the box is metal and therefore the taps do not have a transmit range of more than a couple hundred yards.
Is there a car in your neighborhood monitoring your calls? Nope! Is there a receiver with voice activation within a hundred yards of you? Most likely.

One never knows, does one, when even a private detective could be lurking nearby?

Little Lloydie tried to say there was a webcam in the empty house across the street from Roger's. He swore an empty, under construction house had a webcam in it. So much for his voice activated illegal wiretap. Little Lloydie couldn't pass the General license test much less rig up any wiretaps. But then, Little retard "Not" Lloydie thinks he has an army of "daleks," too.

The ARRL is now a political organization.
K1MAN is trying to become the new political organization.

If anyone wants to help further the cause of ARS, they should join a local club or just make a donation to a local club or the Foundation for Amateur Radio.

Your money is better spent close to home, rather then lining someone's pockets!

Ok lets cut the bully shit, First off K1MAN is LEGAL! until the FCC makes a FINAL ORDER on his his fined he can legally be on the air. The Fucking Asshole Radio Relay League and their little members are pushing this shit that he's operating illegally, which is not true. As for K5LBJ, they need to learn that they don't own any frequencies, and if the frequency is not being used then anyone can use it. This bull shit idea of well were sitting on the frequency, and although were not on it, were still using it, and that's what the vast majority of amateur operators are doing and this bullshit practice needs to stop.

Because it's a fact, anyone who reads the FCC rules and regulations will tell you that. I messed around enough with the FCC enough to know both in Amateur radio and in regards to pirate radio. Untill a FINAL ORDER is issued he can legal use his station. K3VR will tell you that and so will Keith Lamonica W7DXX who is a lawyer.

I've never lived in Iowa much less been within 400 miles of Iowa. I guess you need to pull your head out of your ass instead of assuming again. Oh, thats right, your head and ass are all in one. Thats why you have an obsession with homosexuality.

I am not in Defense of K1MAN.

I have been licensed since 1967 and W1AW Has always Came right on FREQ with Code practice/ Bulletins. With High power .. Never any considerstion for Who was already using the FREQ. No one at W1Aw was checking the FREQ Before Transmitting .

Why Doesn't The FCC take away the club license for W1AW ?

I sat Treat Every licensee The SAME !

Has W1Aw Cleaned their operating Practices ? (I have not turned on My HF gear since 1997) So they may have Cleared up There OWN Transmissions yours, because you are NOT a lawyer.

May be, but a couple of passing experiences with an agency, irrespective of field, is only good for telling stories. It doesn't lend credence to your "legal" opinions, because you are NOT a lawyer.

>Untill a FINAL ORDER is issued he can legal use his station.

May be, but even if that is settled law, and it remains undemonstrated in this thread that it is, your pronouncement doesn't make it so, because you are NOT a lawyer.

And how nice of you to put words in their mouths. They should see a lawyer, but it won't be you. Why? Because...

Dumbass, it don't take a lawyer to read the rules. I've been active both with the FCC and the House and Senate Subcommittee on Telecommunications in regards to FCC rules and regulations and FCC abuse of their on rules and regulation. The fact is the FCC MUST issue a FINAL ORDER before FCC can actually be shut down. The FCC tried to shut down some pirate radio stations down a few years ago, but the court throw out the FCC injunction because the FCC didn't issue a Final Order. Under the Administrative Procedure Act (APA) a government agency must have Administrative review of any rule or violation, in which those accused of violating the rule can raise challenges to the violation, including Constitutional ones. After the Administrative process is done the accused can appeal to the US Court of Appeal and the US Supreme Court. K1MAN was give a NAL, a NAL is not a final order, the Fucking FCC will tell you that, until a final order is issued and all his LEGAL avenues he can continue to operate his station. The FCC can go to the courts and have the courts stop him while the administrative procedure and legal process is going on, but 1. they haven't done it and 2. they have to show why it's in the public interest and what harm would be caused by him remaining an operator. I would suggest you read PART 0, Part 1 and Part 2 of the FCC rules and regulations, it don't take a fucking lawyer to read plain language rules.

Now anyone who might have doubted it knows that you are a liar, just as Mark has been saying all along.

Oh, and that's a crude Icelandic blog you put up on blogspot. Real Icelanders will be offended, and they will get in touch with the Taylorville Icelanders Club. The club president will in turn contact your parents.

You'll probably be locked in your parents' basement for a month.

Wrong. Gopher face Tunder hid out in his idling rustbucket truck, ready

My name is Michael. I'm educated as electronic mechanic. I started a project with the goal to receive and decode the VMS signals from Inmarsat. VMS system is manly used on fishing vessels. On the ship there is a box with a gps and satellite transceiver. The position information is send each hour, to a land earth station, were it is distributed to the different authorities. I hope that many of you will help and contribute to get this working, because I don't have all the skills my self.

First I started to ask people in different news group about the subject. But I now realized that it will be a bigger task. So I have made a Yahoo group to get this thing going. I have in this group posted the information I have gathered until now. If you think you maybe can contribute to the project then, or is interested in this as well, then please join at http://groups.yahoo.com/group/vms_group

Cheers Michael

Daugherty is an Icelandic name. There is even an Icelandic coat of arms registered for Daugherty. The ancient Daugherty family was noted for starting up the tradition of carrying "manhood stones" for long distances to prove one's strength. If you were from Ireland, you'd be named "O'Dochartaigh."

Didn't you lose your last ISP when someone took exception to razor laced dildo comments? It probably isn't a good idea to repeat that mistake, even if the thought does make you horny.

In closing, let me say that I'm shocked that you don't know where the Taylorville Icelanders' Club holds its meetings. Check the yellow pages and call the First Wiccan Church of Iceland.

It is O'Dochartaigh, as a matter of fact I've posted on here as O'Dochartaigh a number of time. I've been to my family home in Ireland and have done a lot of research on my family. My family is part of the Ui Neil Dynasty, One of the oldest nobilities in europe and my family came over from ireland in 1895 and their name was americanized to Daugherty.

No some dumbass was using blogger.com mailing system and sending some mentally retarded amateur operator threatening letters. I say mentally retarded because he apparently can read the headers and some of those threatening letters he wouldn't post, leading me to believe that they were fake, probably sent to himself by him. If it makes you horny perhaps you can go butt fuck wiseman, that way he'll stay off my blogs

That's not right. The O'Dochartaigh official web site at http://www.odochartaigh.org says that the American version of the name is "Doherty." Apparently you're making stuff up again.

Wiseman was posting on "THE WORLD OF THE INTELLIGENTSIA" no doubt, along with all of the other mental giants who inhabit your system.

> you dalek loving bitch!!

The only person who routinely mentions daleks is N0VFP, but I'm not that Lloyd. Even worse, the person who is posting as N0VFP isn't that Lloyd either; he's Woger Wiseman, Lloyd's most obsessed stalker.

All of this will become clearer to you if manage to stay free for any length of time and do not get locked in the basement again by your parents. Enjoy the sunshine.

Hence the term "...if you have the stones..."

No...It's Daugherty. So says your birth certificate and federal documents that you've signed.

You've MISREPRESENTED yourself as "O'Dochartaigh" on several occassions.

I'm surprised Ireland didn't declare war after you were there. I am sure those brown stains you left behind mar all the beautiful green.
Anyhow, just how many of your family were out of prison to "research"...?!?!

It doesn't matter, Toiddie...All of your other trash-talking crap earned you what you got.

How's the dial-up working?

Hi all,

I'm trying to contact either Ron Kelly or Ron Hensley, both of whom worked at Cushman Electronics some years back. If anyone has contact information regarding these gentlemen I would appreciate it.

Thanks,

Your profound ignorance is showing. With a good virus scanner integrated into your news reader, the malware is identified and blocked before it can do any harm.

There's never any need to "open" it, newbie.

You sure haven't been able to write a complete sentence. Here's an example, Lardass /Toad

1852. TS 870 power out - should i worry ?

Hi Everyone,

Just bought a TS 870 S - and it seems great, with one exception,.
TX current consumption..

on most bands the current is near 20A max, but on some bands (20m 17m 80m)
the current (full FM carrier or whistle) is, at lowest some 14A.

the RF power meter shows 100w of course, and the rig seems immaculate,
really looks untampered with.
i know this may mean effectively only a couple of dB less from 100w, but its niggling me,
Have i bought a 'LEMON' or should i worry ? or could i fix it ?
i dont intend to use a amp either.
Advice appreciated...
Thanks, Mark.

Newbie? That's almost funny. Not all news servers leave infected

On the other hand, if anyone on this group knows anything about

An Electret type element provides a high quality, low cost microphone for many purposes, including some amateur radio transceivers. They might also be referred to as a "capacitor mike". The element is small, about the size of a large pea. Radio Shack doesn't sell them anymore but several types are available from Mouser Electronics (no minimum order). My version had 5" leads, and required only +2v to +10v supply (at 1/3 milliamp). The shield on the output cable is also grounded to the case. It delivers about 140 mv P-P when capacitively coupled to a high-impedance load. A SWAN-500C has about a 1Meg input, and its microphone gain can be set at about 50%. With +6v, the electret's output is about the same as a typical Ceramic type microphone. An Electret's output is quite high fidelity, essentially flat from 100Hz to 5000Hz. (Cost $3.40 +shpg).
My contention is (at least in theory),that if you offer the full hi-fi range of audio input to the transceiver, the resulting fidelity being transmitted is virtually dictated by the response curve of the steep-skirted SSB Crystal Filter. For example, the SWAN-500C has an SSB filter 2.7 KHz wide. (i.e. 5500.3 KHz to 5503.0 KHz), and their reference crystal oscillator of 5000.0 KHz provides an ulimate audio range of 300 Hz to 3000 Hz which is quite good for voice communication. On the other hand, if an SSB filter is only 2.1 KHz wide, you must be very selective in choosing the reference crystal oscillator....you can decide whether to utilize that smaller width to emphasize low-freqency audio response, or high-frequency response, but you can't have both. You could choose 300 to 2400 Hz, OR 1000 to 3100 Hz, for example.

SolderSmoke!
A SHOW FOR ELECTRONICS HOMEBREWERS!

http://www.ourmedia.org/node/168474

Topics discussed in SolderSmoke #16:

--EMRFD on mixers and balanced mixers
--LTSpice model for NE602
--Low output from NE602 Bal Mod circuit
--Desitin, diaper rash, and heat sinks
--REVVER web site and Trivial Electric Motor
--Solder smoke in space
--The Simpsons on social skills of Radio Shack customers (us!)

Listen at: http://www.ourmedia.org/node/168474

Background:
Tired of listening to Led Zepplin or NPR on your I-Pod? Wouldn't you like to be able to carry with you the kinds of ham radio conversations that you listen to while in your radio shack?
Mike, KL7R, in Juneau, Alaska, and Bill, M0HBR, in London, England meet regularly on the ECHOLINK system to discuss their homebrew radio projects. We are making them available as PODCASTS.

You can subscribe to the program, have them downloaded to your MP-3 player, and listen to them at your convenience. To subscribe, just cut and paste this URL into your I-poder (or similar) software.

More like the time our "Time Lord" was caught by the DF network QRM'ing the Saturday Night Liberty Net.
Amazing he ain't been heard since on Sat Night 75M since he got a phone call from someone and now spends his time on Usenet.
Another RF Clown that has gone the way of OTK and the rest of em!

OTK is a has-been. In fact, even when he was running a million watts (literal exaggeration for you CB types) he was a has-been.
Obnoxious? Yes, that is OTK. Overbearing? Yes, that is OTK. Arrogant and

Is OTK missed? No.

And to see that you malcontents continue to fantasize that Lloyd is

Do you want to get nasty with me?
I want to spank you
I want to thank you
For doing the nasty things you do
So you think that you are tough
You say you like to play rough
Well let's go
Cause you know
You want to wear my nasty handcuffs
I want to get nasty with you
Do you want to get nasty with me?
But first things first Before I take off my shirt
Tell me how much all this will be?

This was e-mailed to me this morning by Oris Grim an old friend.

I happened to be traveling through Huntsville, Alabama early this morning, I deceided to stop in Athens and see just how tough Lloyd Davies was going to act when he saw me in person.

Many of you know that a few years ago, Lloyd got smart with several people in the Deja Newsgroup (now Google) and I issued a challenge to him. I told him I would be attending the Dalton, Ga. Hamfest if he wanted to continue the conversation. He said he would be there and he was going to kick my ass.

Well, Lloyd was a no-show and continued the verbal assault on the newsgroups. He always talks tough behind his keyboard. And, I understand he is now doing the same sort of thing on the NIM Busters Board.

Well, about 8.35 this morning (December 23, 2004) I located his apartment in a nasty looking section of town. I'm a pretty good sized man, but I put my gun in my back waistband after exiting the car. I located his apartment and knocked on the door. The doorbell was missing and bare wires were sticking out of the wall. I heard someone say I'm coming and shortly the door opened with a safety chain lock still engaged. He asked what I wanted and I introduced myself and asked if we could have a conversation. He turned white as a sheet and attempted to slam the door, but I already had a foot wedged in the opening. He started shaking uncontrollably and was shouting leave me alone, leave me alone! I told him he didn't seem so tough now face to face and then noticed a putrid odor of urine and he was pissing his pants and crying like a baby. Please leave me alone Oris he said, I was just having fun and meant no harm, please leave, please. I could see the filthy floor of this apartment and the dirty floors and the stench of a grown man pissing on himself were almost enough to make me want to vomit, and I don't have a queasy stomach. Upon telling him that this time he would escape a ass kicking and not to ever get a smart mouth with me again and a verbal yes from him, I departed. That apartment complex looked like a crackhouse, niggers everywhere, filthy grounds and stairwells.

Junk cars everywhere and garbage overflowing the garbage cans.

This Lloyd is nothing more than white trash that delivers pizzas and could afford to take a trip out of town if the ticket cost $5.00.

I'm sending this to a friend who despises Lloyd Davies and he wanted to post it for everyone to see just what kind of chickenshit asshole this Davies really is.

Oris Grimm

Oh, our little Lloydie Davies is obsessed with Rich. Especially when he can't pass the theory or the code to get on hf and be a part of the barf. He self-appointed himself as their chief of communications , but he is an eternal no-code tech.

Dear Mr. Wiseman,

I find it hard to believe your assertion that this incident of jamming on 20 meters is an isolated occurrence. I have too many complaints on my desk about you for this to be a ï¿½one time affair.ï¿½ I have a strong feeling that this time is not the only time youï¿½ve let your emotions get the better of you and acted out in a juvenile manner. My personal opinion is that you have a lot of growing up to do. Generally when this kind of violation occurs I fine a licensee, however since youï¿½ve already stated that you are indigent and can not afford a fine, I will, pursuant to ï¿½97.519(d)(2), readminister your licensure exam. Rest assured if your misbehavior continues next time your license will be suspended.

Lloyd Oh my the loser is back. Hey how come I missed you at the Dalton this past spring? You talked all that crap and then was missing from the air the news group and everything. Darn Lloyd I was looking so forward to "meating you"! You don't have a HF rig? Damn I can remeber many nights you jammed Dan and I. Not only are you a LOSER but a LIER TOO! Why don't you craw back into that hole and just go back to hiding you worm! If you don't believe I was there
HamFest
here are some photos http://www.dirtball.com/dalton.html
I still think your a loser!

1942. R.R.A.P. destined long ago 2 B a shi+hole

Many of you are wondering why R.R.A.P is such a disaster, filled with all manner of loons, malcontents, perverts, weirdoes and un-employable loosers.

The answer is VERY SIMPLE.

Think back to a few years ago when R. Hollingsworth stated that he was going to clean up 20 and 75 Meters of all the troublemakers and un-identified buffoons who were clogging up 14.313, 3.894.5, 3.910, 3.865, 14.275 and elsewhere and send them all to Usenet where they could go and "play" all day long in Cyberspace. . . . (remember??)

Guess what folks? K4ZDH did just that! Now all the
the FCC designated de-facto "holding cell" for all the OTK's, the EVE's, the PZT's and JYZ's and all the rest of em.

Now you know, the rest of the story!

Enjoy.

Dear Mr. Wiseman,

I find it hard to believe your assertion that this incident of jamming on 20 meters is an isolated occurrence. I have too many complaints on my desk about you for this to be a ï¿½one time affair.ï¿½ I have a strong feeling that this time is not the only time youï¿½ve let your emotions get the better of you and acted out in a juvenile manner. My personal opinion is that you have a lot of growing up to do. Generally when this kind of violation occurs I fine a licensee, however since youï¿½ve already stated that you are indigent and can not afford a fine, I will, pursuant to ï¿½97.519(d)(2), readminister your licensure exam. Rest assured if your misbehavior continues next time your license will be suspended.

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations or more likely a "BUSTED CALLSIGN". As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

3D2/R, ROTUMA ISLAND. Just a reminder that operators Will/N7OU (3D2RO) and Rob/W7YAQ (3D2RX) will be active between March 1-10th. Their activity will include a Multi-Single entry in the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th) as 3D2RX. Activity outside of the contest will be on 80-10 meters. QSL via their home callsign, direct or by the bureau.

3Y0X NEWS.......
As reported last week, the 3Y0X DXpedition to Peter I Island went QRT on February 19th at 1813z. The updated stats show that the DXpedition netted 87,034 QSOs. However, the team's departure was delayed because of bad weather. The DAP Mares was scheduled to leave on February 21st and their tentative plans were to visit Deception Island on the way back to King George Island and then to fly to Punta Arenas, Chile. However, the final helicopter trip from Peter I to the deck of the DAP Mares didn't happen until 1859z, on February 24th. The ship is now underway to Deception Island and then to King George Island (KGI). Peter I Island is, once again, uninhabited! The last report as this was being typed stated they expect to reach Deception Island about 0500z Tuesday, then on to KGI with an ETA of 1600z. As always, updates are availble at:
http://www.peterone.com/
ADDED NOTE: Stats reported last week did not report everything. Lance, W7GJ, informed OPDX that the 3Y0X team worked over 100 stations on 2m EME using JT65 (a new digital mode especially developed for very weak signal work, such as EME), in 33 different DXCC entities. JT65 has become the standard for 6m EME, and now is by far the most popular mode on 2m EME (for REAL long path DX - 3/4 million km!) because it is 10 dB more sensitive than CW. Jose, N4BAA, also mentioned not listed in the totals were 4 SSTV QSOs made on 17M!

4J, AZERBAIJAN. Operators Mir/UA3FDX and Pavel/RA3AUM will be active as 4J0DX and 4J0AUM, respectively, between March 17-27th. Activity will be on 80-10 meters CW/SSB and possibly 160 meters. They also plan to be active as 4J0DX in the Russian DX and CQ WPX SSB Contests. QSL for both stations are via UA3FDX, either direct or via the bureau.

5Z, KENYA. Mike/OM2DX (aka YI1BGD, YI/OM2DX, YI9X) and Palo/OM2NW will be active as 5Z4/homecall through March 6th. QSL 5Z4/OM2DX via OM3JW and 5Z4/OM2NW via the home callsign.

7Q, MALAWI. QSL Manager Allan, G0IAS, informs OPDX that he will take Les/7Q7LA and his XYL to the airport on March 8th, and OPDX readers should look for 7Q7LA to be active again after March 9th. Les/7Q7LA, along with Harry/7Q7HB, are expected to activate modes on the bands not used before. Look for lots of Digi, SSTV, PSK, etc. The length of Les's stay at this time is unknown. BEWARE OF PIRATE! Allan, G0IAS, has also informed OPDX that a station signing 7Q7RM on CW has been active. Ron, 7Q7RM, became "SK" last year and Allan is unaware that this callsign has been re-issued.

8R, GUYANA. Operators Ken/K7ZUM and Craig/AH8DX will be active as 8R1ZUM and 8R1EA, respectively, between February 28th and March 7th. They will be active in the ARRL SSB DX Contest this coming weekend. Activity before the contest will be mostly on RTTY and the WARC bands. QSL via their home callsigns.

C9, MOZAMBIQUE. The July 23rd-August 10th Ukrainain C9 DXpedition Story is now available on the Web in English at:
http://www.dxer.com.ua/c9/story_en.html
Also, many photos from the DXpedition can be viewed at:
http://www.dxer.com.ua/c9/pg.html

DXCC NEWS. Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager, informs OPDX that the following are approved for DXCC credit:
K3LP/KP5 and N3KS/KP5 - Desecheo Island; Operation from December 16-17th, 2005

FT5X, KERGUELEN ISLANDS. Gildas (Gil), TU5KG, who has been active as FT5WL/mm, is expected to be active for two days from Kerguelen Islands as FT5XP, February 27-28th. QSL for both callsigns are via F4EFI.

HB0, LIECHTENSTEIN (Update). Kasimir, DL2SBY, informs OPDX that he will be active again as HB0/DL2SBY from February 25th through March 4th. His activity will be on 160-10 meters, CW, SSB, RTTY and PSK31. He was expected to be active during this past weekend's CQWW 160M SSB Contest. He will be using a FT900AT + Ameritron PA with 600w into the following antennas: Dipole for 160-10 meters, GP`s 80-10 meters, and maybe GP for 160m.

IOTA NEWS.....
AS-013. Herbert, DJ2BC, will be signing 8Q7SH from Kuredu Island (Maldive Islands), between February 27th and March 6th. His activity will be on all bands. QSL via DJ2BC (QRZ.com).

EU-001. Operators John/SV1GYG, George/SV1QN, Fotis/SV1AIN, Manolis/SV1EQU and Nikos/SW1GYN will active as SV5/homecalls from the Island of Patmos (MIA MGD-025), between March 28th and April 2nd. Activity will be on 160-6 meters CW, SSB, RTTY and PSK31. QSL via the operator's home callsign.

EU-051. Operators Davide/IW9GUR, Angelo/IW9HLM and Riccardo/IT9CVO will be active from Ustica Island (IIA PA-001, MIA MI-116) as IE9/homecall between March 10-12th. Activity will be on 160-6 meters, with 2 or 3 stations operational. This activity will also count for the Isola di Ustica lighthouse (WLOTA LH-0848). QSL all callsigns via IW9HLM (QRZ.com).

OC-NEW. Members of the Toba DX Group have in hand their air tickets for Simeulue Island, and plan to activate this new IOTA. Their operations will commence on March 8th and end on the 15th. The team will be consisting of 5 operators: YC6LAY, YB6LYS, YC6JKV, YB6PLG and YB1BOD. All operators will sign homecall/P. They will try to be active on all HF bands 80-10 meters and possibly 6 meters. QSL via YB1BOD/6: Donny Sirait, P.O. Box 1206, Medan 20233, North Sumatra, Indonesia. More details can be found on: http://www.toba-dx-group.org/simeulue/index.html

J6, ST. LUCIA. Bill, WB5ZAM, will be heading here for a vaction on April 8th and is expected to stay on Choc Bay at Villa Beach Cottages for two weeks. He hopes to get a J68 callsign, or he will probably sign J6/WB5ZAM. Bill states that he will focus on 30 meters and possibly 40 meters (He states this is tough band with all the broadcast stations and SSB from other hams). Activity will depend on the band openings, his vacation schedule, weather and beach, side trips and island parties. He will use a G5RV with his HF gear and bring along his keyer and headset/mike. QSLs will be printed once he knows what the callsign will be.

KP2, U.S. VIRGIN ISLANDS (3 Steves Op!). They're at it again! Operators Steve/N2IFA, Steve/KB2ENF and Steve/KF2TI will be heading to St. Croix, and will be active between May 19-22nd (0400-0400Z). The 3 Steves will be signing KP2/homecall. The 3 Steves special event stations will be on the General portions of 160-10 meters. Also, if you work all 3 Steves, you can receive a coveted WAS (Worked All Steves) Certificate. Details are forthcoming on a new Web page (not yet working) at:
http://3stevesandkurt.dynu.com/
QSL via the bureau or direct to: Steve Adell, KF2TI, 606 E Vail Rd, Landing, NJ 07850-1218.

PZ, SURINAME. Operators Steve/MW0ZZK and Florent/F4CYZ will be active as PZ5ZZ and PZ5CY, respectively, between February 28th and March 8th. Their activity will be on 80&#65533;6 meters. QSL will be via IZ8CCW, direct and/or by the Bureau.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
NEW ADDRESS FOR W3HNK! Joe, W3HNK, informs OPDX that "After 30 years I'm closing P.O. Box 73, Edgemont, Pa. My NEW address is: Joseph Arcure Jr, W3HNK, 115 Buck Run Road, Lincoln University, Pa 19352." This is effective starting on March 1, 2006.

PLEASE NO MORE BUREAU QSLS! Joe, VA6JWT, QSL Manager and operator of 6O0JT, reports that he is being overwhelmed by QSLs being sent via the bureau. He asks that no more cards be sent to him via the bureau but that they be sent direct with SAE and sufficient postage or IRCs to cover postage from Canada to the DXers QTH. Joe's address for the QSLs is: Joe Talbot, PO Box 836, Bowden, Alberta, Canada, T0M0K0 (that's Tango-Zero-Mike-Zero-Kilo-Zero).

An online log search for K6VVA/6 S.E. Farallon Island (NA-178) operation is now available at:
http://www.k6vva.com/iota/na178/logsearch/na178logsearch.php

K7C QSL STATUS (Update). Tom, N4XP, informs OPDX that QSLs are being processed daily and mailings go out about every three days. So they are going out on a regular basis and over half of the backlog is done.

Zik, YT1HA, informs all OPDX readers that QSL cards for special callsign "YZ150T" are printed, and all direct request will be sent next week. The QSL Manager for YZ150T is YU1SB. QSLs are OK via the bureau or direct to: Bozic Slavko, Jurija Gagarina 196/50, Novi Beograd, SERBIA AND MONTENEGRO. ADDED NOTE: Zik also inform OPDX that QSLs for YU1AAV and YZ1V are ready, and they will send all requests via the bureau; as of now they have replied to 1500 QSL cards.

RK2, KALININGRAD. Members of the "UA2 Contest Club" will be active as RK2FWA during the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th) as a Multi/? entry. QSL via DK4VW.

SPECIAL EVENT FOR IWD......
Mari Carmen/EA8GL and Dunia/EA8BHD will be on the air with the special callsign, ED8IWD, for the International Womens Day, March 5-8th. They will be transmitting from Isla de Gran Canaria (IOTA AF-004, DIE S-005) which will also count for the WLOTA lighthouse LH-0969. A special QSL (designed by Easy QSLs and sponsored by Project 4 of Electronic Applications S.A.) will be sent out once activity is finished via the Bureau. QSL Manager is EA8BHD. More info is available on QRZ.com.

The Council of Europe Amateur Radio Club in Strasbourg, France, will be activated by an international group of four YLs (for the second time after last year) using the callsign TP1CE from March 11-12th. Activity is to celebrate "International Womens Day" (March 8th). The four YLs come from Germany, France and Monaco. The group received an invitation to operate as TP1CE on all bands on SSB and CW. Operators will be Laura/3A2MD, Evelyne/F5RPB, Annemarie/DJ0FR - as last year -, and Olga/DJ0MCL. Last year's activity took place during the ARRL Contest on the same weekend, so the ladies hope that this year they will receive more calls from all over the world. QSL via F5LGF, direct or by the bureau.

SY9, CRETE. Dimitris, SV9COL, who used the special contest callsign SY9A this past weekend during the CQ WW 160 Meter SSB Contest, will use the same callsign during the CQ WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as a Single-Op/ All-Band/Low-Power entry. QSL via his home callsign using the address on QRZ.com.

TO1, GUADELOUPE. Operators Gildas, FG/F6HMQ, and Michel, FG/F6GWV, will activate TO1T once again between now and March 6th. Their location will be north of the city of Saint Francois. They were expected to enter the French Championship SSB Contest this past weekend and will be in the ARRL DX SSB Contest this weekend. Precontest activities will be mainly on SSB, (morning and evening hours) all bands including the WARC bands. As for antennas, they will use a 20 year old HF6V, modified by Gildas; a hundred radials will be used. QSL via F6HMQ.

TY, BENIN. An international team of 4 operators will be down in Benin Africa for a period of 2 weeks starting on March 15th and ending March 31st. The callsigns have not been confirmed yet, but operators will be Ron/PA3EWP (TY5WP), Tom/GM4FDM (TY4TW), Claudia/K2LEO (TY2LEO) and Andrea/IK1PMR (TY1MR). They will have 3 stations on the air and will operate on all bands and at least on CW, SSB and RTTY. They will focus mainly on the lower bands (160-40 meters) and also participate in all major contests. Each operator will have a different QSL information. QSL TY1MR via IK1PMR. QSL TY2LEO via IK1PMR. QSL TY4TW via GM4FDM. QSL TY5WP via PA7FM.

VI9, NORFOLK ISLAND. The Oceania Amateur Radio DX Group Inc (ODXG) is planning to operate from Norfolk Island from May 25th until June 20th as part of the commemoration of the 150th anniversary of the landing of the "HMS Bounty Mutineers". The callsign will be VI9NI. Operation will be on 160-6 meters CW/SSB/RTTY. OPERATORS ARE NEEDED! The ODXG informs OPDX that they are able to accommodate extra operators for various times during this month long commemorative operation. If you need to contact ODXG, their E-mail address is: vi9ni@westnet.com.au
They are also seeking donations to be strictly used to help offset the cost of freighting all the equipment into Norfolk Island. More information will be forthcoming soon. Meanwhile, visit the ODXG Web page at: http://odxg.org/

VQ9, CHAGOS ISLANDS. Jim, ND9M, now active as VQ9JC, is planning to be on 80 meters CW from Diego Garcia Island (IOTA AF-006) March 2nd and 3rd. He should be on the air at around 2315z for both days. This will give Jim about a 90-minute window to hit North America before he has to leave for the boat launch back to the ship to start his workday at 0200z. Look for Jim on 3505 kHz (+/-), listening up 1 or 2, or possibly up the band a bit to give the U.S. Generals/Advanced operators a shot. QSL via ND9M, direct or through the bureau.

YI, IRAQ. Neil, WD8CRT (ex-V73NS), became active on February 20th at 0600z as YI/WD8CRT. His YI license came through the day before. Neil is a contractor working for the military. He will be there for several more months. His activity will be all QRP using an IC-703 on 40 meters and up. He plans to begin to operate at +/- 0600z. QSNs on the clusters show that Neil was on earlier (after 1130z) this past week on 80/30/20/17/15 meters CW. His antenna is a 20m VEE which he has recently added 40m elements. Neil thinks this should get him onto 80m and should improve his QRP operations on 40m and 15m. The height is still only 30 ft. at the apex. For DX stations, QSL via the Bureau ONLY to his home callsign. For U.S. stations QSL to his home callsign.

ZF, CAYMAN ISLANDS. Operator Bob, K3UL, will again use ZF2UL from Grand Cayman (IOTA NA-016) between March 1-7th. This activity will also count for Grand Cayman Island lighthouse (WLOTA LH-1042). His activity will be mostly on the lower bands and mainly on CW. QSL via his home callsign.

ZK1, SOUTH COOK ISLANDS. Jim, W1EMT, will be active as ZK1EMT from Rarotonga (IOTA OC-013), along with Victor, ZK1CG, between March 4-24th. Activity will be mainly QRP with a Buddipole during their weekends and mornings/evenings hours. Suggested SSB frequencies are: 7296, 14342.5, 18158, 21438 and 28328.5 kHz. A QSL certificate is available direct from Jim, W1EMT, with a SASE or SAE + postage. Further information can be found at: http://www.qsl.net/w2emt/Rarotonga.htm

I have gone to the RIAA and MPAA web sites and turned you in. I hope that they file multiple lawsuits against you, you low life thief. My thanks to "Mr S." for calling your illegal site to my attention.

Note to the FCC, RIAA, and MPAA: Here are the files the thief has listed:

He's obsessed with homosexuality because when he looks into the mirror, all he sees is himself. Therefore he is pissed that his sexual orientation is that way.

No, but with your drooling over every mention of homosexuals, one would suspect you have a obsession with homosexuality. Poor Woger, hasn't had a piece since his wife left. Well that's excepting Marie who he pulls out of a freezer.

Well, a lot of the crap here started with a certain ham from West Virginia starting crap over the years with anyone who disagreed with him. Its been going on here even before Riley came aboard in 1999. Frankly, its been going on because people like Woger have been involved for years.

>From Discussion group: Amateur Radio Experimentation

Electromagnetic radiation is a propagating wave in space with electric and magnetic components. These components oscillate at right angles to each other and to the direction of propagation. The term electromagnetic radiation is also used as a synonym for electromagnetic waves in general, even if they are not radiating or travelling in free space. This sense includes, for example, light travelling through an optical fiber, or electrical energy travelling within a coaxial cable. Electromagnetic (EM) radiation carries energy and momentum which may be imparted when it interacts with matter.

PhysicsTheory
Electromagnetic waves of much lower frequency than visible light were predicted by Maxwell's equations and subsequently discovered by Heinrich Hertz. Maxwell derived a wave form of the electric and magnetic equations which made explicit the wave nature of the electric and magnetic fields. These equations displayed the symmetry of the fields. According to the theory, a time-varying electric field generates a magnetic field and vice versa. Thus, an oscillating electric field creates an oscillating magnetic field, which in turn creates an oscillating electric field, and so on. By this means an EM wave is produced which propagates through space.
Properties Electric and magnetic fields exhibit the property of superposition. This means that the field due to a particular particle or time-varying electric or magnetic field adds to the fields due to other causes. (As magnetic and electric fields are vector fields, this is the vector addition of all the individual electric and magnetic field vectors.) As a result, EM radiation is influenced by various phenomena such as refraction and diffraction. For example, a travelling

EM wave incident on a particular arrangement of atoms induces oscillation in the atoms and thus causes them to emit their own EM waves. These emissions interfere with the impinging wave and alter its form. In refraction, a wave moving from one medium to another of a different density changes its speed and direction when it enters the new medium. The ratio of the refractive indices of the media determines the extent of refraction. Refraction is the mechanism by which light disperses into a spectrum when it is shone through a prism. The physics of electromagnetic radiation is electrodynamics, a subfield of electromagnetism. EM radiation exhibits both wave properties and particle properties at the same time (see wave-particle duality). These characteristics are mutually exclusive and appear separately in different circumstances: the wave characteristics appear when EM radiation is measured over relatively large timescales and over large distances, and the particle characteristics are evident when measuring small distances and timescales. These characteristics have been confirmed by a large number of experiments.

Wave model An important aspect of the wave nature of light is frequency. The frequency of a wave is its rate of oscillation and is measured in hertz, the SI unit of frequency, equal to one oscillation per second. Light usually comprises a spectrum of frequencies which sum to form the resultant wave. In addition, frequency affects properties like refraction, in which different frequencies undergo a different level of refraction. A wave has troughs and crests. The wavelength is the distance from crest to crest. Waves in the electromagnetic spectrum vary in size from very long radio waves the size of buildings, to very short gamma-rays smaller than the size of the nucleus of an atom. Frequency has an inverse relationship to the concept of wavelength. When waves travel from one medium to another, their frequency remains exactly the same - only their speed changes. Waves can also be described by their radiant energy. Interference is the superposition of two or more waves resulting in a new wave pattern. The way that these coincide causes different types of interference.
Particle model In the particle model of EM radiation, EM radiation is quantized as particles called photons. Quantisation of light represents the discrete packets of energy which constitute the radiation. The frequency of the radiation determines the magnitude of the energy of the particles. Moreover, these particles are emitted and absorbed by charged particles, so photons act as transporters of energy. A photon absorbed by an atom excites an electron and elevates it to a higher energy level. If the energy is great enough, the electron is liberated from the atom in a process called ionization. Conversely, an electron which descends to a lower energy level in an atom emits a photon of light equal to the energy difference. The energy levels of electrons in atoms are discrete. Therefore, each element has its own characteristic frequencies. Together these effects explain the absorption spectra of light. The dark bands in the spectrum are due to the atoms in the intervening medium which absorb different frequencies of the light. The composition of the medium through which the light travels determines the nature of the absorption spectrum. For instance, in a distant star, dark bands in the light it emits are due to the atoms in the atmosphere of the star. These bands correspond to the allowed energy levels in the atoms. A similar phenomenon occurs for emission. As the electrons descend to lower energy levels, a spectrum which represents the jumps between the energy levels of the electrons is exhibited. This is manifested in the emission spectrum of nebulae.

Speed of propagation Any electric charge which accelerates, or any changing magnetic field, produces electromagnetic radiation. Electromagnetic information about the charge travels at the speed of light. Accurate treatment thus incorporates a concept known as retarded time (as opposed to advanced time, which is unphysical in light of causality), which adds to the expressions for the electrodynamic electric field and magnetic field. These extra terms are responsible for electromagnetic radiation. When any wire (or other conducting object such as an antenna) conducts alternating current, electromagnetic radiation is propagated at the same frequency as the electric current. Depending on the circumstances, it may behave as a wave or as particles. As a wave, it is characterized by a velocity (the speed of light), wavelength, and frequency. When considered as particles, they are known as photons, and each has an energy related to the frequency of the wave given by Planck's relation E = h?, where E is the energy of the photon, h = 6.626 × 10-34 J·s is Planck's constant, and ? is the frequency of the wave. One rule is always obeyed regardless of the circumstances. EM radiation in a vacuum always travels at the speed of light, relative to the observer, regardless of the observer's velocity. (This observation led to Albert Einstein's development of the theory of special relativity.) In a medium (other than vacuum), velocity of propagation or refractive index are considered, depending on frequency and application. Both of these are ratios of the speed in a medium to speed in a vacuum.

Generally, EM radiation is classified by wavelength into electrical energy, radio, microwave, infrared, the visible region we perceive as light, ultraviolet, X-rays and gamma rays. The behavior of EM radiation depends on its wavelength. Higher frequencies have shorter wavelengths, and lower frequencies have longer wavelengths. When EM radiation interacts with single atoms and molecules, its behavior depends on the amount of energy per quantum it carries. Spectroscopy can detect a much wider region of the EM spectrum than the visible range of 400 nm to 700 nm. A common laboratory spectroscope can detect wavelengths from 2 nm to 2500 nm. More in-depth information about the physical properties of objects, gases, or even stars can be obtained from this type of device.

It is widely used in astrophysics. For example, many hydrogen atoms emit radio waves which have a wavelength of 21.12 cm.
Light Main article: light EM radiation with a wavelength between approximately 400 nm and 700 nm is detected by the human eye and perceived as visible light. If radiation having a frequency in the visible region of the EM spectrum shines on an object, say, a bowl of fruit, this results in our visual perception of identifying information from the scene. Our brain's visual system processes the multitude of reflected frequencies into different shades and hues, and through this not-entirely-understood "psychophysical phenomenon," most humans perceive a bowl of fruit. In the vast majority of cases, however, the information carried by light is not directly apprehensible by human senses. Natural sources produce EM radiation across the spectrum; so, too, can human technology manipulate a broad range of wavelengths. Optical fiber transmits light which, although not suitable for direct viewing, can carry data. Those data can be translated into sound or an image. The coded form of such data is similar to that used with radio waves.

Radio waves Main article: radio wave Radio waves carry information by varying amplitude and by varying frequency within a frequency band. When EM radiation impinges upon a conductor, it couples to the conductor, travels along it, and induces an electric current on the surface of that conductor by exciting the electrons of the conducting material. This effect (the skin effect) is used in antennas. EM radiation may also cause certain molecules to absorb energy and thus to heat up; this is exploited in microwave ovens.

Derivation Electromagnetic waves as a general phenomenon were predicted by the classical laws of electricity and magnetism, known as Maxwell's equations. If you inspect Maxwell's equations without sources (charges or currents) then you will find that, along with the possibility of nothing happening, the theory will also admit nontrivial solutions of changing electric and magnetic fields. (For symbol definitions see magnetic field.) is a solution, but there might be other solutions as well. Let us employ a useful identity from vector calculus. Where can be any vector function. Taking the curl of the curl equations and applying the identity, we get the following. These types of equations are identified as linear wave equations with wave speed . Amazingly, this speed happens to be exactly the speed of light! Maxwell's equations have unified the permittivity of free space ?0, the permeability of free space ?0, and the speed of light itself: . Before this derivation it was not known that there was such a strong relationship between light and electricity and magnetism. But these are only two equations and we started with four, so there is still more information pertaining to these waves hidden within Maxwell's equations. Let's consider a generic vector wave for the electric field.

Here is the constant amplitude, f is any second differentiable function, is a unit vector in the direction of propagation, and is a position vector. We observe that is a generic solution to the wave equation. In other words, for a generic wave traveling in the direction. The proof of this is trivial. This form will satisfy the wave equation, but will it satisfy all of Maxwell's equations, and with what corresponding magnetic field? The first of Maxell's equations implies that electric field is orthogonal to the direction the wave propagates. The second of Maxwell's equations yields the magnetic field. The remaining equations will be satisfied by this choice of . Not only are the electric and magnetic field waves traveling at the speed of light, but they have a special restricted orientation and proportional magnitudes, . The electric field, magnetic field, and direction of wave propagation are all orthogonal and the wave propagates in the same direction as . Visualizing yourself as an electromagnetic wave traveling forward, the electric field might be oscillating up and down, while the magnetic field oscillates right and left; but you can rotate this picture around with the electric field oscillating right and left and the magnetic field oscillating down and up. This is a different solution that is traveling in the same direction. This arbitrariness in the orientation, with respect to propagation direction, is known as polarization.

But the copyright is on the work itself (the prose); not on the information! I would suggest that it is you who hasn't the foggiest understanding of copyright law.

I beg to differ, the courts have ruled a number of times that data, is not copyrightable. One case comes to mine had to do with a phone book a telephone company had put out and another company copied it from word to word and the phone company sued for copyright violation and the supreme court ruled that general data, no matter how you write it is not copyrightable.

Tables of numbers do not constitute prose. What you ripped off does.
Try to reproduce a college text and distribute it, and see how long it takes you to be hauled into court by its publisher.

As I stated before, The courts have ruled that no matter if one person wrote it or someone else did; the out come of the information would be the same, and data is not copyrightable. Copyrights are there to protect creativity, and for something to be protected under copyright law it has to be ORGINAL, and copyright law doesn't protect the idea, but they way the idea is expressed. fact and Information are not copyrightable, even it this information was copyrightable,which it isn't, it would fall into public domain because electromagnetic radiation (waves) has been around since the 1800's and anything before 1923 is not copyrightable, and is consider, public domain.

You have a point, but I think this group can be both.

You can have free speech without the group being reduced to nothing but flame wars, such as is the case with most of the Ham Radio Usenet groups now.
If you're familiar with a lot of the yahoo groups, you may notice the moderators jump all over people for many reasons. If they think a thread has gone on too long, if they don't like the topic, etc. That will not happen in this group.
I'm also not saying that if you think someone is talking out of their ass you can't say so. I'm just saying that the group is not "Ham Radio Flame Wars".

By the way, I have corrected the typo in the group name so here is the correct link:

To quote from the ruling "... is copyrightable only if its facts have been 'selected, coordinated, or arranged in such a way that the resulting work as a whole constitutes an original work of authorship.'"

[From http://www.techlawjournal.com/cong106/database/19910327feist.htm]

That's why a physics text is copyrightable. It's also why an explanation of electromagnetic radiation is also copyrightable.

Sorry, Tood. You're interpretation is seriously flawed.

P.S. Electromagnetic radiation has been around since the beginning of the universe. It is only mankind's understanding of it which is relatively recent.

God said, "div D = rho, div B = 0, curl E = -@B/@t, curl H = J + @D/@t," and then there was light.

The Opinion of the Court

O'CONNOR J., delivered the opinion of the Court, in which REHNQUIST, C.J., and WHITE, MARSHALL, STEVENS, SCALIA, KENNEDY, and SOUTER, JJ., joined. BLACKMUN, J., concurred in the judgment.

Kyler Knobbe, Cimarron, Kan., for petitioner. James M. Caplinger, Jr., Topeka, Kan., for respondent.

Justice O'CONNOR delivered the opinion of the Court.

This case requires us to clarify the extent of copyright protection available to telephone directory white pages.

I.

Rural Telephone Service Company, Inc., is a certified public utility that provides telephone service to several communities in northwest Kansas. It is subject to a state regulation that requires all telephone companies operating in Kansas to issue annually an updated telephone directory. Accordingly, as a condition of its monopoly franchise, Rural publishes a typical telephone directory, consisting of white pages and yellow pages. The white pages list in alphabetical order the names of Rural's subscribers, together with their towns and telephone numbers. The yellow pages list Rural's business subscribers alphabetically by category and feature classified advertisements of various sizes. Rural distributes its directory free of charge to its subscribers, but earns revenue by selling yellow pages advertisements.

Feist Publications, Inc., is a publishing company that specializes in area- wide telephone directories. Unlike a typical directory, which covers only a particular calling area, Feist's area-wide directories cover a much larger geographical range, reducing the need to call directory assistance or consult multiple directories. The Feist directory that is the subject of this litigation covers 11 different telephone service areas in 15 counties and contains 46,878 white pages listings--compared to Rural's approximately 7,700 listings. Like Rural's directory, Feist's is distributed free of charge and includes both white pages and yellow pages. Feist and Rural compete vigorously for yellow pages advertising.

As the sole provider of telephone service in its service area, Rural obtains subscriber information quite easily. Persons desiring telephone service must apply to Rural and provide their names and addresses; Rural then assigns them a telephone number. Feist is not a telephone company, let alone one with monopoly status, and therefore lacks independent access to any subscriber information. To obtain white pages listings for its area-wide directory, Feist approached each of the 11 telephone companies operating in northwest Kansas and offered to pay for the right to use its white pages listings.

Of the 11 telephone companies, only Rural refused to license its listings to Feist. Rural's refusal created a problem for Feist, as omitting these listings would have left a gaping hole in its area-wide directory, rendering it less attractive to potential yellow pages advertisers. In a decision subsequent to that which we review here, the District Court determined that this was precisely the reason Rural refused to license its listings. The refusal was motivated by an unlawful purpose "to extend its monopoly in telephone service to a monopoly in yellow pages advertising." Rural Telephone Service Co. v. Feist Publications, Inc., 737 F.Supp. 610, 622 (Kan.1990).

Unable to license Rural's white pages listings, Feist used them without Rural's consent. Feist began by removing several thousand listings that fell outside the geographic range of its area-wide directory, then hired personnel to investigate the 4,935 that remained. These employees verified the data reported by Rural and sought to obtain additional information. As a result, a typical Feist listing includes the individual's street address; most of Rural's listings do not. Notwithstanding these additions, however, 1,309 of the 46,878 listings in Feist's 1983 directory were identical to listings in Rural's 1982-1983 white pages. App. 54 (P 15-16), 57. Four of these were fictitious listings that Rural had inserted into its directory to detect copying.

Rural sued for copyright infringement in the District Court for the District of Kansas taking the position that Feist, in compiling its own directory, could not use the information contained in Rural's white pages. Rural asserted that Feist's employees were obliged to travel door-to-door or conduct a telephone survey to discover the same information for themselves. Feist responded that such efforts were economically impractical and, in any event, unnecessary because the information copied was beyond the scope of copyright protection. The District Court granted summary judgment to Rural, explaining that "[c]ourts have consistently held that telephone directories are copyrightable" and citing a string of lower court decisions. 663 F.Supp. 214, 218 (1987). In an unpublished opinion, the Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit affirmed "for substantially the reasons given by the district court." App. to Pet. for Cert. 4a, judgt. order reported at 916 F.2d 718 (1990). We granted certiorari, 498 U.S. 808, 111 S.Ct. 40, 112 L.Ed.2d 17 (1990), to determine whether the copyright in Rural's directory protects the names, towns, and telephone numbers copied by Feist.

This case concerns the interaction of two well-established propositions. The first is that facts are not copyrightable; the other, that compilations of facts generally are. Each of these propositions possesses an impeccable pedigree. That there can be no valid copyright in facts is universally understood. The most fundamental axiom of copyright law is that "[n]o author may copyright his ideas or the facts he narrates." Harper & Row, Publishers, Inc. v. Nation Enterprises, 471 U.S. 539, 556, 105 S.Ct. 2218, 2228, 85 L.Ed.2d 588 (1985). Rural wisely concedes this point, noting in its brief that "[f]acts and discoveries, of course, are not themselves subject to copyright protection." Brief for Respondent 24. At the same time, however, it is beyond dispute that compilations of facts are within the subject matter of copyright. Compilations were expressly mentioned in the Copyright Act of 1909, and again in the Copyright Act of 1976.

There is an undeniable tension between these two propositions. Many compilations consist of nothing but raw data--i.e., wholly factual information not accompanied by any original written expression. On what basis may one claim a copyright in such a work? Common sense tells us that 100 uncopyrightable facts do not magically change their status when gathered together in one place. Yet copyright law seems to contemplate that compilations that consist exclusively of facts are potentially within its scope.

The key to resolving the tension lies in understanding why facts are not copyrightable. The sine qua non of copyright is originality. To qualify for copyright protection, a work must be original to the author. See: Harper & Row, supra, at 547-549, 105 S.Ct., at 2223-2224. Original, as the term is used in copyright, means only that the work was independently created by the author (as opposed to copied from other works), and that it possesses at least some minimal degree of creativity. 1 M. Nimmer & D. Nimmer, Copyright ss 2.01[A], [B] (1990) (hereinafter Nimmer). To be sure, the requisite level of creativity is extremely low; even a slight amount will suffice. The vast majority of works make the grade quite easily, as they possess some creative spark, "no matter how crude, humble or obvious" it might be. Id., s 1.08[C] [1]. Originality does not signify novelty; a work may be original even though it closely resembles other works so long as the similarity is fortuitous, not the result of copying. To illustrate, assume that two poets, each ignorant of the other, compose identical poems. Neither work is novel, yet both are original and, hence, copyrightable. See: Sheldon v. Metro- Goldwyn Pictures Corp., 81 F.2d 49, 54 (CA2 1936).

Originality is a constitutional requirement. The source of Congress' power to enact copyright laws is Article I, s 8, cl. 8, of the Constitution, which authorizes Congress to "secur[e] for limited Times to Authors ... the exclusive Right to their respective Writings." In two decisions from the late 19th century-- The Trade-Mark Cases, 100 U.S. 82, 25 L.Ed. 550 (1879); and Burrow-Giles Lithographic Co. v. Sarony, 111 U.S. 53, 4 S.Ct. 279, 28 L.Ed. 349 (1884)--this Court defined the crucial terms "authors" and "writings." In so doing, the Court made it unmistakably clear that these terms presuppose a degree of originality.

In The Trade-Mark Cases, the Court addressed the constitutional scope of "writings." For a particular work to be classified "under the head of writings of authors," the Court determined, "originality is required." 100 U.S., at 94. The Court explained that originality requires independent creation plus a modicum of creativity: "[W]hile the word writings may be liberally construed, as it has been, to include original designs for engraving, prints, it is only such as are original, and are founded in the creative powers of the mind. The writings which are to be protected are the fruits of intellectual labor, embodied in the form of books, prints, engravings, and the like." Ibid.

In Burrow-Giles, the Court distilled the same requirement from the Constitution's use of the word "authors." The Court defined "author," in a constitutional sense, to mean "he to whom anything owes its origin; originator; maker." 111 U.S., at 58, 4 S.Ct., at 281 (internal quotation marks omitted). As in The Trade-Mark Cases, the Court emphasized the creative component of originality. It described copyright as being limited to "original intellectual conceptions of the author," 111 U.S., at 58, 4 S.Ct., at 281, and stressed the importance of requiring an author who accuses another of infringement to prove "the existence of those facts of originality, of intellectual production, of thought, and conception." Id., at 59-60, 4 S.Ct., at 281-282.

The originality requirement articulated in The Trade-Mark Cases and Burrow-Giles remains the touchstone of copyright protection today. See: Goldstein v. California, 412 U.S. 546, 561-562, 93 S.Ct. 2303, 2312, 37 L.Ed.2d 163 (1973). It is the very "premise of copyright law." Miller v. Universal City Studios, Inc., 650 F.2d 1365, 1368 (CA5 1981). Leading scholars agree on this point. As one pair of commentators succinctly puts it: "The originality requirement is constitutionally mandated for all works." Patterson & Joyce, Monopolizing the Law: The Scope of Copyright Protection for Law Reports and Statutory Compilations, 36 UCLA L.Rev. 719, 763, n. 155 (1989) (hereinafter Patterson & Joyce). Accord, id., at 759-760, and n. 140; Nimmer s 1.06[A] ("[O]riginality is a statutory as well as a constitutional requirement"); id., s 1.08[C][1] ("[A] modicum of intellectual labor ... clearly constitutes an essential constitutional element").

It is this bedrock principle of copyright that mandates the law's seemingly disparate treatment of facts and factual compilations. "No one may claim originality as to facts." Id., s 2.11[A], p. 2-157. This is because facts do not owe their origin to an act of authorship. The distinction is one between creation and discovery: The first person to find and report a particular fact has not created the fact; he or she has merely discovered its existence. To borrow from Burrow-Giles, one who discovers a fact is not its "maker" or "originator." 111 U.S., at 58, 4 S.Ct., at 281. "The discoverer merely finds and records." Nimmer

s 2.03[E]. Census takers, for example, do not "create" the population figures that emerge from their efforts; in a sense, they copy these figures from the world around them. Denicola, Copyright in Collections of Facts: A Theory for the Protection of Nonfiction Literary Works, 81 Colum.L.Rev. 516, 525 (1981) (hereinafter Denicola). Census data therefore do not trigger copyright because these data are not "original" in the constitutional sense. Nimmer s 2.03[E]. The same is true of all facts--scientific, historical, biographical, and news of the day. "[T]hey may not be copyrighted and are part of the public domain available to every person." Miller, supra, at 1369.

Factual compilations, on the other hand, may possess the requisite originality. The compilation author typically chooses which facts to include, in what order to place them, and how to arrange the collected data so that they may be used effectively by readers. These choices as to selection and arrangement, so long as they are made independently by the compiler and entail a minimal degree of creativity, are sufficiently original that Congress may protect such compilations through the copyright laws. Nimmer ss 2.11[D], 3.03; Denicola 523, n. 38. Thus, even a directory that contains absolutely no protectible written expression, only facts, meets the constitutional minimum for copyright protection if it features an original selection or arrangement. See: Harper & Row, 471 U.S., at 547, 105 S.Ct., at 2223. Accord, Nimmer s 3.03.

This protection is subject to an important limitation. The mere fact that a work is copyrighted does not mean that every element of the work may be protected. Originality remains the sine qua non of copyright; accordingly, copyright protection may extend only to those components of a work that are original to the author. Patterson & Joyce 800-802; Ginsburg, Creation and Commercial Value: Copyright Protection of Works of Information, 90 Colum.L.Rev. 1865, 1868, and n. 12 (1990) (hereinafter Ginsburg). Thus, if the compilation author clothes facts with an original collocation of words, he or she may be able to claim a copyright in this written expression. Others may copy the underlying facts from the publication, but not the precise words used to present them. In Harper & Row, for example, we explained that President Ford could not prevent others from copying bare historical facts from his autobiography, see: 471 U.S., at 556-557, 105 S.Ct., at 2228-2229, but that he could prevent others from copying his "subjective descriptions and portraits of public figures." Id., at 563, 105 S.Ct., at 2232. Where the compilation author adds no written expression but rather lets the facts speak for themselves, the expressive element is more elusive. The only conceivable expression is the manner in which the compiler has selected and arranged the facts. Thus, if the selection and arrangement are original, these elements of the work are eligible for copyright protection. See Patry, Copyright in Compilations of Facts (or Why the "White Pages" Are Not Copyrightable), 12 Com. & Law 37, 64 (Dec. 1990) (hereinafter Patry). No matter how original the format, however, the facts themselves do not become original through association. See Patterson & Joyce 776.

This inevitably means that the copyright in a factual compilation is thin. Notwithstanding a valid copyright, a subsequent compiler remains free to use the facts contained in another's publication to aid in preparing a competing work, so long as the competing work does not feature the same selection and arrangement. As one commentator explains it: "[N]o matter how much original authorship the work displays, the facts and ideas it exposes are free for the taking.... [T]he very same facts and ideas may be divorced from the context imposed by the author, and restated or reshuffled by second comers, even if the author was the first to discover the facts or to propose the ideas." Ginsburg 1868.

It may seem unfair that much of the fruit of the compiler's labor may be used by others without compensation. As Justice Brennan has correctly observed, however, this is not "some unforeseen byproduct of a statutory scheme." Harper & Row, 471 U.S., at 589, 105 S.Ct., at 2245 (dissenting opinion). It is, rather, "the essence of copyright," ibid., and a constitutional requirement. The primary objective of copyright is not to reward the labor of authors, but "[t]o promote the Progress of Science and useful Arts." Art. I, s 8, cl. 8. Accord, Twentieth Century Music Corp. v. Aiken, 422 U.S. 151, 156, 95 S.Ct. 2040, 2044, 45 L.Ed.2d 84 (1975). To this end, copyright assures authors the right to their original expression, but encourages others to build freely upon the ideas and information conveyed by a work. Harper & Row, supra, 471 U.S., at 556-557, 105 S.Ct., at 2228- 2229. This principle, known as the idea/expression or fact/expression dichotomy, applies to all works of authorship. As applied to a factual compilation, assuming the absence of original written expression, only the compiler's selection and arrangement may be protected; the raw facts may be copied at will. This result is neither unfair nor unfortunate. It is the means by which copyright advances the progress of science and art.

This Court has long recognized that the fact/expression dichotomy limits severely the scope of protection in fact-based works. More than a century ago, the Court observed: "The very object of publishing a book on science or the useful arts is to communicate to the world the useful knowledge which it contains. But this object would be frustrated if the knowledge could not be used without incurring the guilt of piracy of the book." Baker v. Selden, 101 U.S. 99, 103, 25 L.Ed. 841 (1880). We reiterated this point in Harper & Row:

"[N]o author may copyright facts or ideas. The copyright is limited to those aspects of the work--termed 'expression'--that display the stamp of the author's originality.

"[C]opyright does not prevent subsequent users from copying from a prior author's work those constituent elements that are not original--for example ... facts, or materials in the public domain--as long as such use does not unfairly appropriate the author's original contributions." 471 U.S., at 547-548, 105 S.Ct., at 2223-2224 (citation omitted).

This, then, resolves the doctrinal tension: Copyright treats facts and factual compilations in a wholly consistent manner. Facts, whether alone or as part of a compilation, are not original and therefore may not be copyrighted. A factual compilation is eligible for copyright if it features an original selection or arrangement of facts, but the copyright is limited to the particular selection or arrangement. In no event may copyright extend to the facts themselves.

B.

As we have explained, originality is a constitutionally mandated prerequisite for copyright protection. The Court's decisions announcing this rule predate the Copyright Act of 1909, but ambiguous language in the 1909 Act caused some lower courts temporarily to lose sight of this requirement.

The 1909 Act embodied the originality requirement, but not as clearly as it might have. See Nimmer s 2.01. The subject matter of copyright was set out in ss 3 and 4 of the Act. Section 4 stated that copyright was available to "all the writings of an author." 35 Stat. 1076. By using the words "writings" and "author" -- the same words used in Article I, s 8, of the Constitution and defined by the Court in The Trade-Mark Cases and Burrow- Giles -- the statute necessarily incorporated the originality requirement articulated in the Court's decisions. It did so implicitly, however, thereby leaving room for error.

Section 3 was similarly ambiguous. It stated that the copyright in a work protected only "the copyrightable component parts of the work." It thus stated an important copyright principle, but failed to identify the specific characteristic--originality--that determined which component parts of a work were copyrightable and which were not.

Most courts construed the 1909 Act correctly, notwithstanding the less-than- perfect statutory language. They understood from this Court's decisions that there could be no copyright without originality. See Patterson & Joyce 760- 761. As explained in the Nimmer treatise: "The 1909 Act neither defined originality, nor even expressly required that a work be 'original' in order to command protection. However, the courts uniformly inferred the requirement from the fact that copyright protection may only be claimed by 'authors'.... It was reasoned that since an author is 'the ... creator, originator' it follows that a work is not the product of an author unless the work is original." Nimmer s 2.01 (footnotes omitted) (citing cases).

But some courts misunderstood the statute. See, e.g., Leon v. Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., 91 F.2d 484 (CA9 1937); Jeweler's Circular Publishing Co. v. Keystone Publishing Co., 281 F. 83 (CA2 1922). These courts ignored ss 3 and 4, focusing their attention instead on s 5 of the Act. Section 5, however, was purely technical in nature: It provided that a person seeking to register a work should indicate on the application the type of work, and it listed 14 categories under which the work might fall. One of these categories was "[b]ooks, including composite and cyclopaedic works, directories, gazetteers, and other compilations." s 5(a). Section 5 did not purport to say that all compilations were automatically copyrightable. Indeed, it expressly disclaimed any such function, pointing out that "the subject- matter of copyright [i]s defined in section four." Nevertheless, the fact that factual compilations were mentioned specifically in s 5 led some courts to infer erroneously that directories and the like were copyrightable per se, "without any further or precise showing of original--personal--authorship." Ginsburg 1895.

Making matters worse, these courts developed a new theory to justify the protection of factual compilations. Known alternatively as "sweat of the brow" or "industrious collection," the underlying notion was that copyright was a reward for the hard work that went into compiling facts. The classic formulation of the doctrine appeared in Jeweler's Circular Publishing Co., 281 F., at 88:

"The right to copyright a book upon which one has expended labor in its preparation does not depend upon whether the materials which he has collected consist or not of matters which are publici juris, or whether such materials show literary skill or originality, either in thought or in language, or anything more than industrious collection. The man who goes through the streets of a town and puts down the names of each of the inhabitants, with their occupations and their street number, acquires material of which he is the author."

The "sweat of the brow" doctrine had numerous flaws, the most glaring being that it extended copyright protection in a compilation beyond selection and arrangement--the compiler's original contributions--to the facts themselves. Under the doctrine, the only defense to infringement was independent creation. A subsequent compiler was "not entitled to take one word of information previously published," but rather had to "independently wor[k] out the matter for himself, so as to arrive at the same result from the same common sources of information." Id., at 88-89 (internal quotations omitted). "Sweat of the brow" courts thereby eschewed the most fundamental axiom of copyright law--that no one may copyright facts or ideas. See Miller v. Universal City Studios, Inc., 650 F.2d, at 1372 (criticizing "sweat of the brow" courts because "ensur [ing] that later writers obtain the facts independently ... is precisely the scope of protection given ... copyrighted matter, and the law is clear that facts are not entitled to such protection"). Decisions of this Court applying the 1909 Act make clear that the statute did not permit the "sweat of the brow" approach. The best example is International News Service v. Associated Press, 248 U.S. 215, 39 S.Ct. 68, 63 L.Ed. 211 (1918). In that decision, the Court stated unambiguously that the 1909 Act conferred copyright protection only on those elements of a work that were original to the author. International News Service had conceded taking news reported by Associated Press and publishing it in its own newspapers. Recognizing that s 5 of the Act specifically mentioned " 'periodicals, including newspapers,' " s 5(b), the Court acknowledged that news articles were copyrightable. Id., at 234, 39 S.Ct., at 70. It flatly rejected, however, the notion that the copyright in an article extended to the factual information it contained: "[T]he news element--the information respecting current events contained in the literary production--is not the creation of the writer, but is a report of matters that ordinarily are publici juris; it is the history of the day." > Ibid. (FootNote: The Court ultimately rendered judgment for Associated Press on noncopyright grounds that are not relevant here. See 248 U.S., at 235, 241-242, 39 S.Ct., at 71, 73-74.)

Without a doubt, the "sweat of the brow" doctrine flouted basic copyright principles. Throughout history, copyright law has "recognize[d] a greater need to disseminate factual works than works of fiction or fantasy." Harper & Row, 471 U.S., at 563, 105 S.Ct., at 2232. Accord, Gorman, Fact or Fancy: The Implications for Copyright, 29 J. Copyright Soc. 560, 563 (1982). But "sweat of the brow" courts took a contrary view; they handed out proprietary interests in facts and declared that authors are absolutely precluded from saving time and effort by relying upon the facts contained in prior works. In truth, "[i]t is just such wasted effort that the proscription against the copyright of ideas and facts ... [is] designed to prevent." Rosemont Enterprises, Inc. v. Random House, Inc., 366 F.2d 303, 310 (CA2 1966), cert. denied 385 U.S. 1009, 87 S.Ct. 714, 17 L.Ed.2d 546 (1967). "Protection for the fruits of such research ... may in certain circumstances be available under a theory of unfair competition. But to accord copyright protection on this basis alone distorts basic copyright principles in that it creates a monopoly in public domain materials without the necessary justification of protecting and encouraging the creation of 'writings' by 'authors.' " Nimmer s 3.04, p. 3-23 (footnote omitted).

C.

"Sweat of the brow" decisions did not escape the attention of the Copyright Office. When Congress decided to overhaul the copyright statute and asked the Copyright Office to study existing problems, see Mills Music, Inc. v. Snyder, 469 U.S. 153, 159, 105 S.Ct. 638, 642, 83 L.Ed.2d 556 (1985), the Copyright Office promptly recommended that Congress clear up the confusion in the lower courts as to the basic standards of copyrightability. The Register of Copyrights explained in his first report to Congress that "originality" was a "basic requisit[e]" of copyright under the 1909 Act, but that "the absence of any reference to [originality] in the statute seems to have led to misconceptions as to what is copyrightable matter." Report of the Register of Copyrights on the General Revision of the U.S. Copyright Law, 87th Cong., 1st Sess., p. 9 (H. Judiciary Comm. Print 1961). The Register suggested making the originality requirement explicit. Ibid.

Congress took the Register's advice. In enacting the Copyright Act of 1976, Congress dropped the reference to "all the writings of an author" and replaced it with the phrase "original works of authorship." 17 U.S.C. s 102(a). In making explicit the originality requirement, Congress announced that it was merely clarifying existing law: "The two fundamental criteria of copyright protection [are] originality and fixation in tangible form.... The phrase 'original works of authorship,' which is purposely left undefined, is intended to incorporate without change the standard of originality established by the courts under the present [1909] copyright statute." H.R.Rep. No. 94-1476, p. 51 (1976) (emphasis added) (hereinafter H.R.Rep.); S.Rep. No. 94-473, p. 50 (1975), U.S.Code Cong. & Admin.News 1976, pp. 5659, 5664 (emphasis added) (hereinafter S.Rep.). This sentiment was echoed by the Copyright Office: "Our intention here is to maintain the established standards of originality...." Supplementary Report of the Register of Copyrights on the General Revision of U.S. Copyright Law, 89th Cong., 1st Sess., pt. 6, p. 3 (H. Judiciary Comm. Print 1965) (emphasis added).

To ensure that the mistakes of the "sweat of the brow" courts would not be repeated, Congress took additional measures. For example, s 3 of the 1909 Act had stated that copyright protected only the "copyrightable component parts" of a work, but had not identified originality as the basis for distinguishing those component parts that were copyrightable from those that were not. The 1976 Act deleted this section and replaced it with s 102(b), which identifies specifically those elements of a work for which copyright is not available: "In no case does copyright protection for an original work of authorship extend to any idea, procedure, process, system, method of operation, concept, principle, or discovery, regardless of the form in which it is described, explained, illustrated, or embodied in such work." Section 102(b) is universally understood to prohibit any copyright in facts. Harper & Row, supra, at 547, 556, 105 S.Ct., at 2223, 2228. Accord, Nimmer s 2.03[E] (equating facts with "discoveries"). As with s 102(a), Congress emphasized that s 102(b) did not change the law, but merely clarified it: "Section 102(b) in no way enlarges or contracts the scope of copyright protection under the present law. Its purpose is to restate ... that the basic dichotomy between expression and idea remains unchanged." H.R.Rep., at 57; S.Rep., at 54, U.S.Code Cong. & Admin.News 1976, p. 5670.

Congress took another step to minimize confusion by deleting the specific mention of "directories ... and other compilations" in s 5 of the 1909 Act. As mentioned, this section had led some courts to conclude that directories were copyrightable per se and that every element of a directory was protected. In its place, Congress enacted two new provisions. First, to make clear that compilations were not copyrightable per se, Congress provided a definition of the term "compilation." Second, to make clear that the copyright in a compilation did not extend to the facts themselves, Congress enacted s 103.

The definition of "compilation" is found in s 101 of the 1976 Act. It defines a "compilation" in the copyright sense as "a work formed by the collection and assembling of preexisting materials or of data that are selected, coordinated, or arranged in such a way that the resulting work as a whole constitutes an original work of authorship" (emphasis added).

The purpose of the statutory definition is to emphasize that collections of facts are not copyrightable per se. It conveys this message through its tripartite structure, as emphasized above by the italics. The statute identifies three distinct elements and requires each to be met for a work to qualify as a copyrightable compilation: (1) the collection and assembly of pre-existing material, facts, or data; (2) the selection, coordination, or arrangement of those materials; and (3) the creation, by virtue of the particular selection, coordination, or arrangement, of an "original" work of authorship. "[T]his tripartite conjunctive structure is self-evident, and should be assumed to 'accurately express the legislative purpose.' " Patry 51, quoting Mills Music, 469 U.S., at 164, 105 S.Ct., at 645.

At first glance, the first requirement does not seem to tell us much. It merely describes what one normally thinks of as a compilation -- a collection of pre-existing material, facts, or data. What makes it significant is that it is not the sole requirement. It is not enough for copyright purposes that an author collects and assembles facts. To satisfy the statutory definition, the work must get over two additional hurdles. In this way, the plain language indicates that not every collection of facts receives copyright protection. Otherwise, there would be a period after "data."

The third requirement is also illuminating. It emphasizes that a compilation, like any other work, is copyrightable only if it satisfies the originality requirement ("an original work of authorship"). Although s 102 states plainly that the originality requirement applies to all works, the point was emphasized with regard to compilations to ensure that courts would not repeat the mistake of the "sweat of the brow" courts by concluding that fact-based works are treated differently and measured by some other standard. As Congress explained it, the goal was to "make plain that the criteria of copyrightable subject matter stated in section 102 apply with full force to works ... containing preexisting material." H.R.Rep., at 57; S.Rep., at 55, U.S.Code Cong. & Admin.News 1976, p. 5670.

The key to the statutory definition is the second requirement. It instructs courts that, in determining whether a fact-based work is an original work of authorship, they should focus on the manner in which the collected facts have been selected, coordinated, and arranged. This is a straightforward application of the originality requirement. Facts are never original, so the compilation author can claim originality, if at all, only in the way the facts are presented. To that end, the statute dictates that the principal focus should be on whether the selection, coordination, and arrangement are sufficiently original to merit protection.

Not every selection, coordination, or arrangement will pass muster. This is plain from the statute. It states that, to merit protection, the facts must be selected, coordinated, or arranged "in such a way" as to render the work as a whole original. This implies that some "ways" will trigger copyright, but that others will not. See Patry 57, and n. 76. Otherwise, the phrase "in such a way" is meaningless and Congress should have defined "compilation" simply as "a work formed by the collection and assembly of preexisting materials or data that are selected, coordinated, or arranged." That Congress did not do so is dispositive. In accordance with "the established principle that a court should give effect, if possible, to every clause and word of a statute," Moskal v. United States, 498 U.S. 103, 109- 110, 111 S.Ct. 461, 466, 112 L.Ed.2d 449 (1990) (internal quotation marks omitted), we conclude that the statute envisions that there will be some fact- based works in which the selection, coordination, and arrangement are not sufficiently original to trigger copyright protection.

As discussed earlier, however, the originality requirement is not particularly stringent. A compiler may settle upon a selection or arrangement that others have used; novelty is not required. Originality requires only that the author make the selection or arrangement independently (i.e., without copying that selection or arrangement from another work), and that it display some minimal level of creativity. Presumably, the vast majority of compilations will pass this test, but not all will. There remains a narrow category of works in which the creative spark is utterly lacking or so trivial as to be virtually nonexistent. See generally Bleistein v. Donaldson Lithographing Co., 188 U.S. 239, 251, 23 S.Ct. 298, 300, 47 L.Ed. 460 (1903) (referring to "the narrowest and most obvious limits"). Such works are incapable of sustaining a valid copyright. Nimmer s 2.01[B].

Even if a work qualifies as a copyrightable compilation, it receives only limited protection. This is the point of s 103 of the Act. Section 103 explains that "[t]he subject matter of copyright ... includes compilations," s 103(a), but that copyright protects only the author's original contributions--not the facts or information conveyed:

"The copyright in a compilation ... extends only to the material contributed by the author of such work, as distinguished from the preexisting material employed in the work, and does not imply any exclusive right in the preexisting material." s 103(b).

As s 103 makes clear, copyright is not a tool by which a compilation author may keep others from using the facts or data he or she has collected. "The most important point here is one that is commonly misunderstood today: copyright ... has no effect one way or the other on the copyright or public domain status of the preexisting material." H.R.Rep., at 57; S.Rep., at 55, U.S.Code Cong. & Admin. News 1976, p. 5670. The 1909 Act did not require, as "sweat of the brow" courts mistakenly assumed, that each subsequent compiler must start from scratch and is precluded from relying on research undertaken by another. See, e.g., Jeweler's Circular Publishing Co., 281 F., at 88-89. Rather, the facts contained in existing works may be freely copied because copyright protects only the elements that owe their origin to the compiler--the selection, coordination, and arrangement of facts.

In summary, the 1976 revisions to the Copyright Act leave no doubt that originality, not "sweat of the brow," is the touchstone of copyright protection in directories and other fact-based works. Nor is there any doubt that the same was true under the 1909 Act. The 1976 revisions were a direct response to the Copyright Office's concern that many lower courts had misconstrued this basic principle, and Congress emphasized repeatedly that the purpose of the revisions was to clarify, not change, existing law. The revisions explain with painstaking clarity that copyright requires originality, s 102(a); that facts are never original, s 102(b); that the copyright in a compilation does not extend to the facts it contains, s 103(b); and that a compilation is copyrightable only to the extent that it features an original selection, coordination, or arrangement, s 101.

The 1976 revisions have proven largely successful in steering courts in the right direction. A good example is Miller v. Universal City Studios, Inc., 650 F.2d, at 1369-1370: "A copyright in a directory ... is properly viewed as resting on the originality of the selection and arrangement of the factual material, rather than on the industriousness of the efforts to develop the information. Copyright protection does not extend to the facts themselves, and the mere use of information contained in a directory without a substantial copying of the format does not constitute infringement" (citation omitted). Additionally, the Second Circuit, which almost 70 years ago issued the classic formulation of the "sweat of the brow" doctrine in Jeweler's Circular Publishing Co., has now fully repudiated the reasoning of that decision. See, e.g., Financial Information, Inc. v. Moody's Investors Service, Inc., 808 F.2d 204, 207 (CA2 1986), cert. denied, 484 U.S. 820, 108 S.Ct. 79, 98 L.Ed.2d 42 (1987); Financial Information, Inc. v. Moody's Investors Service, Inc., 751 F.2d 501, 510 (CA2 1984) (Newman, J., concurring); Hoehling v. Universal City Studios, Inc., 618 F.2d 972, 979 (CA2 1980). Even those scholars who believe that "industrious collection" should be rewarded seem to recognize that this is beyond the scope of existing copyright law. See Denicola 516 ("[T]he very vocabulary of copyright is ill suited to analyzing property rights in works of nonfiction"); id., at 520-521, 525; Ginsburg 1867, 1870.

III.

There is no doubt that Feist took from the white pages of Rural's directory a substantial amount of factual information. At a minimum, Feist copied the names, towns, and telephone numbers of 1,309 of Rural's subscribers. Not all copying, however, is copyright infringement. To establish infringement, two elements must be proven: (1) ownership of a valid copyright, and (2) copying of constituent elements of the work that are original. See Harper & Row, 471 U.S., at 548, 105 S.Ct., at 2224. The first element is not at issue here; Feist appears to concede that Rural's directory, considered as a whole, is subject to a valid copyright because it contains some foreword text, as well as original material in its yellow pages advertisements. See Brief for Petitioner 18; Pet. for Cert. 9.

The question is whether Rural has proved the second element. In other words, did Feist, by taking 1,309 names, towns, and telephone numbers from Rural's white pages, copy anything that was "original" to Rural? Certainly, the raw data does not satisfy the originality requirement. Rural may have been the first to discover and report the names, towns, and telephone numbers of its subscribers, but this data does not " 'ow[e] its origin' " to Rural. Burrow-Giles, 111 U.S., at 58, 4 S.Ct., at 281. Rather, these bits of information are uncopyrightable facts; they existed before Rural reported them and would have continued to exist if Rural had never published a telephone directory. The originality requirement "rule[s] out protecting ... names, addresses, and telephone numbers of which the plaintiff by no stretch of the imagination could be called the author." Patterson & Joyce 776.

Rural essentially concedes the point by referring to the names, towns, and telephone numbers as "preexisting material." Brief for Respondent 17. Section 103(b) states explicitly that the copyright in a compilation does not extend to "the preexisting material employed in the work."

The question that remains is whether Rural selected, coordinated, or arranged these uncopyrightable facts in an original way. As mentioned, originality is not a stringent standard; it does not require that facts be presented in an innovative or surprising way. It is equally true, however, that the selection and arrangement of facts cannot be so mechanical or routine as to require no creativity whatsoever. The standard of originality is low, but it does exist. See Patterson & Joyce 760, n. 144 ("While this requirement is sometimes characterized as modest, or a low threshold, it is not without effect") (internal quotation marks omitted; citations omitted). As this Court has explained, the Constitution mandates some minimal degree of creativity, see The Trade-Mark Cases, 100 U.S., at 94; and an author who claims infringement must prove "the existence of ... intellectual production, of thought, and conception." > Burrow-Giles, supra, 111 U.S., at 59-60, 4 S.Ct., at 281-282.

The selection, coordination, and arrangement of Rural's white pages do not satisfy the minimum constitutional standards for copyright protection. As mentioned at the outset, Rural's white pages are entirely typical. Persons desiring telephone service in Rural's service area fill out an application and Rural issues them a telephone number. In preparing its white pages, Rural simply takes the data provided by its subscribers and lists it alphabetically by surname. The end product is a garden-variety white pages directory, devoid of even the slightest trace of creativity.

Rural's selection of listings could not be more obvious: It publishes the most basic information--name, town, and telephone number--about each person who applies to it for telephone service. This is "selection" of a sort, but it lacks the modicum of creativity necessary to transform mere selection into copyrightable expression. Rural expended sufficient effort to make the white pages directory useful, but insufficient creativity to make it original.

We note in passing that the selection featured in Rural's white pages may also fail the originality requirement for another reason. Feist points out that Rural did not truly "select" to publish the names and telephone numbers of its subscribers; rather, it was required to do so by the Kansas Corporation Commission as part of its monopoly franchise. See 737 F.Supp., at 612. Accordingly, one could plausibly conclude that this selection was dictated by state law, not by Rural.

Nor can Rural claim originality in its coordination and arrangement of facts. The white pages do nothing more than list Rural's subscribers in alphabetical order. This arrangement may, technically speaking, owe its origin to Rural; no one disputes that Rural undertook the task of alphabetizing the names itself. But there is nothing remotely creative about arranging names alphabetically in a white pages directory. It is an age-old practice, firmly rooted in tradition and so commonplace that it has come to be expected as a matter of course. See Brief for Information Industry Association et al. as Amici Curiae 10 (alphabetical arrangement "is universally observed in directories published by local exchange telephone companies"). It is not only unoriginal, it is practically inevitable. This time-honored tradition does not possess the minimal creative spark required by the Copyright Act and the Constitution.

We conclude that the names, towns, and telephone numbers copied by Feist were not original to Rural and therefore were not protected by the copyright in Rural's combined white and yellow pages directory. As a constitutional matter, copyright protects only those constituent elements of a work that possess more than a de minimis quantum of creativity. Rural's white pages, limited to basic subscriber information and arranged alphabetically, fall short of the mark. As a statutory matter, 17 U.S.C. s 101 does not afford protection from copying to a collection of facts that are selected, coordinated, and arranged in a way that utterly lacks originality. Given that some works must fail, we cannot imagine a more likely candidate. Indeed, were we to hold that Rural's white pages pass muster, it is hard to believe that any collection of facts could fail.

Because Rural's white pages lack the requisite originality, Feist's use of the listings cannot constitute infringement. This decision should not be construed as demeaning Rural's efforts in compiling its directory, but rather as making clear that copyright rewards originality, not effort. As this Court noted more than a century ago, " 'great praise may be due to the plaintiffs for their industry and enterprise in publishing this paper, yet the law does not contemplate their being rewarded in this way.' " Baker v. Selden, 101 U.S., at 105.

The judgment of the Court of Appeals is Reversed.

Justice BLACKMUN concurs in the judgment.

I think you should read more:

This Court has long recognized that the fact/expression dichotomy limits severely the scope of protection in fact-based works. More than a century ago, the Court observed: "The very object of publishing a book on science or the useful arts is to communicate to the world the useful knowledge which it contains. But this object would be frustrated

if the knowledge could not be used without incurring the guilt of piracy of the book." Baker v. Selden, 101 U.S. 99, 103, 25 L.Ed. 841 (1880). We reiterated this point in Harper & Row:

"[N]o author may copyright facts or ideas. The copyright is limited to those aspects of the work--termed 'expression'--that display the stamp of the author's originality.

"[C]opyright does not prevent subsequent users from copying from a prior author's work those constituent elements that are not original--for example ... facts, or materials in the public domain--as long as such use does not unfairly appropriate the author's original contributions." 471 U.S., at 547-548, 105 S.Ct., at 2223-2224 (citation

It is this bedrock principle of copyright that mandates the law's seemingly disparate treatment of facts and factual compilations. "No one may claim originality as to facts." Id. 2.11[A], p. 2-157. This is because facts do not owe their origin to an act of authorship. The distinction is one between creation and discovery: the first person to find and report a particular fact has not created the fact; he or she has merely discovered its existence. To borrow from Burrow-Giles, one who discovers a fact is not its "maker" or "originator." 111 U.S., at 58. "The discoverer merely finds and records." Nimmer 2.03[E]. Census-takers, for example, do not "create" the population figures that emerge from their efforts; in a sense, they copy these figures from the world around them. Denicola, Copyright in Collections of Facts: A Theory for the Protection of Nonfiction Literary Works, 81 Colum.L.Rev. 516, 525 (1981) (hereinafter Denicola). Census data therefore do not trigger copyright, because these data are not "original" in the constitutional sense. Nimmer [begin page 348] 2.03[E]. The same is true of all facts - scientific, historical, biographical, and news of the day. "[T]hey may not be copyrighted, and are part of the public domain available to every person." Miller, supra, at 1369.

A number of passages in the New Testament are applicable to growing out of and overcoming masturbation as we seek single sightedness, with purity of heart and motive in following Jesus the Lord.

"Do not yield your members to sin as instruments of wickedness, but yield yourselves to God as men who have been brought from death to life, and your members to God as instruments of righteousness." (Rom. 6:13)

"...make straight paths for your feet, so that what is lame may not be put out of joint but rather be healed. Strive for peace with all men, and for the holiness without which no one will see the Lord." (Heb.12:13,14)

"But fornication and all impurity or covetousness must not even be named among you, as is fitting among saints...Be sure of this, that no fornicator or impure man, or one who is covetous (that is, an idolater), has any inheritance in the kingdom of Christ and of God. Let no one deceive you with empty words, for it is because of these things that the wrath of God comes upon the sons of disobedience...Take no part in the unfruitful works of darkness, but instead expose them. For it is a shame even to speak of the things that they do in secret; but when anything is exposed by the light it becomes visible, for anything that becomes visible is light." (Eph. 5:3-13)

"If then you have been raised with Christ, seek the things that are above, where Christ is, seated at the right hand of God. Set your minds on things that are above, not on things that are on earth. For you have died, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ who is our life appears, then you also will appear with him in glory. Put to death therefore what is earthly in you: fornication, impurity, passion, evil desire, and covetousness, which is idolatry. On account of these the wrath of God is coming." (Col. 3:1-6)

Another Free Competition!

The Southgate Amateur Radio Club's website now has another free competition running.
This time, we are offering you a chance to win a BHI NEIM1031 Noise Eliminating In-Line Module - absolutely free.

The NEIM1031 Noise Eliminating In-line Module incorporates the latest Digital Signal Processing (DSP) technology to remove unwanted background noise and interference from speech, enabling you to concentrate and listen... ï¿½Stress Freeï¿½

The NEIM1031 will greatly improve the clarity and intelligibility of speech in a variety of radio communication applications. It is suitable for use with amateur radio equipment, scanning receivers, CB radio, two-way radio, headsets, marine communications, taxi base stations, hands-free car kits, processing of audio tapes and signals, pre-processing for voice control applications

Just answer a very simple question for your chance to win one of these super units.

To increase your chances of winning, you can make an entry every day until the competition closes. Entries are invited from all parts of the world.

To enter the BHI competition, just point your web browsers at:
http://www.southgatearc.org/competitions/bhi.htm

Good Luck!

Richard

Lloyd,

College students plagiarize papers all the time. Most folks have no comprehension of copyright nor the fact that stealing from others is not correct. I believe he has most of this on his website (also a copy and paste).

Arguing is pointless. Ignorance is curable, stupidity is not.

why should someone answer a door after determining that the caller is someone they find unpleasent?

Wiseman is described in term that make him seem to pretty dumb (and if he is in fact Mr Slit as allleged he is pretty dumb) but it is a sisn of decent snese not to answer the door when someone unpleasent comes calling

I do likewise or if they are presistant enough I greet with the busness end of a shotgun, being a country boy these days the is more accepted than in most towns

Electromagnetic radation has crossed electric and magnetic fields which 90 degree out phase with each other. That mean when E field max, H field it is zero. So EM radiation always unbalanced at every point along it path.

That why balun do no good and balun just snake oil for rubes.

My web sight explain it all.

Or how about the fact that radio waves travel at a velocity of C (C = 186,000 miles per second or 3.00 X 10^8 ms-1) or the fact that an electromagnetic wave is an electric and magnetic wave traveling at a right angle to each other. The magnetic part of the wave last longer then the electrical part, which ends. Or the fact that the third part of electromagnetic wave is called a geons (a gravitational wave).

For long time people like FCC use Pi in ham radio exams and they use Geneva value of 3.141592653. But why make Pi be such long number?
Why not use 3 and be over it?

Answer is FCC want things complecated to stay in power.

So we in campain to change Pi back to 3 just like Anglican church try set it in 1700s. Come to web sight and vote to change Pi back to 3.
If work together we can do it.

Would that explain the vacuum that exists between Woger's left and right ears?

Come on...this vapid clown has a difficult enough time spelling correctly much less presenting himself as one with an I.Q. much over room temperature.

That Celtic Cross on the door? It is a marker for the Pappa John pizza

Electromagnetic radiation: That form of energy which characterized by transversely oscillating electric and magnetic fields whic propagate at the velocity of C in free space. At a sufficient distance from the source, the electric field vector and the magnetic field vecor are at right angles to eachother, forming a right handed (coordinate) system.

C = 186,000 Miles per second or 3.00 X 10^8 mps-1

Geons: A graviational field in the form of small packets which also travel trasversely with an electromagnetic field.

Several occasions???

Dave was there but once.

And Pussy Willow Roger hid behind the barred and locked door.

//////////////////////

And after? Big Ballz Roger claimed that he was ready to Kick Ass while hiding behind his front door.

No, retard. If Roger had opened the door with a weapon in hand, after they got through shitting themselves, they'd have whine to the police about somebody brandishing a weapon.
I wouldn't have opebned the door either. Why hasn't that person posted

Poor Lardass, he's been cutting and pasting again, hoping he could be Roger's girlfriend, because Lloyd can't get his shemale mommy to set him up with one of his/her shemale friends.

At VHF and up, wavelength become short enough that wires which conect chips together on PC board can radiate or can look like not a wire at all. That why modern PC board maker use transmission line theory to design traces on board. Otherwise it could mallfunction.

My new ham experimenter board have free computer programs which I wrote for PC board design stuff. They writen in C++ for OS-X but probaly work for other computers to. Need more programs for library so why not join and contribuite your stuff to ham library? any ham radio program welcome and not just PC board stuff but we only want ham programers right now because if can't program you are not real experimenter ham.

<tune of troll, troll, troll your boat plays softly in background>

Simply because the ratio of the circumference of a circle to its' diameter is not three. A rough approximation is 3.14159265358979323846264338327950288419716939937510. I suppose I could go on as I did memorize it to 110 places during a study hall in high school, but a google search will turn up the number to a far higher number of digits, if necessary. Usually 4 or 5 places is sufficient.

Yep, nothing like simplicity. Except that it doesn't work :))

The FCC has nothing to do with it. They don't define irrational numbers such as e, pi, etc.

Try your troll somewhere else :))

If you think that would worry me, guess again.

How about no more multiple guess and make it fill in the blank (answers accurate to 4 places) for theory?

How about draw schematics?

Could consider raising Extra to 25 words per minute like the 1st class radiotelegraph license was. Oh, and no fill in blanks - perfect copy for one minute out of a five minute session.

I wouldn't suggest it as it would discourage new folks, but I'd be willing to take the above ....

Like yourself possibly, I am also from the "old school" of thought regarding amateur licensing. Way back when the FCC decided to lower the requirements for minimal CW copy, my first thought was something like "what a bunch of weak-weenies..." Come on, we don't need another Citizen's Band on HF. I have an old friend that is mentally retarded, and he could pass the 5 wpm morse test with no problem...his IQ is apx 80. Oh well, in the grand scheme of things, none of this even matters. Just had to post a short comment about this subject. Thank you for posting yours.

That's discrimination, and it's stupid to boot. Only time lords can time travel. That means that no true time traveler will ever go to your board, and that your results will be invalid.

"If I Were A Stalker"

If I were a stalker

and you were a Lloydie,

Would you marry me anyway?

Would you have my baby?

If a dipshit were my trade would you still find me, carrin' the lies I made,

followin' behind me.

Save my love through loneliness,

Save my love for sorrow,

I'm offering my Glendale home,

Come give your tomorrow.

If I worked my hands in pizza,

Would you still love me?

Answer me Lloyd, "Yes I would,

I'll put you above me."

If I were a Woger

at a fifth wheel grinding, would you miss your color box,

and my back door whining?

If I were a Wiseman

and you were a Lloydie,

Would you marry me anyway?

Would you have my baby?

Would you marry anyway?

Would you have my baby?

Woger doesn't have a life. His life was gone when his mommy passed on. Now he just sits there doing nothing but being a totally inept failure like he always has been doing.

Not to mention the fact you had to retest to keep your license because you were busted jamming 20 meters. Shall we post the letters again.

It will do no good. Woger will claim that he was "invited" to be retested.
He claims that since he originally tested via a VEC that Mr. Hollingsworth picked Woger at random. Of course the FCC letters to Woger are, according to Roger, mere "suggestions" and Roger, to this day, maintains that he did nothing wrong though the accusations in Riley's letters are plain to see. Roger continues to pick at definitions so as to salve his warning letters and retest requirements. Bottom line? Roger was forced to retest at the risk of having his Ham license rescinded. Roger HAD to retest. Period. It was that or lose his Ham license. Why? Because Roger caused malicious intererence on several occasions and he got caught.

And now the ugly little gnome is moving on to other nefarious activities, including posting filth over the names of others.
One has to feel pity for Woger. Look at him...the guy is a virtual Hermit...hides behind drawn blinds, hides behind multiple dialup accounts, will not answer the phone, is afraid to even go to his own front door!

Where were YOU at the hamfest, Wogie? Take Lloyd not to task when you were afraid to step into the front door.

Coward. Chicken Shit. Flatulent Poo-Poo.

HOW TO SPEAK HILLBILLY BY WOGER WISEMAN:

"Basios"...word Woger uses when he gets neeeerrrrvous.
"Behing"...a cross between being and behind?
"Feamle"...I think he meant female.
"Losser"...only loser Roger can do it better.
"Ignroant"...typical, considering the source.
"Sluprs"...only Rogie knows what this means.
"Travelled"...a Rogerism, replete with ignorance.
"Postss"...pssst...Roger..that should be Posts.
"Defgenerate"...well, it's Roger's word...
"Faity"...he meant to say Fairy, but you know Roger.
"Distribiution"...Roger likes using phonics.
"Biotch"...he meant Bitch, but his phonics took over again.
"Methjadone"...a West Virginia substitute for Heroin.
"Anoinymous"...a cross between anonymous and annoying?
"Sumbliminal"...one of Roger's favorites.
"Recepticle"...either of Roger's moist cavaties.
"Cociane"...a West Virginia drug of choice?
"Tiome"...Roger meant to say Time...but his fingers were numb.
"Beraking"...no definition. Could mean 'beraking' the leaves,
"Amny"...he meant 'any',
"Nlay"...a town in Maylaysia? Vermont?
"Al;ong"...only Wussman knows what this means.
"Becasu"...well, becasu Roger is not the brightest bulb on the tree.
"Seperation". Why? Because Roger cannot "seperate" from his mommie

Sorry for deleting your Roger words, but here is a more complete list of his spelling gaffes. Woger has claimed that he sometimes makes keyboard errors...yeah, right. It is his story and we have to let him tell it. (kind of how he spins being made to retest...) Get the "picutre" ?
And Woger, never known for originality, began to emulate my efforts of documenting his slip-ups by doing a similar thing and blaming it on, of course, his favorite stalkee, Lloyd.

�exaggerarte� Good one.

�ionly� Ions? Lonely? Who knows?

�Ovre� Ovre and out!

�Wondreful� It�s a �wondreful� day in the neighborhood?

�Derivitave� Still no spell-checker, eh?

�You lose, shit for brians.� Woger showing who real loser is.

�Deisowned� Deis what?

�Deeppest� Roger strikes again.

�Dodgeing�. Is he talking about a car?

�Staedy� Steady?

�Linme� Transmission line?

�Getr� Nobody knows.

�Experieince� Wogie is good, ain�t he?

�Laywer� Lay what?

�Visitpors� You never have any, ergo you don�t know how to spell it.

�It's "complaintant," you sniveling weasel.� (Roger Wiseman on spelling complainant.)

�Irreevant� Good going, Wogie.

�Forwared� Forward HO!

�Glady� Glad Bags?

�Neighborhod� It�s a wonderful day in Wogie�s neighborhood.

�Illarate� West BY GOD Virginny!

�Reveresed� Must be one of those off-brand keyboards.

�Soem��as in Some? What a loser.

�VIRIN��What Wogie was before he met the Lavender Lads.

�Minisule��he mussa meant miniscule. Like his IQ.

�Champoin��Whassup, Wiseman? No dictionaries in the mental ward?

"Anoinymous"...a cross between anonymous and annoying?

�Acident� Roger�s mom got preggers by accident.

�Alreaedy� Alright, already!

�Amouints� Roger amounts to nothing.

�Aposterphe� This guy is a hoot, ain�t he?

"Basios"...word Woger uses when he gets neeeerrrrvous.
"Behing"...a cross between being and behind?

�Coiward� As in peeking from behind his mommy�s curtains.
"Feamle"...I think he meant female.
"Losser"...only loser Roger can do it better.
"Ignroant"...typical, considering the source.
"Sluprs"...only Rogie knows what this means.
"Travelled"...a Rogerism, replete with ignorance.
"Postss"...pssst...Roger..that should be Posts.
"Defgenerate"...well, it's Roger's word...
"Faity"...he meant to say Fairy, but you know Roger.

�Ghet� Get a load of Curtain Boy!
"Distribiution"...Roger likes using phonics.
"Biotch"...he meant Bitch, but his phonics took over again.
"Methjadone"...a West Virginia substitute for Heroin.
"Sumbliminal"...one of Roger's favorites.
"Recepticle"...either of Roger's moist cavaties.
"Cociane"...a West Virginia drug of choice?
"Tiome"...Roger meant to say Time...but his fingers were numb.

"Beraking"...no definition. Could mean 'beraking' the leaves,
"Amny"...he meant 'any',
"Nlay"...a town in Maylaysia? Vermont?
"Al;ong"...only Wussman knows what this means.
"Becasu"...well, becasu Roger is not the brightest bulb on the tree.
"Seperation". Why? Because Roger cannot "seperate" from his mommie!
�Sisnce� He meant Since, but his pudgy little fingers slipped off the keys.
"gnetically" What?
"provce" (prove?)
"Piuzza" (West Virginia Pizza)
"Schol" (school?)
"strill" (still?)
�shoitgun� 12 ga or 20 ga?
"Snoip" (How they spell �snip� in Glen Dale)
"Maturbater". Wiseman does it all the time, he just can�t spell it.(leaves a sticky residue on his right hand)
"Coskscuking". It�s a Roger thing, as in Lavender Lads.
"Waddleing". Only in Glen Dale, eh?
"Spaeaking". Curtain Boy did this after his second retest.

�Fahter's� He meant Father�s Day.

�fserting�..would that be festering?

�snadwich� As in peanut butter and jelly?

�regualr� Glen Dale rendition of �regular�.

�aftrer� After? Aftrer what?

�soory�. Sorry Roger fucks up again.

�didnb't� He didn�t?

�whoile�. He ate the whoile thing?

�prrof� And he kin prove it, too.

�beforfe� Was that before he lurned to spell?

�yoiuy� Roger�s version of �y�all�.

They're presently on 3.953 LSB, and as you correctly observed, the old fossil from the midwest is in there outgassing for 20+ minutes at a time like an relief valve on an old leaky power substation oil-filled transformer in 90°F heat, as per the usual. It does however make for better listening that WWCR which only plays Brother Stinkpot Stair thru the night as the only other alternative on shortwave.

It's funny. Most here do not think a license is something worth having if you have to work a little to have it.

Lucky them. They got the ARRL on their side.

If your issue is with the ARRL, why not take it up with them? If your troll comment is with other Hams, why bother?
And as for your "proposal"? It will go no further than the comments it has Wrong as usual, Lardass!

Here's the FCC letter he received (from Hap Holly's site when he posted such letters)

CERTIFIED MAIL--RETURN RECEIPT REQUESTED

Mr. Roger L. Wiseman

610 Glen Haven Avenue

Glendale, WV 26038-1302

SUBJECT: Amateur Radio license KC8JBO

Dear Mr. Wiseman:

Pursuant to Section 97.519(d)(2) of the Commission's Rules, 47 C.F.R. Section 97.519(d)(2), the Commission has the authority to re-administer any examination element previously administered by Volunteer Examiners (VE's). The Commission may either administer the examination itself, or under the supervision of a Volunteer Examiner Coordinator (VEC) or VE designated by the Commission.

Accordingly, we are requiring you to re-take the General Class Amateur Examination, (Elements 2, 3(A) and 3(B)) under the supervision of an American Radio Relay League Volunteer Examiner Coordinator. This examination must be completed on or before September 11, 2000. The required code speed that you must demonstrate is 5 words per minute.

Please be prepared to verify your current address and to present a photo identification. Pursuant to Commission rules, your license will be cancelled if you do not appear for re-examination. You will be granted an Amateur Radio license consistent with the elements you pass upon re-examination.

Sincerely,

W. Riley Hollingsworth

Special Counsel, Amateur Radio

Enforcement Bureau

>No "interference"?

Read everything closely. There were three letters sent.

The letters to both Wiseman and Tunder were a preemptive "warning" that did not allege any activities. That hardly qualifies as a warning in the context of someone having actually done something.

The letter with the warning in it ALLEGED interference, and warned of consequences.

The retest letter made no reference to interference; in fact gave no reason for requiring the retest. Such a request is part of the Volunteer Examining program. It could have been made for any number of reasons that may have had nothing to do with any of the addressee's actions. An investigation into the VE group that gave the test, would be a good example.

Only one letter was a warning referring to interference.

So, yes; if you are going to tell it, tell it straight.

The FCC rules are very specific, shit for brains:

Pursuant to Section 97.519(d)(2) of the Commission's Rules, 47 C.F.R.
Section 97.519(d)(2), the Commission has the authority to re-administer any examination element previously administered by Volunteer Examiners (VE's).
The Commission may either administer the examination itself, or under the supervision of a Volunteer Examiner Coordinator (VEC) or VE designated by the Commission.

No, stupid:

Pursuant to Section 97.519(d)(2) of the Commission's Rules, 47 C.F.R.
Section 97.519(d)(2), the Commission has the authority to re-administer any examination element previously administered by Volunteer Examiners (VE's).
The Commission may either administer the examination itself, or under
the supervision of a Volunteer Examiner Coordinator (VEC) or VE designated by the Commission.

It wasn't any reason in the retest letter other than that. You are too fucking stupid to even read what is right in front of you. It wasn't much of a "sanction", for Roger passed it and upgraded.

> And now the ugly little gnome is moving on to other nefarious activities,

Hey Dave, here you are posting under another name when you said you don't do such things. You are a liar. And, now, you can go clean out

Wiseman, you're probably the biggest fuckin moron that I have ever encountered in my years in amateur radio if not usenet. You're useless to the core, ill-educated, and a total moron. It is obvious to see that you're so poorly education that you cannot make logic of the fact that you were retested on the basis of not using good amateur practice. Everyone knows it.
What an idiot you truly are.

You know why he defends him, because he and whinyslit are one in the same. He's such a delusional fuckwit that he cannot keep from speaking in the third person about himself. That's a clear sign of someone in severe mental distress when they have to invent friends to take up a fight. They are the same person posting under different accounts.

What do you expect of a guy who doesn't have a sex life. Why do you think he uses Mr. Slit, it just shows what a puss he really is.

You sure wouldn't be a person to be jealous of. More like a person to be pitied. No job, no work ethic, lazy, skanky, filthy, ill-educated, need we say more.

2530. Practice morse code

Does anyone here know of a program that you can use to practice sending morse code messages? All the sites that I have gone to that covers learning morse code only have recordings of morse code.

WWW.QRZ.COM

There are some programs there you may be able to download to practice. I believe most if not all "send it to you - randomly - some may even allow you to type a message to be sent back to you at whatever speed you want - usually settings of 5/10/13/20 and up..... though only 5WPM is the top speed needed now.

PLEASE NOTE: The 135.7-137.8 MHz segment has been conceded to the Amateur Radio Service in Monaco for several years (Status: Secondary shared).

3D2/R, ROTUMA ISLAND (Update). Operators Will/N7OU (3D2RO) and Rob/W7YAQ (3D2RX), who were expected to be active between March 1-10th, had their flight delayed/cancelled and are still on the Fiji Islands. Their activity will include a Multi-Single entry in the ARRL DX SSB Contest (March 4-5th) as 3D2RX. Reports indicate that they may be able to fly to Rotuma on March 6th. QSL via their home callsign, direct or by the bureau.

6W, SENEGAL. Jacques, F6BEE, will be active as 6W1RW in the CQWW WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as Single-Op/All-Band/High Power entry (Possibly SO2R). QSL via F6BEE. He inoforms OPDX that he will be there on March 21st very early in the morning and leave on next Monday, March 27th, in the evening to catch a plane at 02:00 A.M. Jacques will be on all the usual contest bands as the antennas are already installed (KT36XA at 19m, 2 element 40 at 21m, 2 element wire beam on 80m at 18m and 160m dipole). However, if he has some time left and can find a place, he will temporary put up a R-7000 for the WARC bands.

6Y, JAMAICA. Tomas, LY1DF, will be active as 6Y5/LY1DF from March 12-18th. Activity will be on 40-15 meters CW only. QSL via LY1DF, Bureau only.

9A, CROATIA. Zrinko (Zik), VE3ZIK, will once again be active from Bilice (JN73WS at Adriatic Coast) between March 17-28th (approx.) as 9A/VE3ZIK. He will be active in the Russian DX Contest and CQ WW WPX SSB Contest. Outside of the contests, he will be active mostly on the WARC bands and will be waiting for any 10m FM opening on 29.600 MHz. QSL via DL3PS; by the DARC Bureau is OK. Don't send QSL cards to the VE3 Bureau. Also, visit Zik's Web site at: http://www.qslnet.de/ve3zik

ANTARCTICA. Dmitry, UR8UC, will be using the special callsign EM1UC from the Ukrainian Antarctic DX Club (UADXC) station (EM1U) from the Akademik Vernadsky Base station until February 2007. His activity will be on CW, SSB and the Digital modes.

CT3, MADEIRA ISLANDS. Operators Rosel/DL3KWR and Hardy/DL3KWF will be active again as CT3/DL3KWR and CT3/DL3KWF, respectively, March 9-23th. Activity will be mostly CW and on the WARC bands. QSL via their home callsign. E-mail requests for bureau cards can be sent to: <dl3kwr@darc.de> or <dl3kwf@darc.de>, respectively. Their Web site is at: http://www.mydarc.de/dl3kwr

DXCC NEWS. Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager, informs OPDX that the following operations are approved for DXCC credit:
D2DX - Angola; Current operation effective December 15th, 2004

T6X - Afghanistan; Current operation effective March 8th, 2005
TS3A - Tunisia; March 24-28th, 2005
TT8PK - Chad; December 27th, 2005, through February 11th, 2006
XW1A, XW1LLR5, XW1X and XW1M - Laos; Current operation effective October 29th, 2005

DZ, PHILIPPINES (Special Event). A group of Filipino and Japanese hams will be operating with the special callsign DZ1JP to celebrate the 50th anniversary of diplomatic relations between the Philippine (DU) and Japan (JA). The year 2006 is called the Philippine-Japan Friendship Year. Look for activity on 160m and EME on 6 and 2 meters. QSL Manager is JA1HGY. Operation will be from March 10-12th.

ED8/EF8, CANARY ISLANDS. Operators Edu/EA8AUW (EC8AUA), Peter/EC8/74182 and possibly others from the Canary Islands will be active as ED8CLL, Sunday, March 19th, from the "Castle of La Luz" in Las Palmas de Gran Canaria, Capital city of Gran Canaria Island (IOTA AF-004). This castle will be activated for the first time on the air with the reference valid for the "Spanish Historic Monuments Award" (DMHE MGC 013). Activity will be on 20-10 meters with 17 meters included. The team also plans to be active a little on PSK and RTTY. They will also use a secondary callsign EF8CLL (Restringed) on 15 meters below 21200 kHz. QSLs will be sent out automatically via the Bureau (without a need to comfirm). More infomation is available at: http://www.qrz.com/ed8cll

FR/G, GLORIOSO ISLAND. Rafik, F5CQ, sent out a press release this week indicating the following: "Lasted news - We have got from Reunion Head Quarter a conditional clearance to organize our expedition onto Glorioso Islands (IOTA AF-011). However, regarding the sanitary situation over Indian Ocean and Chikungounya disease, we will not take any risk. Therefore, the decision to postpone this operation up to October or November seems compulsory." Please refer to the following Web sites for more info:
http://glorieuses2005.free.fr/
http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Chikungunya

FP, ST. PIERRE & MIQUELON. Juergen, DJ2VO, will be active from the Island of Miquelon, May 5-20th. His callsign was not provided. Activity will be CW only on 80-10 meters with 100 watts into a Vertical Antenna. QSL via his home callsign.

GP0, GUERNSEY. Ron/G4DIY (GP0STH), and Lee/G0DBE will be active from here starting around 1000z March 10th, as GP0STH. Their bands and modes of activity were not provided. QSL via G4DIY.

H44 & P29, SOLOMON ISLANDS AND PAPUA NEW GUINEA. Reports indicate that Bernhard, DL2GAC, is once again heading to the Pacific for about 2 months. It has been announced that he will be active as H44MS from the Solomon Islands, now through March 12th. He will then be active as P29VMS from Papua New Guinea (PNG) until late March or early April. He plans to activate a few IOTA groups while in PNG, including Bougainville Island (OC-135), the Shortland Islands (OC-162) and possibly others. QSL via DL2GAC.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO MARTTI, OH2BH. Many DXers over the past week heard Martti, OH2BH, active as V31BH from Belize. His operation also included activity in the ARRL DX SSB Contest this past weekend. By the time you read this Martti should be QRT from Belize. QSL V31BH via OH2BH. However, excerpts from a press release by Jarmo, OH2BN, this past week also indicate that OH2BH will be celebrating his 60th birthday later this year. Jarmo also states: "The past decades include some 45 years of making DX and providing elusive DX counters to those in need. The years also include more than three decades of happy marriage to Leena, OH2BE - and now a first grandchild due in May. Martti will become a Grandpa DXer."
Read more on Martti at: http://www.bcdxc.org/martti_page1.htm
Also, the Finnish Telecom Authority has released/issued the callsign OH60BH (OH-sixty-BH) to be used on the air starting March 2006.

HB20, SWITZERLAND. Nick, HB9DDZ, President of DIG Section Switzerland, informs OPDX that between March 8th and June 7th, the DIG Section of Switzerland will celebrate their 20th anniversary. During this time they will activate the special event station HB20DIG (HB-twenty-DIG). It will be the first time that the prefix HB20 will be aired. If you work HB20DIG two times, you can apply for the W-DIG-HB Award by sending a copy of your log and 5 USDs or 5 Euros to the following address: DIG Section Switzerland " DIPLOM", Postfach 217, CH - 5080 Laufenburg, Switzerland. The awards will go out after the end of this event. All QSLs will go out automaticlly via the bureau.

HH, HAITI. Operators Jan/K4QD (HH4/K4QD) and Bill/W4WX (HH4/W4WX) will be in here from March 20-31st. They plan to be active on all modes on 80-10 meters. As in the past, they will operate from the NW Haiti Christian Mission: http://www.nwhcm.org
QSL HH4/W4WX direct to W4WX and HH4/K4QD direct or by the bureau to K4QD.
ADDED NOTE: Also, Bill and Jan arrived home safely from Ascension Island this week. They concentrated primarily on the WARC bands on CW and digital modes during their week long operation. ZD8WX and ZD8QD QSL cards are on order and should be available for mailing when they return from Haiti. The full story should appear in the May-June issue of DX Magazine.

IOTA NEWS.....
EU-042. Hans-Peter, DC1HPS, will activate Pellworm Island (GIA N-23, WLOTA LH-1188) as DC1HPS/p from July 27th to August 18th. He will also participate in the RSGB IOTA Contest (July 29-30th). Look for activity outside of the contest on 80-10 meters with 100 watts. QSL via his home callsign, bureau preferred.

EU-055. Operators Jurgen/DJ5HD, Bernd/DH1ND, Gerd/DG1XG, Ralf/DK4DV, Manfred/DL6HBX, Wolfgang/DJ5ZWS, Jan-Ole/DB8JO, Jorn/DG5XJ, Bernd/DJ8LG and Helmut/DL8RM will activate Fedje Island and the Hellis&#65533;y Frystasjon (Lighthouse) (ARLHS NOR-022, WLOTA LH-0496) from August 17-22nd. Activity will be on all bands and modes, including participation in the International Lighthouse/Lightship Weekend (August 19-20th). They will use personal callsigns with a LA/ prefix and /LH suffix (e.g.: LA/DG1XG/LH). QSL via the individual operator's home callsign.

http://www.qslnet.de/member/dg1xg/fedje.html

EU-085. Operators Alex/RA9XV, Pavel/RA9XY, Anatoly/UA9XBL and Andrei/
UA9XC will be active as RI1PXC and activate Kolguev Island (RRA RR-03-05, RDA NO-01) from March 14-20th. Activity will be on 80-10 meters CW/SSB. They will also participate in the Russian DX Contest (March 18-19th) using the callsign RI1PI.
QSL both callsigns via UA9XC, direct or by the bureau.

EU-123. Operators Doug/GM0ELP, Phil/GM0LIR, Brian/GM0EGI, Iain/GM0OQV, Will/GM0HKS, Tom/MM0BHX, Bob/2M0KDZ, Iain/2M0VLF, Gord/2M0GPZ and Duncan/EA5ON will be active from the Isle of Bute, Clyde Islands (IOSA CL-02, SCOTIA CS-19), as GM0B during the RSGB
IOTA Contest (July 29-30th). Activity will be on all HF non-WARC bands (excluding 160m), CW and SSB modes. QSL via GM0EGI.

EU-125. Operator Jef, ON4ACA, will be active as OZ0ACA from Roemoe Island (DIA NS-001 for the Danish Islands Award) from now until March 10th. Activity will be on CW/SSB and 80/40/20 meters. QSL via his home callsign.

NA-076. Wade/AA8LL and Liz/K8LIZ were expected to operate "holiday style" from Cedar Key, Florida, this past weekend as AA8LL/4 and K8LIZ/4. QSL direct or by the bureau to their home callsigns.

NA-144. Operators Terry/W6WTG, Larry/KF6JOQ and Mark/KG6ZBL will be activating Channel Island, June 10-11th. Look for them to be active on 14.260 MHz +/- and also on 144.210 MHz SSB. Their QSL Manager is N2OWL.

IWD ACTIVITY (Correction). Mari Carmen/EA8GL and Dunia/EA8BHD are now on the air with the special callsign, ED8IWD, for the International Womens Day, until March 8th. They will be transmitting from Isla de Gran Canaria (IOTA AF-004, DIE S-005). PLEASE NOTE: This operation DOES NOT count for the WLOTA lighthouse LH-0969 as announced earlier. A special QSL (designed by Easy QSLs and sponsored by Project 4 of Electronic Applications S.A.) will be sent out once activity is finished via the Bureau. QSL Manager is EA8BHD. More info is available on QRZ.com.

J3 & J7, GRENADA AND DOMINICA. Operators Lars/SM0CCM (J73CCM) and Seth/
SM7XBI (J79XBI) will be active from Dominica (J7) from March 29th through April 12th. The two operators will be active from Grenada (J3) during the Caribbian Hamboree, probably using the callsigns J3/homecalls from April 12-19th. On April 19th, they will head back to Dominica staying there until April 28th. Activity from both places will be on all bands SSB, CW, RTTY and PSK31. QSL via their home callsigns. Bureau prefered.

J6, ST. LUCIA. Oleh, UR5BCP, is planning to operate from here (NA-108) from March 30th through April 5th. His callsign was not provided. Activity will be on 160-6 meters CW/SSB. QSL via KD7WPJ.

J7, DOMINICA. Igor, VA3YDX/VB3M, will be active as J79DX now through March 14th. He was active in this past weekend's ARRL SSB DX Contest and is expected to be in the DIG (Diploma Interessen Group) QSO SSB Party this coming weekend. QSL via VA3YDX: Igor Slakva, 105 La Rose Avenue, #803, Etobicoke, ON M9P 1A9 Canada.

KP4, PUERTO RICA. Frank, K3TRM, will be on a family holiday in El Verde and will be active as KP4/K3TRM from April 8-17th. Activity will be on 80-6 meters CW, SSB, RTTY and PSK31, with some emphasis on the WARC bands. Because he is not staying at a "rent-a-QTH", these plans may change as he determines his antenna options. QSL via his home callsign, direct or by the bureau. Further information can be found at: http://www.k3trm.com/

MJ, JERSEY (Update). Just a reminder that four stateside operators will be here this week (See OPDX.747). Operators Pete/K8PT, Craig/K3PLV, Tom/W8JWN and Jim/N1NK will be active from Channel Islands and will be operating as MJ/homecall from the Island of Jersey (EU-013) from March 8th-15th. They will have two stations on 24 hours per day with a third station as needed. Operations will cover 160-6 meters (SSB, CW, RTTY & PSK) with an emphasis on the low bands. QSL via their home callsign. Tom/W8JWN announced this week he will operate the PSK and RTTY. Although PSK31 is slow, more guys use that than PSK63. He will do both. Since PSK and RTTY count the same for DXCC, why not try both modes. He might even try SSTV toward the end of the operation. Please refer to the following Web page for further information at: http://users.adelphia.net/~crahill/

P4, ARUBA. Tim, WD9DZV, will be active from here between March 6-16th. He has requested the callsign P40D. Activity will be on all bands, CW, SSB and the Digital modes. QSL via WD9DZV.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
The Liechtenstein 2006 DXpedition WEB Site is updated with a "LOG Search" and "Picture Gallery". Please visit at: http://www.t93y.com/hb0

Dennis, PA7FM, informs OPDX that the backlog for direct QSL requests for PZ5PA, PZ5WP, PZ5C and PZ5C/P (SA-092 - DXpedition in November/ December 2005) has been cleared during the last week. The final logs are online on at: http://www.pa7fm.nl -or through-http://www.lldxt.nl
New QSL requests will be answered to within a few day's after their reception. PLEASE NOTE: Dennis advises that many people still do not send enough return postage with their direct QSL requests. One USD does not cover postage outside Europe anymore, and those requests will be answered through the QSL Bureau.

SILENT KEY. It was announced this past week that Tim Chen, BV2A, founder of the Chinese Taipei Amateur Radio League (CTARL) became a "Silent Key" (SK) on February 22nd, at the age of 92. For years Tim was the only active ham in Taiwan and was many DXer's first contact from that entity. OPDX and its readers would like to send out our deepest sympathy to Tim's family and friends. E-mail condolence mesages can be sent to the following address and the CTARL will forward them to Tim's family: bv2a@ctarl.org.tw

SPECIAL EVENT. To commemorate the 80th anniversary of the founding of the Club Radio Amateur de Quebex (CRAQ) look for the special event station VE2CRAQ to be aired between March 18-26th, during the club's QSO Party. A very nice QSL card will be available. All details about the QSO Party and a picture of the QSL is available at the following Web sites:
QSL Card - http://www.radioamateur.ca/images/craq-qsoparty.jpg
QSO Party Info - http://www.radioamateur.ca/transfert/CRAQ-QSO-Party.pdf

SPECIAL EVENT. The International Shortwave League (ISWL) continues with their 60th (Diamond) Anniversary celebrations throughout the year. If you missed the "GB6SWL" activity this past weekend, look for it to be active again on March 17-19th and 25-26th.

GB6SWL - Will be active for 3 days, March 17-19th, from Portadown, Northern Ireland. John, GI0KUH, will be the main operator.
GB6SWL - Will be active March 25-26th from Walton on the Naze, Essex. Herbie, G6XOU, will be the main operator.
Special activities will run throughout the year. These will include the callsigns "GB60SWL" and "GB6SWL" being active at various times and venues. For more details, including the QSL information and Awards, please visit: http://www.iswl.org.uk

TF, ICELAND. To celebrate the 60th anniversary of the Icelandic Radio Amateurs (IRA), all TF operators are allowed to use the special prefix TF60 throughout the year of 2006. The IRA is the National Association of Radio Amateurs in Iceland and was established on the 14th of August 1946, and currently has about 130 members. Seli, TF3AO, Treasurer of the IRA, informed OPDX that TF60IRA has been on the air and was active in the ARRL CW Contest. Visit the IRA Web page at: http://www.ira.is

TY, BENIN (Update). OPDX was informed that the callsigns for the upcoming TY DXpedition to take place March 15-30th have been confirmed now. The confirmed callsigns are: TY4TW (QSL via GM4FDM), TY5LEO and TY5MR (both QSL via IK1PMR), and TY5WP (QSL via PA7FM). More details/updates and a log search will be availble at the following Web sites:

We are just so lucky that nobody watches the propaganda Hollywood dishes out. Theaters are empty. Movie rentals have ceased. Nobody watches, nobody listens. Everyone has shown them how wrong they are by refusing to support their slanted views.

Theater attendance down.

Ditto for rentals at walk in outlets.

One reason, competition from mail order rentals.
At ten dollars per month for up to 3 titles per day, and their online catalog has thousands to chose from.
My mailman says he delivers more every week, up to a hundred rentals per week now on his typical middle class residential route.

The ARRL has NOTHING to do with it. The FCC has suggestions on the speed - though I can't recall them off hand. Used to be 20WPM. I don't think there is anything stopping a CW ID now - from sending slower - since the code is only 5WPM max. It would take longer to go out - and drop the repeater - which to some "could" get nerve wracking.

I don't know about that. I use W5YI and the tapes I use do come out to 5
WPM. Don't shoot yourself in the foot with overconfidence. I've seen (heard) people say no problem - only to bomb a test. Needless to say - they get

"billy" makes another good fucked up "sentence." Been drinking when you are posting, "Billy?" And this time it wasn't the cum you usually gargle.

BILLY SMITH STEPS ON HIS OWN DICK THUSLY:

<VfQHf.14581$rH5.8121@newsread2.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"That's interesting there idiot. I bet you really did flunk high school math and probably elementary too. Oh thats right, wasn't that when was in Floriduh. Spelled Florida but the DUH is for your Dumb Ass."

"wasn't that when was in Floriduh" - Billy makes good fuck up!

Billy "shoots" himself in his palsied club foot once again in Message-ID: <Q0bJf.19641$vU2.7735@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"Roger, shots himself in the foot"

Billy the illiterate retard Smith screws up again, and his illiteracy is exposed. "It serves him right." in <hauKf.1410$S25.940@newsread1.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"Deserves him right."

Billy "retard" Smith confesses to his generally accepted retarded status in <LwpLf.2321$F56.2317@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"I'm a general retard. bwhahaha"

Billy "spelling champ of the general retards" Smith admits his bad hygiene but is still in denial about his English skills in <QxpLf.2322$F56.1169@newsread3.news.atl.earthlink.net>
"Sure I can spell and smell."

"Billy" the NOtwordSmith fucks up again with this incompete sentence in <qgyNf.5576$S25.341@newsread1.news.atl.earthlink.net>:
"So when you got divorced boy, did your finally figure out that your more"

NO the ARRL is not who should do something about this

You are the one that should learn proper procedures on repeaters

First off it is illegal to kerchunk a repeater, i.e. send an unmodulated carrier and not identifying in compliance with FCC rules

Legal way is "KI#XYZ testing"
Repeater comes up and you wait for the courtesy tone (beep or bebop)
Then ask "Can someone tell me the repeater call sign and location, please"
If someone comes back and they usually do Next ask if the repeater is open or closed for general Amateur use.
Some repeaters are for Emergency use only, others for DX announcements, etc

Now you know the callsign of the repeater, its location and whether it is an open or closed repeater and probably the sponsering group or club -- without proficiency in Morse code.

Gee that was simple

Lets not get a thread going on open vs closed repeaters -- the owners can do what ever they want (;-), (;-(

I think they should only issue vanity call signs to General class licensees and above.
There are too many new Techs using up all the good vanity call signs available, only to go off the air after a few months and effectively taking the call sign out of the available pool for the next 12 years.

I think it would also be an incentive to upgrade..... Just my opinion.http://groups.yahoo.com/group/Ham-Radio-Unplugged/

Day-care operator's husband is neo-Nazi leader

By Bob Mahlburg

State records call a recent inspection at a Sarasota child- care home "routine," but some activities at the house are anything but typical.

The child-care center, in a modest residential neighborhood, is also home to a self- professed white supremacist and neo-Nazi who has hosted a well-known Web site and Internet radio show.

Michael Herbert Blevins, who calls himself "Von Bluvens," has been a leader in the white supremacist movement, according to national watchdog groups.

In interviews posted on various Web sites, Blevins, whose wife, Bernadette, operates the day care, has advocated "shipping blacks back to Africa," deporting Mexicans and wholesale "extermination" of non-whites. He also has called for "putting Jews to sleep" and produced artwork of an apparent gas chamber with the title "Holocaust: This Time It's for Real."

A neighbor says she has seen a Nazi flag in a back bedroom of the home, down the hall from where young children spend the day.

Sarasota County officials, who regulate child-care homes under a state contract, say they have no reason to close the day care. They stress they have found nothing that violates health and safety regulations, and they must also consider Blevins' constitutional right to free speech.

Bernadette Blevins, formerly Bernadette Heikkila, has run the day care for a decade with no serious violations, according to county regulators. She has been married to Michael Blevins for less than a year.

And because the home is following the rules, the county has no reason to inform parents about his racist views, said Homer Rice, the county Health Department manager who oversees child-care regulation under the state Department of Children & Families contract.

"I can only go by rules and procedure," Rice said. "I cannot put my personal feelings into something. As far as we know, the children are safe. The rules right now are not being violated. There's no reason I can give for denying this family child-care home."

Rice said he was surprised when he recently learned of Michael Blevins' white-supremacist ties. He said the situation troubles him personally, but legally there's nothing he can do.

"It's the parents' responsibility to look into the personalities of the day care and our responsibility to look into the legality of the day care," Rice said. "It's not our responsibility to do the due diligence. The parents should take the time to know them."

When approached at home, Blevins refused to discuss his background and beliefs.

"I have nothing to say, and I'd like you to leave this property," he told a reporter.

The next day, a man identifying himself as Bill White contacted the Herald-Tribune by phone and e-mail and issued veiled threats warning a reporter not to return to Blevins' house. White is a national figure in the white-supremacist movement.

Asked about the business and her husband's activities, Bernadette Blevins responded: "Let them say what they want. I have nothing to say." She then abruptly hung up.

The Blevins' day care will remain open and can continue to receive state and federal funding though a subsidy program for poor families. The day care is one of about 200 in the county that gets government money through the state's School Readiness program.

Authorities say they inspect only areas of the home used for child care. And they haven't interviewed parents or neighbors about the home.

State records show Michael Blevins is also listed as qualified to care for the children in his wife's absence because he completed a three-hour training course at the Charlotte County YMCA in June.

Critics, including the watchdog group Citizens Against Hate, call it outrageous that a neo-Nazi is allowed near small children in a day care. Citizens Against Hate is a loose-knit group that monitors hate speech nationwide and pushes officials to take action on its Web site and through e-mails sent to communities where white supremacists are operating.

The group contacted Sarasota authorities and media about Blevins last month.

The group warned on its Web site that unsuspecting parents who use the Blevins' day care could find their children spouting racist language.

Michael Blevins shot back on his Web site, calling it a "cowardly" attack on his family.

"Why didn't these haters attack me?" Blevins wrote. "My wife's only crime is she married me. My wife is not involved with my religious/political activism."

Carl Weinrich, head of the Sarasota County YMCA, which once oversaw the subsidized day-care programs countywide, feels Health Department officials could take a tougher stand.

"There is kind of a fine line between when the health department can step in to remove someone's license if there isn't physical danger to the children," he said. "Once someone is granted a license, there is a legal threshold that has to be met before it can be taken away."

But Weinrich said if regulators believe there is any kind of danger to children, they should be willing to pull a day-care license -- even if they fear a lawsuit.

"If it was under my jurisdiction, they'd be history," Weinrich said of the Blevins' day care. "I'd worry about the legal suit later."

Weinrich said when the YMCA oversaw the government subsidy programs for day-care centers, several businesses were investigated and shut down. In some cases, YMCA regulators interviewed people who lived near the day care and parents of the children. Such interviews are proper when regulators suspect danger to the children, he said.

Conflicting goals of child safety, free speech and parental rights make the issue complex, experts said.

"It is a hard one," said University of Florida law professor Sharon Rush, co-founder of the Center on Race and Race Relations. "But not telling the parents is still troublesome."

Bernadette Blevins has run a child-care business in her home for a decade and has maintained a generally clean record, according to state inspection records. The couple, who married in June, also passed national criminal background checks to gain approval as day-care providers, officials say.

Bernadette Blevins is a statewide figure in home-based day-care circles. She also has been a leader in a Sarasota child-care association and took an active role in the recent drafting of new Sarasota County day-care regulations by attending public meetings and offering proposals, county officials said.

That's where Rice met her. She appeared to be conscientious and well-informed, he said. Her day-care inspection file includes numerous training certificates and a glowing recommendation letter from officials.

The revelation that her new husband and partner is a neo- Nazi has sent shock waves through the Florida home child-care community. After her husband's racist ties were revealed to local regulators by Citizens Against Hate, Bernadette Blevins was pressured into stepping down as treasurer of the Florida Family Home Child Care Association, a statewide home child-care group.

Bernadette Blevins, who goes by "Bernie," had been on the state board for nearly four years and no one ever heard her voice racist views, President Tammy Tener said.

Michael Blevins has been a leader in the neo-Nazi movement since at least May 2000, according to Joe Roy, a veteran investigator with the Southern Poverty Law Center Intelligence Project, which tracks hate groups and extremist activity. While in Roanoke, Va., Blevins served as a "unit commander" for the National Socialist Movement, which is part of a national white supremacy movement, Roy said.

"It's up to the parents if they want their kids around that," Roy said. "We have no way of knowing what he's saying and not saying around these kids. But we know what he says on his Web site."

Michael Blevins' Web site offers live audio and CD recordings of his Internet radio show, the "Von Bluvens Show," and an urgent plea for "cash, checks or anonymous money orders," adding he "desperately needs your support." It asks money to be sent to "Mike Blevins" via a post office box in Sarasota.

His radio show titles include "Top 10 Reasons to Hate Kikes," "Adolph (sic) Hitler Award," "Hitler/Holocaust Special," "N------ Be-Gone" and other titles that contain racist slurs.

The site says he "does not advocate any unlawful or criminal acts" and his statements are "protected by the basic human right of freedom of speech as guaranteed by the First Amendment of the Constitution."

The home is licensed to care for up to 10 children, from infants to age 5, but usually has had only four or five children during semi-annual inspections.

Each Sarasota County inspector must check more than 100 day-care homes. Inspections typically last less than an hour.

Nearly half of the 12 inspections at the Blevins' home in the past five years found problems, from incomplete medical or immunization records for children to an empty fire extinguisher and a first-aid kit that lacked anti-poison medicine. But Rice and others call such violations minor and said all were quickly fixed.

State records show state and county officials have investigated at least two complaints from parents that infants or small children at the day care have been left alone for up to 30 minutes in a car. Neither could be proven, officials said.

After meeting with attorneys, officials did a special inspection Wednesday that included a rare visit from a supervisor. They reported the day care remains in compliance on every item checked, including gun safety, a background screening of family members, staff training and naming a backup for child care -- Michael Blevins.

You snooze...you lose. That's like saying that only people with Class 'B'

No, it's not like saying that at all, otherwise we would then all be able to have 2x2, or 1x2, or 2x1 call signs like the Extra and Advanced class hams.

Plus, the vanity plates on cars are not tied up for 12 years if the person doesn't use their car, and the available call signs are in much more limited amounts than license plates.

So maybe they should let the techs only have 2x3's vanity calls then.

That is a false story put out by the original Daleks. When the TimeLORDs traveled into a time before they were born and disappeared, the Daleks claimed victory. In reality, the TimeLORDs later traveled into the Daleks' past and changed it so that the Daleks' existence branched off into a completely different world line (alternative universe) than ours. The TimeLORDs have returned to rule our world line, and the original Daleks (Kaleds) have vanished. The upcoming 2006 BBC episode called "Return of the Daleks" will bring them back again. At that point, we TimeLORDS will have to return to the past and make further adjustments to it in order to save the world.

Pray that I don't manipulate your past in such a way that you have to come out of your basement and earn a living.

I tell you all the timelords are gone, I've seen all the new episodes of doctor who. The Doctor tells a number of people that he is the last of his race that they were all destroyed in a war with the daleks. All the new episodes that are coming out this year on Sci-fi I saw them last year and have copies of every one of them.

I know manuals are the legal property of companies like Icom, Kenwood, Yaesu and etc. - so permission must be obtained or purchased to be able to legally make copies of their manuals.

Does Hamstershack have legal agreements with the different companies to make copies of their manuals?

I'm not part of the Ham Radio police I would just like to know if I'm purchasing a legal copy of a manual or a pirated copy. If it is pirated then I'll shop elsewhere.

Manuals are intellectual property and copyright protected for 55 years.
There are severe fines up to $100,000 for each violation. There is a 'soft' legal exception called 'the fair use principle' which allows copies for very limited purpose: e.g library copies for research, one extra copy of a personal copy for your house usage subject to the restriction that ONLY one copy is used at a time, etc.

Enforcement?? Well that's another question!

As you mentioned, a license to make a specific number of copies can be purchased.

Hello there. I am attempting to decode the morse code located at this website:

http://disneycruise.disney.go.com/dcl/en_US/cruises/mysteryAtSea?name...

You can hear it by clicking on the ticker tape that is present. I can get the first three letters, I believe, which are "MED" however I am unable to determine the rest. Can anyone help?

Many thanks.

I don't know what you were hearing, but when I hit the mouse button on the "tape" strip showing, it created Beeps. If I hit it slow, it was a steady "beep" which in morse code would sound more like a "DIT" or DOT. IF I hit it fast enough, then those "dits"came fast enough to "sound" like "DAH" or DASH. So - I'm saying - there is NO message there to be had... At least from what "I" experienced.

Nice advertisement for Disney trips - though.....

Ah, OK.......... I had to hit the mouse button a few times then hold my

> Day-care operator's husband is neo-Nazi leader
> By Bob Mahlburg
> State records call a recent inspection at a Sarasota child- care home > "routine," but some activities at the house are anything but typical.
> The child-care center, in a modest residential neighborhood, is also > home to a self- professed white supremacist and neo-Nazi who has hosted > a well-known Web site and Internet radio show.
> Michael Herbert Blevins, who calls himself "Von Bluvens," has been a > leader in the white supremacist movement, according to national > watchdog groups.
> In interviews posted on various Web sites, Blevins, whose wife, > Bernadette, operates the day care, has advocated "shipping blacks back > to Africa," deporting Mexicans and wholesale "extermination" of > non-whites. He also has called for "putting Jews to sleep" and produced > artwork of an apparent gas chamber with the title "Holocaust: This Time

> A neighbor says she has seen a Nazi flag in a back bedroom of the home, > down the hall from where young children spend the day.
>
> Sarasota County officials, who regulate child-care homes under a state > contract, say they have no reason to close the day care. They stress > they have found nothing that violates health and safety regulations, > and they must also consider Blevins' constitutional right to free > speech.
> Bernadette Blevins, formerly Bernadette Heikkila, has run the day care > for a decade with no serious violations, according to county > regulators. She has been married to Michael Blevins for less than a > year.
> And because the home is following the rules, the county has no reason > to inform parents about his racist views, said Homer Rice, the county > Health Department manager who oversees child-care regulation under the > state Department of Children & Families contract.
> "I can only go by rules and procedure," Rice said. "I cannot put my > personal feelings into something. As far as we know, the children are > safe. The rules right now are not being violated. There's no reason I > can give for denying this family child-care home."
>
> Rice said he was surprised when he recently learned of Michael Blevins' > white-supremacist ties. He said the situation troubles him personally, > but legally there's nothing he can do.
> "It's the parents' responsibility to look into the personalities of the > day care and our responsibility to look into the legality of the day > care," Rice said. "It's not our responsibility to do the due diligence.
> The parents should take the time to know them."
> When approached at home, Blevins refused to discuss his background and > beliefs.
>
> "I have nothing to say, and I'd like you to leave this property," he > told a reporter.
>
> The next day, a man identifying himself as Bill White contacted the > Herald-Tribune by phone and e-mail and issued veiled threats warning a > reporter not to return to Blevins' house. White is a national figure in > the white-supremacist movement.
> Asked about the business and her husband's activities, Bernadette > Blevins responded: "Let them say what they want. I have nothing to > say." She then abruptly hung up.

> The Blevins' day care will remain open and can continue to receive > state and federal funding though a subsidy program for poor families.
> The day care is one of about 200 in the county that gets government > money through the state's School Readiness program.
> Authorities say they inspect only areas of the home used for child > care. And they haven't interviewed parents or neighbors about the home.
>
> State records show Michael Blevins is also listed as qualified to care > for the children in his wife's absence because he completed a > three-hour training course at the Charlotte County YMCA in June.
>
> Critics, including the watchdog group Citizens Against Hate, call it > outrageous that a neo-Nazi is allowed near small children in a day

> The group contacted Sarasota authorities and media about Blevins last

He is jealous of the TimeLORDs who post there. Also, he is annoyed about the board at http://newsgay.blogspot.com/ because it reveals his use of Icelandic proxies.

Bwahahhahaha, it's getting to Wussman. Because even Wussman realizes what a total failure he is and how devoid of talent he really is. Not to mention his lust for dykes and the Lavender Lads. Poor Wussman, still working that Burger King job and part time garbage hauler.

Should I jump in and make a comment? Why not!

I think you are unrealistic in thinking that legislated changes are any help in "cleaning up" the ARS generally. In my view the exam system isnt an entry requirement for the "club" but to satisfy those in government circles that you are technically competent enough to run a station in a safe and non invasive manner.. And thats all!

By invoking the changes you are suggesting you are defining what you (and maybe others) think the ARS is all about. Not everyone will use the HOBBY in the way you think is correct. There are for example those that simply experiment with RF design and practice and dont talk so much to other human beings. For that they only need to be technically competent. They dont however need morse qualifications or to a degree re-examination. If you are smart enough to pass the test for competency reasons first time you should be ethical enough to keep that knowledge where you can relearn it as needed. Learning is a continual process and refreshing what has been learnt is a normal thing to do. By invoking more rules you have told everyone you dont trust them to remain competent. I am sure many can think of a colourful response to that!

You may reduce the numbers of "dreg" operators by your "rules". You'll also kill the hobby for other "good" people that you want. I of course hear that argument coming about "if you want to use the ARS you have to go out and learn morse and a whole lot of other (useless) stuff". Its the same (stupid) level as you need to know the physics of rubber construction so you can inflate your car tire to the correct pressure...

i wonder if it is more of a wishfull longing for a "lost Golden age" and things would be prefect if we could just get back to them

2743. Armature radio's threat from within

I'm currently listening to 7.070Mhz. The time is 19:20EDT

I find the operations by some licensed amateurs and perhaps a pirate station is just appalling. Operators and I use the word loosely, making threats at each other, whistling over each other and discussing tracking operators down to sort them out!
It sounded like the 27Mhz CB band back in the mid seventies.

I can remember when amateurs took pride in their operating practices and gentlemanly behaviour. If this what it is to become why would anyone be attracted to the hobby unless perhaps they are an ignorant thugs. It appears to me and I know I will be condemned for this, but we seem to have accepting lower standards in more ways than we expected.

I believe that simply ignoring these operating practices and these operators will allow segments of the bands to become no go ghettos. A completely unacceptable and un-Australian outcome.
I also believe that the looming threat to this great hobby come from within as mach as from outside forces, and there fore suggest that something akin to intruder watch be applied to monitoring amateur operations as I think the authorities response will be that we need to self regulate.

I am offering this observation for discussion and we be keen to see what others think!

Cheers

Such language, Toodles! Does it make you feel almost grown up to talk that way?

We got NIM Busters back up after we found the router that Markie had taken down with spoofed SNMP commands. Such an old time hack, but he's such an old timer that he is too old to know anything new.

The part about my mother must be projection on your part. That's what psychologists call it when you attribute your own internal state to other people. Is that why your mother keeps you locked in the basement? Do you keep on trying to crawl between her legs?

What a nasty, smarmy fellow you are. And stop streaming those kiddy porn movies from your home. You're going to get caught.

Well the other night I heard an F-call threatening another amateur on 80mt . . then he read out his name and address just like you used to hear on CB. And what he read out was obtainable on the ACMA website. Yes we have taken a big step backwards.

It was exactly this sort of goings-on that I heard as a SWL some 15 years ago that made me think "why on earth would I want to become an amateur with that sort of behaviour?".
And you know what? I never did get my licence until some 13 years after that. So such behaviour definitely has a detrimental effect to the amateur community at large.

Thankfully, its something I don't dwell on, and it appears to be so infrequent that I'm not overly concerned about it. But how many other prospective new hams have been similarly affected as SWLs?

2748. grounded co-planar waveguide design advice/thoughts please

Hi,

I'm designing an RF multilayer board that is to work over 10-200MHz.

For the transmission line I'm using grounded co-planar waveguide.

Material is 10 thou Rogers 4350B, with a 50ohm track width of 0.46mm and a track to top ground gap of 0.146mm.
This is working OK.

I now want to shield the board to prevent crosstalk, but I am restricted to very little height.

My plan is to get a flat plate of say 1mm material half mm deep etched with pockets that follow the RF lines and is grounded all elsewhere.

My worry is, will the fairly close proximity (but nearly 4 times the track to gnd distance) of the metal plate above the transmission lines cause problems, and/or will I have resonating cavities too?
I can make the cavities be 3 or 4 times wider that the gnd to gnd gap around the lines if need be.

What do you think?

Hi Peter

As much as I'd like to believe this problem is isolated to radio users I think it is actually a sociological state that the world has gotten into. People are generally less tolerant than they use to be, more ready to litigate, less happy, more selfish and finding that laws dont actually reflect their concerns. ie lots of stupid ones get passed.

I came up with this upsetting conclusion some years ago and was intent on isolating myself out in country NSW and choosing what amateurs I would communicate with. In my case those only interested in technical discussion and the joy of expermenting. Given at the time this restricted me to >50MHz there was a good chance that a lot of undesirables werent interested in optimizing their stations and thus wouldnt appear as often. (Why would you build an expensive 2m SSB station for example just to get angry at someone?)

I think the world will generally get worse, amateur radio included. Apologies for the prediction but I really do think it is that bad.

I have however moved to Texas in the US. The veil of "niceness" here seems to come from the good manners associated with local religous beliefs. There is also a great lack of person to person contact outside of shopping and church (if you exclude family) and the concern that walking on ones property will get you shot! Virtually nobody walks anywhere and cell phones are the escape for those that have to drive! I guess if you dont interface with people you arent likley to get into conflicts with each other!

Amateur radio here tends to be held in much higher esteem than on Oz. This is especially so after the recent hurricanes and general civil emergency use during tornado season. (now!) 2m FM gets a lot of civil and 3rd party traffic but I do hear occasional nasty people populating 20m. They seem to be within a few hundred km. Thats my fault I guess for putting up an antenna with a high angle radiation pattern!

Cheers Bob W5/VK2YQA East Texas

Well the answer is that the world is constantly changing but the animal instincts are still with us! <grin>

Its also very easy to choose who you will talk to. You dont have to argue with a irritating holder of a license, just ignore them.

You could hear the same thing 30 years ago - always a few bad apples on the bands.
By in large, Amateur Radio Operators are very well behaved and courteous.

Why don't you tell us what they do doing emergencies instead of singling out a few bad incidents ?

BTW an Armature can be found in motors and generators (;-)

There was a time I boasted amateur radio to anyone and everyone with a smile on my face. I had adults ask me about Ham radio - they wanted their kids to get into Radio - but NOT CB due to it's garbage dump activities. Anymore - I don't boast Amateur Radio - to anyone - especially to children. It is a shame what it has become. Whats even funnier is that those doing so in the US seem to be going on forever. The FCC seems to have placed all their efforts towards making sure Janet Jackson's tits are revealed on TV anymore - and forgot about Ham bands and everything else for that matter. This world is changing in more ways than one. Others I won't go into and not radio related. It sure is going to hell in a handbasket - QUICK.

Though the poster was referring to primarily to Ham Radio - I agree with you - it isn't limited to just radio. It is a problem within society. Road Rage - is another instance. People never used to be so bad in that respect either. I'm sure we can mention any number of areas that fall prey. My original post said - the world is going to hell in a handbasket - quick..... A good start to fixing, is each of us taking responsibility for our own actions. We all know what the rules and laws are - they were put there for us all to get along with. Any ingnorance of or towards any of those rules/laws - creates problems.

Have a Dentron GLA-1000, works great, but the fan speed varies fron a whisper to double the loudness. Any ideas? Please assist. Email direct dustradio@copper.net.

I have a commercial license with radar endorsment fron the USAF, although old I have always kept it current. Thus I was also wondering if any of the experts out there would be interested in building a tuned input board (10M) and adding glitch protection on this great old amp for me. Tubes are good and original.

I am a disabled Vet and its hard to do these things.

I'm not saying that even most hams are not doing thing well, I'm saying that there is sufficiently enough bad habits and lack of basic manners developing on the bands that it's becoming a threat to the hobby and it needs to be addressed.

I had held my licence for over twenty five years and I can't recall it having been this bad.

It's also very hard to "self-regulate" and sort out the problem operators when the regulator doesn't even give a damn anymore..

I know it isn't Amateur band, but a recent episode on the UHF CB emergency channel where an 'emergency monitor' responded to a brief button pusher with the comment "some dickheads have no fucking brains...." obtained a response from ACMA that such operation was not considered offensive or wrong...
Maybe not on many local repeaters, but how many people expect a torrent of abuse from an emergency monitor on the emergency channels??

I've said this before and I will keep saying it - no matter what band we are talking about the amount of abuse and morons will continue to increase while ever the rest of the operators feel it is someone else's problem to deal with it... No doubt there are some new F calls, just like there were some new H calls a few years ago, that don't operate within what many consider "acceptable practices", but there are also a lot of others that do the same and until the majority of the operators are willing to stand up and either educate the relevant operators, OR, petition the ACMA and/or WIA to take action and make necessary changes, the problem will continue.

I know from experience how quickly the ACMA can act on a complaint when they want to, and how they can quickly and easily solve the problem. The trouble is that nobody, or not enough, seem willing to get involved and help in the

"self-regulate" procedure, which basically means that if a gentle talking to doesn't help (or the problem is far too serious), that the relevant information and evidence be handed to the ACMA with an official complaint.

Perhaps the WIA does indeed need to look at a modified form of "intruder watch" that would encourage amateurs (not just WIA members) to "dob in" problem operators and then the WIA takes the matter to ACMA to help ensure something actually gets done. After all, they are "our bands" and while ever we are willing to tolerate such behaviour the ACMA is not likely to care less - if that results in a downturn in numbers or sever misuse of the bands, then that's a bonus to ACMA as they then get more spectrum to sell off!!!

Cheers

I have also heard this same type of behaviour on a Melbourne repeater just 3 days back and it involved 2 full call operators at first, then another operator joined them and tried to quell the situation but without any luck. I myself have just joined the amateur ranks and was very disapointed to hear this sort of thing happening, this is something I would have expected to hear on the CB bands, but not on amateur radio. I can only hope this was an isolated incident as I achieved my licence to get away from this type of activity.

Cheers and 73`s to all.

In February 2006 I posted as Whinyslit and made 371 posts on Usenet. I also posted 231 more posts over Lloyd's callsign and made yet more over the names of others such as Mark Morgan and basement dweller Todd. (Todd still has yet to figure out who I am)
I falsely and illegally advertised child porn for sale over Lloyd's name and address and accused various Usenet patrons of stalking me.
Now, when I was taken to task for my malicious acts and when you guys started keeping track of my posts, who is stalking who?
Knock on my door, you are stalking...according to me. When I post your personal information, your addresses, your wife and kids names and even your place of employment, that is not stalking. When I research even where your local bus stations are...that is not stalking. When you guys post my name and address...THAT is stalking! When you guys post photos of my house...THAT is stalking. (see the irony?)

Do not come to my door. I won't answer. I am afraid of what you may do to me. And when you leave? Rest assured that I will go immediately to my keyboard and post lie after lie about you. This is how I comport myself...a chickenshit with a mouth that far overloads my fifty year old, shriveled testicles.

If you disagree with me, drop me a land line. My callsign, AB8MQ is easy enough to look up and I will be more than happy to answer any and all queries.

I have to get ready for bed and draw my curtains so as to spend some quality time with my inflatable boyfriend. If you come calling it is a good bet I won't answer. Come back tomorrow. Or the day after. Or next week.

Fact. You don't need an amateur license to purchase and illegally use tranceivers.

Fact. Self regulation without enforceable consequences doesn't work, either in amateur radio or elsewhere.

Fact. Operating and technical standards have nosedived among many new amateurs compared to 30 years ago. People don't generally respect and covert what they haven't worked their tails off for.

Opinion. AR appears to be largely irrelevant to Australian society and its instrumentalities. Apart from some noticeable occasions when amateurs assisted in emergencies, it always has been just a hobby pursued by a group of wierd misfits. (myself included :) We were geeks before the word was invented. The difference is that today many in the ranks have no idea that AR was once the hobby of gentlemen, kings and politicians. It was a level playing field where one respected someone because they had been through the same hoops, irregardless of social standing, money or power. But that's all apparently ancient history.

Now AR is the playground for all. No more amateurs code, it's all F#$% you mate!
Society has unfortunately changed. It's become personal. Me first, second and third. Get outta my way and show me the bottom line.It's all about the money. The revolution appears to have erased the words "respect" and "tolerance".

Question. There used to be an advisory committee composed of amateurs who sat down with the ACA and decided what action if any to take against amateurs who stepped over the line. I wonder if such mechanisms still exist ? If they don't then perhaps they should.

Conclusion. Two years ago I had a very public battle with several amateurs and would be amateurs who accused me of doing a "chicken little" i.e. yelling "the sky is falling the sky is falling!".

It may not have fallen. But I would suggest that it may be very close to the ground.

Cheers
Jim

I am just curious as to what armature radio is all about? Is it radios set up on some sort of an armature to allow you to move it about or something?

On 11/03/06 at 22:43:36 Jim somehow managed to type:
<snip>

> Fact. <snip>

Here's another fact for you. In days gone by the older, in terms of time spent in the hobby, amateurs would help those who were new to the hobby. They'd help with operating procedures as well as the more technical aspects of the hobby. Today the older amateurs are MUCH more likely to provide NO help whatsoever.

I well remember when I made my first CQ call on HF as a Z call. Did I get any meaningful response ? Not bloody likely. All I got was "why don't you just fuck off back to CB where you belong" followed by a lengthy and foul tirade against limited licence holders being given HF privileges. Was it a new operator. Nope. It was a long time full call and one who up until then I'd considered a knowledgeable gentlemen.

My view is that quite a few people who've been in the hobby for a long while resent newcomers and will do anything to get rid of 'em because they didn't have to do a written exam or a CW exam. Those people would do well to remember that they did exactly what todays newcomers do. They studied for, and passed, the required exams.

This almost constant badmouthing of foundation licencees WITHOUT trying to educate them is idiotic and demonstrates the true character of the people doing the badmouthing. Perhaps if these same people were to put the same amount of effort into helping educate the newcomers we'd all be a lot better off.

Nicely put.

In my experience, the very infrequent cases of abuse and shit fights on amateur bands are more often caused by those who have been licensed for many many years. They may involve a newcomer, who will undoubtable get the blame regardless. This was happening when I first took an interest in amateur radio 25 years ago, and its still the same now.

I can't speak for the Aussie's, but from what "I" seem to hear on the bands in the U.S. - it isn't so much the newcomers doing the poor operating, it is those who've been in it a while - Extra class at that.

Unforunately true, but that's the way it is. Perhaps the bright side is that we should be grateful that the most heavily populated parts of Australia aren't generally subject to the severe weather etc conditions that make amateur radio emergency response capability such an important community resource!

Yes it does, it's called the WIA/ACMA Liaison Committee - details on the WIA www-page. As punishment for past "crimes", yours truly is a member.

To respond to other related posts, the first step is a "quiet word" and if this doesn't work, then written record of date, time, callsigns, etc submitted via the Liaison Committee and/or direct to ACMA is step two. The ACMA do respond to documented persistent problems, but without making a "Ben Hur" scale production of it all.

Finally, an observation, seems to me that many established operators perhaps tend to ignore newcomers as a response to "f*&% off, old-fart" reactions.

Hi, I donated last yr many old QSTs & CQs to my local radio museum in Bowie MD. I am in need of values for tax purposes. Is there any good reference web site? I have looked at GOOGLE & e-bay for help, but real old magazines seem to be rare!

They were 1920s on up, including CQs in 1940s up.

This has been for me a constructive discussion and I hope for others. It appears that many have similar concerns and more importantly some ideas. I agree with the common thread that we must first engage with new operators, although I was not necessarily suggesting the problem lies only with them! And obviously we need to lead by example.
Having said that I believe that adequate policing procedures need to be put in place if they are not already in place and if they are in place it needs to be published.

I suggest that if anyone has a strong view on this issue that they contact the relevant WIA committee member on the below contact page and see if we are able to raise the issue to a sufficient level.

Does that mean that it should just be accepted ? It appears to me that the cornerstone of amateur radio is the concept of friendship, especially with newcomers. If that's ancient history then I'm outta here !

Perhaps the bright side

If the current problems within the amateur ranks are anything but minor, one wonders about amateurs capabilities to respond to:
A large aircraft dropping into the centre of a capital city
Tsunami hitting the Gold Coast or other large cities Terrorist activities etc etc etc

Thanks for that, it appears that some things are still working as they should be :)))))))))

Many would only be repeating what they've said many times on other frequencies unfortunately.

I had a whole host of amateurs assist me in so many ways after I got my license , but that was many years ago and many are now silent keys. I still have a great deal of respect for them.

When the new generation falls off its perch, I wonder if they'll be referred to as silent mics ?:))

The venerable Kenwood TH-F6A has 3 speaker mics as options (4, if you count the clip mic/w earplug). The least expensive mic (SMC-34) seems to have it all, remote & volume control. The SMC-33 has just the remote but no volume control. Remarkably, it costs twice the amount of the 34, that has the remote & volume control. Another Speaker mic, the SMC-32 has neither remote nor volume control and is almost as costly as the SMC-33.
I know I threw a bunch of letters & numbers at you, but in essence, what I'm alluding to is why does it appear that the remote mic with the least features, cost the most. Can this be another ill-advised Kenwood marketing ploy? Has anyone put a handle on this? I would like to buy a remote mic, but frankly I'm puzzled and the salesman hasn't the foggiest. Help someone ... anyone? Thanks kindly in advance.

7210 khz ssb, 12 Mar 2006, 0441-0445 UTC

Wants a clear channel in the 7 mhz range (40 meters), has to compete with international broadcasters. Has snow in his location. Was telling another person that pictures were available of his house and a dipole antenna. Callsign sounded like K3OQB and advised another person to look him up on QRZ, but that callsign is not listed. Very sure of the first four characters, last character could be one of many (b, d, e, g, p, t, v, z). None of those are listed. Gave location as Cheyenne, Wyoming, USA. Anyone happen to know the correct callsign?

Received in San Francisco, CA, USA with an Eton E5 and its whip antenna.

Woger Leo is very protective of his inflatable boyfriend. He guards this love of his life with much jealousy. Do NOT make fun of Woger's blow-up buddy lest you suffer the wrath of a Gay Boy scorned.

After all, have you ever considered how much effort Woger went through to find the "perfect" inflatable mate? All the mail order catalogs he must have browsed? All the web sites he visited? No wonder he has so many dialup accounts.

Woger Leo often seats his blow-up buddy at the kitchen table with him as they discuss the events of the day. Woger, being a nutcase, can even "hear" his blow-up buddy talking to him. Of course Woger hears voices from mysterious sources every day so there is nothing new there.

Now you know why Woger keeps his blinds drawn 24/7. It wouldn't bode well with his neighbors if they were to see Woger carrying on a conversation with his imaginary vinyl friend. They might even come to the mistaken impression that Woger is more than a little bit unbalanced.

Dayton Hamvention® Announces 2006 Award Winners

DAYTON, OH, Mar 10, 2006--Dayton Hamvention has announced the winners of its 2006 Amateur of the Year, Special Achievement and Technical Excellence awards. Being honored for their contributions to the Amateur Radio Service are Gordon West, WB6NOA--Amateur of the Year; Riley Hollingsworth, K4ZDH--Special Achievement Award, and Dick Illman, AH6EZ--Technical Excellence Award.

Hamvention Amateur of the Year: Gordon "Gordo" West, WB6NOA

Gordon West, WB6NOA

West, of Costa Mesa, California, was named Amateur of the Year for his efforts in recruiting and training many new amateurs, in addition to his nearly lifelong involvement in ham radio. Starting in the late 1950s "Gordo," as he is known, worked for some of the big names in the field helping to develop several innovative pieces of equipment.

In the 1980s West and his wife Suzy, N6GLF, began teaching ham radio classes at college and marine venues and authored Amateur Radio training books sold by RadioShack and equipment dealers around the country.

A Radio Club of America fellow and a recipient of the ARRL Instructor of the Year Award, West remains active from 75 meters through 10 GHz, spending at least a couple hours on the air every day, helping new hams make friends on the many nets he runs.

In addition, West volunteers with the American Red Cross communications team in Orange County, California, and regularly offers free kids classes and classes for cities to support their Community Emergency Response Teams (CERT).

"It's my give-back to a hobby that gives me the satisfaction of offering free classes for kids and emergency responders, and I thank all the ham operators who support our training program, and the ARRL for their continued support with the emergency communication Web-based classes," West said.

Special Achievement Award: Riley Hollingsworth

Riley Hollingsworth

Hollingsworth, who's Special Counsel in the FCC Enforcement Bureau at the FCC's Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, office, will receive Hamvention's Special Achievement Award for his efforts in resurrecting the FCC's

Amateur Radio enforcement effort and helping to eliminate an increasing number of enforcement problems plaguing the ham bands. Hollingsworth's efforts, begun in 1998, reversed more than a decade of FCC apathy in amateur enforcement. Radio amateurs across the US credit Hollingsworth with reducing malicious interference and other problem behavior on the air.

Hollingsworth's other FCC responsibilities include interference resolution in the Land Mobile and Public Safety Services. In past years, he served as co-chair of the FCC's PCS Broadband and Narrowband Licensing Task Force, for which he received a Reinventing Government Award in 1994. He also managed the FCC's 800 MHz Task Force in which new 800 MHz spectrum was assigned in 13 cities, and he organized a Commission enforcement initiative to recover underutilized land mobile radio channels in major cities for reassignment.

A graduate of the University of South Carolina, he received his law degree from Wake Forest University. Hollingsworth was first licensed in 1960 in his home state of South Carolina and is a member of the Quarter Century Wireless Association and F.I.S.T.S. CW club.

Technical Excellence Award: Richard "Dick" Illman, AH6EZ

Dick Illman, AH6EZ

Illman, who lives in St Charles, Illinois, was picked to receive the 2006 Technical Excellence Award for his work as principal staff engineer at Motorola in developing a broadband over power line (BPL) system for his company that essentially eliminates HF interference. The nominating committee cited Illman's technical knowledge and his willingness to help tackle and overcome BPL's thorny interference issues, influencing Motorola to deliver his patent-pending solution, Powerline LV.

Motorola approached the ARRL in 2004 seeking input on a BPL design that could avoid many or most of the interference problems that have plagued some other BPL systems. The company and the ARRL subsequently cooperated in deploying a test stand Powerline LV system between ARRL Headquarters and W1AW. Preliminary results from the ARRL tests have shown the Motorola Powerline LV system seems to be Amateur Radio-friendly.

Motorola introduced its Powerline LV wireless-to-low voltage BPL solution at the United Telecom Council's "Telecom 2005." The ARRL has cited the Motorola solution in filings to the FCC as an example of a BPL system designed to avoid interference to or from Amateur Radio.

Illman, who hold a bachelor's degree in electrical engineering, has enjoyed a 31-year career with Motorola Systems Engineering. His idea to include a set of hardware notch filters in Motorola's Powerline LV equipment to protect Amateur Radio beyond the traditional technique of turning off specific carriers is an industry first.

His passion for ham radio began in high school as a Novice licensee in 1969 and has continued over 37 years on all bands and all modes. It has included everything from working satellites while aboard a moving passenger train to demonstrating ISS contacts to Boy Scouts. An avid DXer he works more than 200 countries each year, in part because of a friendly competition among his fellow Fox River Radio League members in Aurora, Illinois. Illman has been the club's president for the past two years and has been recognized with the club's Ham of the Year award three years in a row.

Difficult Choices

Hamvention Awards Chairman Pat Johnson, KC8ZZO, said the committee faced a tough task selecting the winners from among a number of worthy nominees. "We were impressed with the quality of the nominations," he said. "We believe the winners all represent excellence in service to the ham radio community."

Hamvention Chairman Jim Nies, WX8F, praised the winners. "On behalf of the Dayton Amateur Radio Association and Hamvention 2006, it is my distinct pleasure to congratulate this year's award winners," he said. "Please join me in recognizing each of these gentlemen for their outstanding contributions to Amateur Radio and their many years of devotion to the Amateur Radio Service."

Held this year from May 19 until May 21, Dayton Hamvention, the world's largest Amateur Radio gathering, annually attracts more than 25,000 people to the greater Dayton area. The event includes exhibits, a flea market, forums and educational sessions. More information is on the Hamvention Web site.

* PLEASE NOTE: The report "could" contain "Pirate/SLIM" operations or more likely a "BUSTED CALLSIGN". As always, you never know - "Work First Worry Later" (WFWL).

3B8, MAURITIUS (Maybe 3B9 too!). Operator Jose, ON4LAC, will be active as 3B8/ON4LAC between March 17th and May 13th. Activity will be on 80-10 meters SSB, RTTY and PSPK31. He is also trying to get authorization to go and operate from Rodrigues Island as 3B9/ON4LAC. If he gets the permission, he will be active between April 25th and May 13th. QSL via his home callsign.

4Z, ISRAEL (Holyland Areas). Alex, 4Z5KJ, will activate some Holyland Areas (for the Holyland Award) on his business trip to the south of Israel on March 13th. He will sign 4Z5KJ/m and will leave his home (G-11-HS) at 0400z. While traveling mobile, Alex will activate the following areas:
HS: G-11, G-12, H-12 RH: F-17
PT: G-12, H-12, G-13, G-14 RM: G-17, F-17
RM: G-15, G-16, F-17 AS: F-18, E-18, F-19, G-19, E-20, F-20, E-21
JS: G-16, G-17 BS: E-21

From 1100-1200z, he will reactivate Holyland Areas:
BS: J-26, J-25, K-25, K-23, J-22, H-22, H-23, G-23, G-22.
HB: G-22.

All activity will be on the usual frequency 14265 kHz. Alex is planning another trip next week. More details about the "Holyland Award" is available on the 'Israel Amateur Radio Club" (IARC) Web page at: http://www.iarc.org

5T, MAURITANIA. Fernando, EA1BT, will be active as 5T6BT, April 7-16th. Activity will be on all bands. QSL via EA4URE.

5Z, KENYA. Look for Riccardo to sign 5Z/IZ1GDB from April 20th to May 1st. Activity will be on 40/20/15 meters SSB. QSL via his home callsign, by the bureau or direct using the QRZ.com address.

9A, CROATIA (Special Event). Members of the Radio Club "JAN HUS" Daruvar (9A1CCY or 9A5Y in contests) will be operating with the special callsign 9A35Y (NINE-ALFA-THREE-FIVE-YANKEE) to celebrate their 35th anniversary of their formation. Their first activity was during this past weekend's CQ RTTY WPX Contest. Look for this callsign to be used throughout the year of 2006. Activity will be on 160-10 meters, as well as 6 and 2 meters, CW, SSB and RTTY. QSL Manager is 9A5CY: Dean Milde, P.Preradovica 15, HR-43500 DARUVAR, CROATIA.

9K, KUWAIT. Operators Hamad/9K2HN, Faisal/9K2RR, Faisal/9K2ID, Yaser/9K2YM, Ahmed/9K2OO, Ahmad/9K2DB and Mohamed/9K2CQ will be active as 9K2HN during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as a Multi/Single entry. QSL via 9K2HN (QRZ.com).

AP, PAKISTAN. Operators Ijaz/AP2IA and Dane/S57CQ will be active as AP2IA during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as Multi/Single entry. QSL via AP2IA, direct or by the Bureau.

BP0, TAIWAN. Operators Wendy/BV2RS(YL), Katie/BU2AO(YL), Bruce/BV2KI, Eddie/BV2DD, Hao/BX4AQ, Pro/BX4AN, Lee/BV2NT, Evan/BV2KS, BX9AAA, BM2AAL and BM2AAV will be active as BP0P during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as a Multi/Multi entry. QSL via BV2KI.

C6, BAHAMAS. Eric, K9GY, will be active as C6AYM from Nassau, New Providence Island during the CQ WW WPX CW Contest (May 27-28th) as a Single-Op/All-Band/Low-Power entry. QSL via K9GY, direct or by the Bureau. Eric informs OPDX that he will be there from Thursday, May 25th to Monday, May 29th.

Most of his operating will be in the contest on 40/20/15/10 meters (maybe 80m - if he gets an antenna strung up). Mode outside of the contest will be CW. ADDED NOTE: Eric states, "Slight chance I might operate from Eleuthera Island instead."

C9, MOZAMBIQUE (Still looking for Ops!). Frosty, K5LBU, announced again this past week that he is still looking for operators to go to Maputo, Mozambique, for 15 days and to be active in the IOTA Contest. Currently, the operators are Frosty and Tom, WW5L. They would like to have 6 operators so they can set up 2 complete stations. They need CW operators. For details, contact Frosty via E-mail at: frosty1@pdq.net

CENTRAL/NORTH AMERICAN OP. Marcos, EA1APV, is planning to spend 26 days in Central and North America, and he hopes to be active from 6 different locations. His planned schedule is as follows:
March 22-26th: He will be active from Guatemala City, Guatemala (TG), to take part in the CQ WPX Contest with a special callsign with other TG Hams in a Multi category entry. Callsign will be TG7M.

March 27-28th: Active as TG7M/P, from Tikal Ruins, North Guatemala. Mayan Tikal Ruins are the most important ancients of Guatemala.
March 29th to April 2nd: Active as V31SF from Orangewalk, North Belize (V31). A special effort will be on WARC bands.

April 4-5th: Active as HR5/EA1APV from Copan Ruins in Honduras (HR). The Copan Ruins are the most important ancients from Mayan Culture.

April 7-14th: Active as HR6/EA1APV from Roatan Island (in the Bahia Island Group - IOTA NA-057).

April 15-20th: Active as W4/EA1APV from Florida. Activity will be from different lighhouses in the Cayos Area.

On April 21st, Marcos will take a one day tourist trip on a ship to Barbados. On April 22nd, he will return to Spain. QSL via EA1APV. He prefers direct QSL (w/SAE and 2 USDs/1 IRC), but will accept bureau QSL (these will be delayed for several months to ship). Send one QSL per envelope (PLEASE DO NOT SEND OLD IRCs). All the QSOs will be uploaded on the LoTW. His direct home address is: Marcos Su&#65533;rez, Capitan Almeida 25 4&#65533;B, E33009 Oviedo, Spain. QSLs received direct without SAE and with 1 USD/IRC will be sent out via the Bureau.

DAYATON 2006 HAMVENTION NEWS. A press release by Jay, K4ZLE, from the SouthWest Ohio DX Association (SWODXA) states: "The program for the 21st annual DX Dinner has been finalized. The speaker this year will be Harvey Laidman, W8DX. Harvey has had a 30 year career directing network TV shows including "The Waltons", "JAG", "7th Heaven", "Magnum PI", and many, many more. Harvey suggested the following as titles for his presentation: "DXpedition to Oblivion", "The Psychosexual Evolution of Ham Radio", "I Hate Ham Radio", "DXing and its Power Over the Opposite Sex", "Fifty Years in Front of the Same Table", "I Didn't Fall off the Roof. This is How I am.", "Put That Stuff Down and Go Get a Job", "You'd Rather Talk to Stranger Than to Me!". He added that regardless of what title we pick, the program will be the same! We think the program will be very entertaining. Tickets are moving quickly and we expect to sell out. If you plan to attend, please act now. The dinner will be Friday evening, May 19th, at the Crowne Plaza Hotel, located in Dayton city center. Tickets are 34.00 USDs per meal, payable in U.S. funds to SWODXA. (Sorry, We do NOT process PayPal or Credit Card payments.) You may order from Jay Slough, K4ZLE, at his CBA. Requests received without SASE will be available at the door. If you do not send an SASE, include your E-mail address and we will confirm receipt of your check. We attempt to honor group seating requests when tickets are ordered together. DX stations wanting to attend should contact Jay directly for payment options." Further information may be obtained from Jay at: k4zle <at> yahoo <dot> net K4ZLE's CBA is 8183 Woodward Dr., West Chester, OH 45069. Also, visit the SWODXA's Web page to see the prizes they are giving away at: http://www.swodxa.com/dxdinner.htm

DXCC NEWS.....
Bill Moore, NC1L, ARRL DXCC Branch Manager, informs OPDX that the following operation is approved for DXCC credit:
YI/OM2DX - Iraq; Operation commenting June 9th, 2003

This week's ARRL Letter reports/reminds DXers that the DXCC Honor Roll deadline is approaching: "The deadline for the next ARRL DXCC Honor Roll list is rapidly approaching. In order to appear in next list, which will be published in August 2006 QST, operators must be current on the DXCC Honor Roll as of March 31, 2006 -- the last day applications may be postmarked. To qualify for the DXCC Honor Roll, operators must be within the numerical top 10 of the overall entities on the DXCC List. Since there are 335 current entities on the DXCC List, the minimum level to make the Honor Roll is 326 current entities. Deleted entities do not count toward DXCC Honor Roll. Wall plaques remain available for those currently or previously on the Honor Roll. The DXCC Web site has the order form and more information <http://www.arrl.org/awards/dxcc/>.

EY0, TAJIKISTAN. Operators Ark/UA4CC, Roman/UR0MC, Nodir/EY8MM, Alex/EY8CQ, Artem/EY8BA and possibly several other operators will participate in the Russian DX Contest (RDXC) during March 18-19th in the MOST category (Multi Op, All Bands, Single transmitter, MIXED) using the callsign EY0R from Dushanbe, Tajikistan. They will be active on all bands CW and SSB. QSL via UA4CC (direct or by the bureau). E-mail QSL-requests are also welcome. During the period of March 14-21st, EY8/UA4CC and EY8/UR0MC will be active on all bands, especially on the WARC and lower bands CW/SSB/RTTY. QSL via their home callsigns.

GERMAN HAMRADIO (2006 Friedrichshafen). Frank, DL4KQ, GDXF Administrator, informs OPDX that to celebrate its 10th year anniversary, the German DX Foundation (GDXF) is proud to present the following DXpedition highlights of 2005 during the German HAMRADIO, Friedrichshafen, June 23-25th. On Saturday, June 24th, 4 P.M., the GDXF will present exclusively:
1. 3Y0X - Peter I Island Presentation
2. K7C - Kure Island Presentation
3. Announcement/Presentation of the GDXF DXpedition AWARD

HB0, LIECHTENSTEIN. Operators Gerry/IZ1DSH and Giovanni/IK1WEG will be active as HB0/homecall from April 22-25th. Activity will be from the locality of Gaflei (1000m ASL) on 80/40/20/17/15 meters CW/SSB/RTTY. QSL via their home callsigns, direct or by the Bureau.

HH, HAITI. Operator Chris, W3CMP, will be heading here on a mission trip with the Northwest Haitian Christian Mission <http://www.nwhcm.org/> from June 17-28th. He will be active as HH4/W3CMP from St. Louis du Nord (Grid FK39) on the northern coast. Activity will be mainly on 6 meters, but he will also be on the HF bands (limited) and 2 meters. There is an existing tower with a tribander at the site, but he hopes to mount more antennas above the existing ones. He will emphasize multiple hop sporadic E openings on 6 meters and whatever meteor scatter or sporadic E he can also find on 2 meters. Chris notes Haiti has been absent from 6 meters the past few years, and he hopes to give it out as a new 6m country to many stations. Chris is currently debating whether to take his 800w or 200w 6m amplifier along and use it with a five or six element yagi. Chris is also thinking about making a possibe side trip to Navassa Island (KP1) for an operation since he hears that Haitian fishermen occupy the island on a regular basis. However, the tricky part is getting the official U.S. permission to land and operate from it, which is required for it to count for DXCC.

IOTA NEWS.....
EU-127. A group of 30 operators will be active as DA0HEL (DOK E-20) from Helgoland Island (N-14 for the German Islands Award) between March 16-21st. WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as a Single-Op/All-Band entry. QSL via W0MM.

MJ0, JERSEY (Castle Activity). Chris, M0DOL, plans to make a trip to the Island of Jersey (EU-013) and be active as MJ0DOL/p. He also plans to activate some castles while there between April 26th and May 4th. A list of castles will be forthcoming.

P40, ARUBA. John, W6LD, will be active as P40L between March 22-29th.
His activity will include the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as a Single-Op/All-Band entry. Outside of the contest John will be active on 160-10 meters CW/SSB. QSL via K5WW.

QSL INFO AND NEWS.....
Jun, JA2EWE, was active this past week as 3D2JM from the Fiji Islands.
QSL via his home address at: http://www.hamcall.net/call?callsign=ja2ewe

QSL Manager Peter, DL3APO, informs OPDX that the log search page for the recent German FO operation has a new design (thanks to DF3CB for his Log Search Script). It has also been updated after the return of Wulf (FO/DL1AWI), Mat (FO/DL5XU) and Erik (FO/DL9AWI). QSL via DL3APO.

QSL WP3F via OK1DOT at: Petr Gustab, Box 52, Cesky Brod, 282 01 CZECH REPUBLIC. E-mail: petr.gustab@seznam.cz

S65, SINGAPORE. Selva, 9V1UV, will be active during the BARTG RTTY Contest
(March 18-19th) using the Singapore Amateur Radio Transmitting Society's (SARTS) special contest callsign S65X. Operations will be from Selva's home
QTH. QSL via PA0KHS.

TC3, TURKEY. Members of the Balkan Contest Club will operate from Karacabey, Asiatic part of Turkey, as TC3A during the CQ WW WPX SSB Contest (March 25-26th) as a Multi-One entry. QSL via LZ1KZA.

V2, ANTIGUA. Nobby, G0VJG, will be active as V25V from June 23rd through July 6th. Bands/Modes of activity were not provided. QSL via G4DFI, direct or by the bureau.

VK9L, LORD HOWE ISLAND. Merv, N6NO, will celebrate 55 years of hamming and his 70th birthday from May 5-13th as VK9LNO. Activity will be mostly CW with 100 watts and wire antennas on 80-10 meters. QSL to N6NO.

VU4, ANDAMAN ISLANDS. Frank, DL4KQ/VU3FRK, (NIAR Coordinator Europa), has informed OPDX that (ed. edited) "The already announced 3 day VU4- activities during the NIAR HAMFEST at Pt. Blair (VU4) has been extended according to information received from Bharathi, VU2RBI. All licensed participants of the hamfest (April 18-20th) are now permitted to operate from Andaman Islands for a period of 8 days. It is still possible to join the hamfest and apply for VU4 licenses (info: www.niar.org). The permitted operations will cover all Indian HF hambands including 30m and 2m EME operations planned by DL9GFB and DL9MS." ADDED NOTE: Frank, DL4KQ/VU3FRK, and a team of operators will be active from the Andaman Islands during the above event. Possible callsign will be VU4/VU3FRK or individual callsigns issued. Operators announced so far are Frank/DL4KQ (CW), Sarath/VU3RSB (Digital), Bernd/DL5OAB (CW), Doug/ N6TQS (Digital) and possibly three other operators. Activity will be on 160-10 meters (including 30m) with an emphasis on CW. QSL route TBA. Visit the following Web for updates at: http://www.dx-pedition.de

VU4, ANDAMAN ISLANDS. Joe, DK5WL, will be active from the Andaman Islands betweem April 18-23rd. Callsign will be in the form VU4/VU3. His activity will be on 160-10 meters all modes, but he will focus on 20/30/40 meters CW and PSK31. Logs will be sent to the ARRL's LoTW. Dear Mr. Wiseman,

I find it hard to believe your assertion that this incident of jamming on 20 meters is an isolated occurrence. I have too many complaints on my desk about you for this to be a ï¿½one time affair.ï¿½ I have a strong feeling that this time is not the only time youï¿½ve let your emotions get the better of you and acted out in a juvenile manner. My personal opinion is that you have a lot of growing up to do. Generally when this kind of violation occurs I fine a licensee, however since youï¿½ve already stated that you are indigent and can not afford a fine, I will, pursuant to ï¿½97.519(d)(2), readminister your licensure exam. Rest assured if your misbehavior continues next time your license will be suspended.

And for some, the vanity call is the only thing that they can be proud of because it took more effort to get the vanity call than it took to get the license.

Woger being the mentally unstable twit that he is believes his own lies that any self respecting guy would want to have anything to do with him. Then again when you are a total loser with women like Woger you would prefer men. Why did both of his ex's hit the road. Of course, they wanted nothing to do with a repulsive slime like him. That explains why he moved back with Mommy at the age of 40.

Speaking of that, have you seen the new question pool for the Technician class license due out July 1 2006?
They may as well just let people buy their license like GMRS.

I have a chicken in my refrigerator that could pass the new test!

I can't wait to see the next rendition of the Tech test. If you can correctly spell your name you pass, and you get as many chances needed.

Oh you can't read? well that's a disability and we must then make accommodations for you like to "tone deaf" people that can't pass the CW test, and waive the requirement. Make your mark (X) here.....

Does that mean I am indeed stalking Lloyd Davies like a psychotic, obsessive asshole?
And here I am, wasting my Tuesday morning on the internet whining like a woman scorned. I need a friend.

Any you should learn to spell like I do. I spell good.

"exaggerarte" Good one.

"ionly" Ions? Lonely? Who knows?

"expossed" Still no spell check.

"workibg" As in working?

"assulted" Darned typos!

"Georgaphy." Georgia on his mind?

"remibndded" It is hard to talk with your mouth full.

"corrpuption" Is that a dog?

"molsetred" Only 2Test knows.

"Whinyng". What?

"Plagairizing". Geesh

"emnpty" The inside of Roger's head.

"rloer" Not sure what Roger means here.

"lilusp" Woger meant to thay lithp.

"poat" Post?

"publich" Public?

"ashamerd"

"agasin". Play it agasin, Sam.

"woamn"

"doens't" Dagnabbit, Timmy.

"hyurt"

"chcienshit" You figure this one out.

"imginary" Hey, Rog. Another typo?

"asck" Sack or ask?

"Ultimte" Hooked on Phonics?

"greade" First or Second?

"attentiopn" Hooked on phonics, are we?

"copuple" Damn. Lloyd moved my keys around again.

"licvense" What Riley makes you retest for.

"havfe" Half? Halve? Have? Who knows.

"Baout" Bout? About?

"unsubstantiateed" It gets better.

"pompousity" Oops! Darn that keyboard, anyway!

"suergery" That is Devry for ya.

"aditting" Darn those typos!

"abckpedals" His greasy hair got in his eyes again

"shreeched" Wasn't he the guy in a sit com? Screech?

"stuid" Pot calling the kettle black?

"heared" That's West Virginia for heard.

"assuslted" Rog just makes em' up as he goes along.

"experieince" Oh, DUH!

"abouve" Is this a French word?

"Cosast" Some place by a body of water?

"mebership", Just a typo, right?

"retqards" Regards or Retards? Who can tell?

"coordinbator" Huh?

"Realy" Really?

"Nitoiced" Keyboard error or stupidity?

Becasue

Licence

Convienince

Myabe

"occurance" Say what?

"srtuggling"

"definatrely"

"delapidated" What a dufus.

"picutre"

"permenatly" Ebonics again?

"Arest" You need a rest, Wogie.

"Sentenceing" No comment.

"Narcotices" What?

"Undre" Is this a city in Germany?

"Surgeoun" And this would be?

"Commuications" Who is laughing at who?

"Ovre" Ovre and out!

"Wondreful" It's a "wondreful" day in the neighborhood?

"Derivitave" Still no spell-checker, eh?

"You lose, shit for brians." Woger showing who real loser is.

"Deisowned" Deis what?

"Deeppest" Roger strikes again.

"Dodgeing". Is he talking about a car?

"Staedy" Steady?

"Linme" Transmission line?

"Getr" Nobody knows.

"Experieince" Wogie is good, ain't he?

"Appropiate" What kind of opiate?

"Laywer" Lay what?

"Visitpors" You never have any, ergo you don't know how to spell it.

"It's "complaintant," you sniveling weasel." (Roger Wiseman on spelling complainant.)

"Irreevant" Good going, Wogie.

"Forwared" Forward HO!

"Glady" Glad Bags?

"Neighborhod" It's a wonderful day in Wogie's neighborhood.

"Mena" Mean? What you mean, Wogie?

"Notr" Not?

"Sassifyed" ALA Rolling Stones.No Sassifaction..

"Fantasises" That is "fantasizes", Wussman.

"Illarate" West BY GOD Virginny!

"Reveresed" Must be one of those off-brand keyboards.

"Soem".as in Some? What a loser.

"VIRIN".What Wogie was before he met the Lavender Lads.

"Minisule".he mussa meant miniscule. Like his IQ.

"Anoinymous"...a cross between anonymous and annoying?

"Acident" Roger's mom got preggers by accident.

"Alreaedy" Alright, already!

"Amouints" Roger amounts to nothing.

"Aposterphe" This guy is a hoot, ain't he?

"Basios"...word Woger uses when he gets neeeerrrrvous.
"Behing"...a cross between being and behind?

"Coiward" As in peeking from behind his mommy's curtains.
"Feamle"...I think he meant female.
"Losser"...only loser Roger can do it better.
"Ignroant"...typical, considering the source.
"Sluprs"...only Rogie knows what this means.
"Travelled"...a Rogerism, replete with ignorance.
"Postss"...pssst...Roger..that should be Posts.
"Defgenerate"...well, it's Roger's word...
"Faity"...he meant to say Fairy, but you know Roger.

"Ghet" Get a load of Curtain Boy!
"Distribiution"...Roger likes using phonics.
"Biotch"...he meant Bitch, but his phonics took over again.
"Methjadone"...a West Virginia substitute for Heroin.
"Sumbliminal"...one of Roger's favorites.
"Recepticle"...either of Roger's moist cavaties.
"Cociane"...a West Virginia drug of choice?
"Tiome"...Roger meant to say Time...but his fingers were numb.
"Beraking"...no definition. Could mean 'beraking' the leaves,
"Amny"...he meant 'any',
"Nlay"...a town in Maylaysia? Vermont?
"Al;ong"...only Wussman knows what this means.

"Becasu"...well, becasu Roger is not the brightest bulb on the tree.
"Seperation". Why? Because Roger cannot "seperate" from his mommie!
"Sisnce" He meant Since, but his pudgy little fingers slipped off the keys.
"gnetically" What?
"provce" (prove?)
"Piuzza" (West Virginia Pizza)
"Schol" (school?)
"strill" (still?)
"shoitgun" 12 ga or 20 ga?
"Snoip" (How they spell "snip" in Glen Dale)
"Maturbater". Wiseman does it all the time, he just can't spell it.(leaves a sticky residue on his right hand)
"Coskscuking". It's a Roger thing, as in Lavender Lads.
"Waddleing". Only in Glen Dale, eh?

" Stgop" Roger's version of Stop.

"Fahter's" He meant Father's Day.

"fserting"..would that be festering?

"poists". Roger meant "posts".

"snadwich" As in peanut butter and jelly?

"regualr" Glen Dale rendition of "regular".

"aftrer" After? Aftrer what?

"soory". Sorry Roger fucks up again.

"didnb't" He didn't?

"whoile". He ate the whoile thing?

"Woamn" He's hooked on West Virginia phonics, all right.

"prrof" And he kin prove it, too.

"beforfe" Was that before he lurned to spell?

"yoiuy" Roger's version of "y'all".

"illerate" Only illiterate Roger can spell like this.

"haeart" Aw, how heartless of me to laugh!

"valule" Roger has no values. No wonder he can't spell it.

"proch" Doesn't everyone have one on their house?

"inmstitution" Where Roger's mom put him in June 1999.

"timne" It's Howdy Doody time?

"whgo" What? Who dat?

"gnetically" Only Roger knows what this one means.

"crfy" Like, cry, Roger, cry.

"stutrtering" Some stutter, Wiseman stutrters.

"Whjere" Where is Curtain Boy?

"Webiste" That's Website to the rest of us.

"Youire" Your? You're? Who knows.

"fiored" As in fired?

"Parety" Roger gave a party once. Nobody came.

"Bouynce" Bounce?

"Varification" Verifiable mental case.

"Probelms" Poor Rogie.has many problems of the mental sort.

"Partricipate" Oh, DUH!!!!

"Cryed" Gee, Wogie..cry me a river.you dolt!

"Stoick" What a dork. His old 386 has no spell check program.

"Partiall" More WV Phonics, I see.

"Obsucred" Either obscured or Rogie has "sucre" on his mind.

"Infinate" Stupid. Think finite, Rogie.

"Sustinance" As in Sustenance?

"Juvinile". This is the way Roger likes his boys.

"Piut" Put it where, Rogie?

"Toyus". "Toyus R Us?

"Diminuative". Roger's height.

"Definitely" Definitely

"Percriptions" Say what?

"Credibiliy" More Glen Dale intellect.

"Thsoe" Yet another Glen Dale gaffe.

See what my friends think of me?? They like me, huh?

Put a couple of quarters in Wussman's ears and his teeth fold back automatically. It works the same as a slot machine at a casino put a couple quarters in and Wussman's eyes roll around in his pointy little head just like those cherries and casino games. Those teeth still fold back Woger or did your mommy teach you how to pull them out so you can gum the dicks of those winos.

Peter slobbering Wussman obsesses with cocksucking as the drool runs off his chin. Must like Pavlov's dog who slobbered when hearing a bell, Wussman slobbers when he sees a peter.

I am confused over the "ideal" frequencies to use for a two tone test of a SSB transmitter. Art Collins' book states that using two tones with a 3 to 5 relationship will make it easier to identify intermod products and harmonics and in fact Collins used 3 and 5 KHz as the two tones. Modern SSB rigs only have about 2.7 to 3 KHZ audio passbands so 3 and 5 are not much help. I see articles using evrything from 400 & 1900 Hz to 1.1 & 2.2 KHz.. Is there a "best" pair for testing modern rigs, or is this all a lot of hype and any two tones inside the passband wil work?

Being Bisexaul I know stuff about m2m sex, but in the case in point I would also know from women into receieveing anal sex

I realy don't understand why you and Robeson (assuming you aren't Robeson for the monent, you act like him he acts like you) think sex is such a vital subject for the ARS

no I will not

at the risk of sounding childish and you can't make me becuase fucking is sex, you claim to be male, I am male theirfore it is a homosexaul come on. If one of us were female it would be a heterosexual one, but my remark never mentioned homo or hetero sex just that you are sexualy obessed with me. maybe it is just jealousy

Sure.

Just take a pencil, and where it says "50 Mhz" on the front panel, write in "27 Mhz". Everyone knows that all linear amplifiers work equally well on all bands and that suggesting otherwise is just a market ploy to get people to buy more boxes.

Don't forget to drive it with your "tweaked" Galaxy, Connex or other "import" radio with the mic gain at 100%, fed with a pre-amplified microphone. And remember to tune for >>>MAX<<< SWR, >>>NOT<<< minimum.

And remember to use the international test calling signal:

"AWWWWWWWWWWW-DE-OOOOOOOOOOOOOOOH..."

You'll probably need to add inductance, maybe reduce capacitance in any tuned circuits.

To lower frequency from 50MHz to 27MHz you need and / or bigger inductance and bigger capacitance.
2 x pi x f = 1 / sqrt(L.C)

nope i have em up

but you can't make stop being me

the only that would have a chance is to come ere and kill me

One I don't think you could find the place tow, you clearly lack the guts to try?

three you might even have the good sense not do, but I am unsure

I would try to get by with the existing variable caps at the early stage until you have got the thing sort of working. There may be a small tuned input circuit or there may be a passive resistor. To start, I would double the number of turns in the tank circuit of the final and in the input coil (if any) and tune the variable caps to see if there is any output. I used to use a light bulb to coax fitting to look at how close I was getting to resonance. Remember there is a lot of voltage on the final so discharge the power supply caps through a 100 ohm or so resistor each time you fiddle. This amp may be grid-driven so keep the tests very short to avoid burning up the grids. There are ways of getting the coil/capacitor values correct without using the final voltage if you let any of the smoke leak out of the resistors.

Hell, I'd just keep adding turns until the dingus quits shutting down.
Sniff for parasitics, adds caps as necessary.

IF CBers had a bit of discipline, courtesy, and knew more, as a whole, what they are doing, the noise could be decreased by quite a bit! ?But NO! ?EVERYbody has to have an amp to talk 2 miles down the road, or to the next truck right in front of him. ?Before the 70s, I used to lay on my bed with a BACK OF SET Radio Shack antenna and a Raytheon 5-channel CB and talk in a 5-8 mile radius. ?We had a regular round table most every night. ?Everybody was courteous, took turns, didn't use power, and we had no trouble talking--even when that roaring skip was in we could talk over it because those people weren't using extra power, either. ?When the BIG AMPS came along to replace self confidence lost I-don't-know-where, you couldn't talk a mile away. ?Now, more than ever, there are operators who think THEY have to out-talk the rest in order to feel powerful and replace the "leaking" testosterone. ?Hey, I don't have a magic answer because you and I both know that it \won't stop without some serious enforcement. ?It still boils down, nonetheless, to the fact that those truckers have those 40 channels that they can use legally. ?The hams have the 10 Meter band via licensure. ?It STILL isn't the hams' fault that those channels are screwed up, nor does it justify stealing frequencies from the rightful users--whether they are occupied or not.

I do have something of a solution, but nobody would like it. Put CB up on FRS and MURS where there is little occasion for skip, and the truckers wouldn't be bothered with all that noise. Form associations and use voluntary bandplans to separate users, so that interfer ence would be kept to a minimum. Yeah, we know that wouldn't be met with joy, don't we? We want to work "DX", play with BIG POWER, and complain about how we can't talk without our amp.
I don't mean to be ugly, but that's what it amounts to. Really, you can't have it both ways! That is truly what needs to happen; because the general public is NOT radio savvy, VHF/UHF is where CB needs to be to prevent all those "turf" wars, skip, and racket. It WOULD make a difference. Not likely to happen soon. Still, never say never.....

or just stick a rf generator in there and tune up your tank ckts with no power applied maybe. two times turns should get you very close tho.

it is the only proble m youd have in suing him (two prblem first is proving the id of the poster) is proving that you were damaged by the slander. that porblm proving that you are damaged in the OFFLINE world is hard and is the only reason Robeson hasn't been sued by me

Forget it, Scott...Morkie is drawing welfare for a "disability", and any demonstration that he can do something to overcome his "disability" means he'd have to come off welfare and get a real job.

He DOES claim an IQ of 248, though...Makes ya wonder what all that "MENSA" silliness is about with intellects like Morkie, doesn't it...?!?!

No, I was not lying.

And I am not lying about your "disability". To idiot and moron we add thief and fraud.

Tood, I'd be sweating just a little if I were you. The Justice Department has just published a release which is partially quoted below. Notice that one of the counts upon which Whorley was convicted was the possession of anime cartoons which depicted children engaged in sex acts.

Those cartoons are identical to what you are making available to the public with your own home-hosted web board. Sweat, Tood, sweat ...

"RICHMOND, Va., March 10 /U.S. Newswire/ -- Dwight Whorley, 52, of Richmond, Virginia has been sentenced to 240 months imprisonment on child pornography charges, Acting Deputy Attorney General and United States Attorney for the Eastern District of Virginia Paul J. McNulty and Assistant Attorney General for the Criminal Division Alice S. Fisher today announced.

"Whorley was convicted on November 30, 2005, after a four-day jury trial, of using a public computer at a Virginia Employment Commission ("VEC") office on March 30, 2004, to receive 20 obscene Japanese anime cartoons that graphically depicted prepubescent female children being forced to engage in sexual intercourse with adult males. Whorley was convicted under a new federal statute enacted in 2003 that criminalizes the production, distribution, or receipt of, or the possession with intent to distribute obscene drawings, cartoons, sculptures, paintings or any other obscene visual representation of the sexual abuse of children. Whorley's conviction for receiving cartoons is the first conviction under the statute that was not based on actual photographs of children. ..."

For those of you just getting to know "Mark Morgan, KB9RQZ" via his spamming and cross-posting of RRAP and other "rec.radio" groups, a little intro is due.

Mark started in here about 8 years ago with his functionally illiterate diatribes, mostly trying to get support for his "waivers" for Morse Code due to alleged neurological deficits, among which he alledges being "dyslexic".

The problem is Morkie tried to get an allergist to write his "waiver" for him. After having claimed an IQ of over 240, one has to wonder on what two fingers he added that up on. It was suggested he see a neurologist, but like every attempt to help him, he told those who suggested it to get ####ed.

On finding out that I was an enlisted retiree from the USMC, Morkie started in on tales of how >>>HE<<< was not only an officer, but a COLONEL in the US Army "chemical corps", and that he was DRAFTED ta-boot!...As if that meant a rat's pack of snot in this forum!

Of course Morkie didn't count on anyone actually being able to do math better than he...You see, based upon his birthday (which was once in QRZ), Morkie would have only been SEVEN years old when the drafted ENDED in the United States...

Anyone seeing a pattern here?

When he was busted with this fact, he then relented and "admitted" that he was "only" a lieutenant, but that his unit CO wouldn't let him resign even though he's an admitted sexual deviate. Of course he's since changed even THAT story, and he now tells a tale of how he was an enlisted clerk in the Army, discharged for emotional problems.

Yeah...Right. A "clerk" who can't even SPELL "clerk"... ! ! ! !

Over the past several years, Morkie has alternatively denied being a mental health patient, then admitted that he's being treated for "anger issues". He's also lied about being in trouble with the law...You see, Markie likes to "care" for his elderly father by taking advantage of him, then skirting the law. It's been a close shave.

Now Morkie's moved from his previous QTH in south-central Illinois to the Michigan Upper Penninsula in order to (A) avoid the aforementioned abuse issues, and to (B) take advantage of more lenient welfare laws that allow him to pork out at home while allowing you and I to "earn" his income for him.

Among his many NG credits are his claims of being stalked, his admission (and only redeeming attribute) that he not only lies, but does so without moral reservation, and that he believes that children should be TAUGHT to lie.

Morkie now "claims" to be married, but can't seem to produce any evidence of it, other than to point to the recent licensure of a female-sounding named person who shares his POB in Chassell, Michigan.

Oh yeah...His "wife"...Allegedly a law clerk or paralegal of some sort, they were allegedly married in Israel. No doubt a green card scam if they are indeed "married". Obviously she doesn't care enough about him to take his name, even to have it hyphenated with hers.

So ...for those of you just tuning in, sit back and enjoy the flailings of Mark C. "I Am A Drafted Gay Pagen Chemical Corps Officer" Morgan.

He never disappoints!

another lie

I never said I was being treated for anything anger issues or not where?

never been in trouble with law, except the occional speeding ticket

Now Steve did falsely alleg I was abusing my Old man, and it was investagted and I was cleared

yes indeed I do belive that all person should lie in the right circumstance

Steve reported me to child abuse authorities and they agreed ..with me obviously

no doubt in your mind, but reality is different she as well as myself are US citizens we choose to travelto Isreal for our Marriage and Honeymoon well I thank you one her behalf for once calling her a she rather than a he

but we simply choose to live our lives as we see fit without consulting the likes of Robeson and indeed there we have the one "crime" I am guilty of, being different something that Robeson can't stand for in even the slightest degree... and I do far beyond the slightest degree I admit

First off the PROTECT ACT and it partner COPPA (Child Obscenity Pornography Prevention Act) are unconstitutional, these laws were passed after the US Supreme Court struck down the CPPA (Child Pornography Prevention Act of 1996) and these laws are vary similar to the law that was struck down. Last time I heard these laws were being challenged in court, by the ACLU. Those two laws are so unconstitutional it not even funny
As for Whorely, Mr Whorely was just released from prision and was on probabtion, he had been found guilty of possession of child porn twice before the time mentioned above. So the violated he probabtion and it was basically three strikes and your out type of deal. You can more information about that here:

http://12.156.123.39/coppa/index.htm

Anime is accually from what I've heard at the very bottom of the Justice Department list, and it is a long list.

strange to you fine I agree but why do you care?

why is a proper topic for RADIO NG's

I bet I get no real answer to that

Id be happy to never discuss the matter in radio gruop if children like

Amps, whether certified or not will end up as they always do,,,,,,used on 11 meter and the freeband in addition to the hammie bands, regardless of what the FCC does or doesn't do.

Haven't had much luck on triple five lately,,,you been sandbaggin there lately? Most of my action has come from ssb recently. Send me an email and let me know next time you're working some dx near Dixie. Take it light and try to fly under the radar.

K1MAN EDITORIAL - ED060316A -

K3VR IS A HYPOCRITE

Old Brian holds himself out to be an A-1 amateur radio operator. But his reaction to a legitimate complaint* regarding criminal amateur radio interference by, for example, KZ8O (former ND8V), is not outrage against KZ8O but rather outrage against the station interfered with, K1MAN. Interesting! Brian has just totally destroyed his claimed amateur radio credibility.

Brian is a staunch supporter of ARRL. KZ8O is a staunch supporter of ARRL. ARRL is silent on this issue. The FCC, so far, is silent on this issue. Do you see a pattern here? Interesting!

It looks like Brian is not much of a ham after all. He is more interested in "nailing" K1MAN for something, anything, rather than FCC rules or United States law. Or, Brian is just plain stupid!

Brian is not THAT stupid. He is simply acting like a spoiled kid in kindergarten. His juvenile emotions simply over ride his adult intelligence; often seen with kids in school. Get a grip, Brian! You usually make a total fool of yourself. ARRL and the FCC are not very far behind!

FORMAL FELONY COMPLAINT

In the matter of

Glenn A. Baxter, P.E., K1MAN
Registered Professional Engineer Licensee of Amateur Radio Station K1MAN against

Michael E. Guernsey, Sr.
Licensee of Amateur Radio Station KZ8O

Complainant, Glenn A. Baxter, P.E., K1MAN, hereby makes this affidavit from his own personal knowledge and says that:

Complainant began his amateur information bulletin service at 1400 UTC on the clear frequency, 14.275 MHz., on 13 March 2006. On or before 1544 UTC, amateur radio operator Michael E. Guernsey, Sr., KZ8O, caused intentional interference to amateur radio station K1MAN in criminal violation of federal law, namely Sections 333 and 501 of the 1934 Communications Act:

Section 333:

No person shall willfully or maliciously interfere with or cause interference to any radiocommunications or any station licensed or authorized by or under this act or operated by the United States government.

Section 501:

Any person who willfully and knowingly does or causes or suffers to be done any act, matter or thing, in this Act prohibited or declared to be unlawful, or who willfully or knowingly omits or fails to do any act, matter or thing in this Act required to be done, or willfully or knowingly causes or suffers such omission or failure, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished for such offense, for which no penalty (other than a forfeiture) is provided by this Act, by a fine of not more than $10,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years or both.

At 1546 UTC K1MAN changed transmitting frequency to 14.272 MHz. to get away from this criminal radio interference.

The Q code for one's Lat/Long is QTH (is QTF the other set of Lat/Long?), and for grid square is QRA.

For dx (between QTH and QTF?), there appear to be two possibilities:
QRB and QGE.
Is QRB supposed to be the spherical dx, while QGE is the (ellipsoidal) geodetic dx?
Or are they pretty much interchangeable?

Likewise, the codes for azimuth (both obverse and reverse) aren't clear.
QTI is supposed to be the obverse course/track and QTL, the heading:
So which would be considered the azimuth/bearing?
The reverse azimuth/bearing unanimously appears to be QTE, right?

And was this "information bulletin" one of the following?:

o ARNewsline
o the Rain Report
o the HandiHam newsletter
o the ARRL letter
o This Week in Amateur Radio

If it wasn't, it was probably another one of Glenn's self-aggrandizing broadcasts.
As you know, one-way broadcasts are verboten on amateur radio. (Sec. 97.113(3)(5b))

>As you know, one-way broadcasts are verboten on amateur radio. (Sec. 97.113(3)(5b))

No where in the FCC rules does it state that an Information bulletin has to be a newscast. All those you mentioned are newscast. The rules only state it has to be "solely of subject matter of interest to the amateur radio service" (see below)

97.3 Definitions
(a) The definitions of terms used in Part 97 are:

(25) Information bulletin. A message directed only to amateur operators consisting solely of subject matter of direct interest to the amateur service.

§97.111 Authorized transmissions.

(b) In addition to one-way transmissions specifically authorized elsewhere in this Part, an amateur station may transmit the following types of one-way communications:

(6) Transmissions necessary to disseminate information bulletins;

It's funny that people only read 97.113 and not the rest of the rules including the definition

(10) Broadcasting. Transmissions intended for reception by the general public, either direct or relayed.

If the transmission is directed to the general public it's a broadcast, if it's directed to the amateur service and consist solely of subject matter of a direct interest to the amateur radio service then it's legal.

Sure you will, you can't even afford a decent TV, and have yours underneath some broken down stairs. And, nice to see you lied about your ex-streetwalker's employer receiving the letter you said wasn't mailed. I doubt they put it any "nut file" that's more lies on your part. And if Roger has a problem with store "security" well, that store better get a good laywer team together.

Maniac

(Michael Sembello/??)

Just a small town ham on a Thursday night
Lookin' for the fight of his life
In the real-time world no one believes him at all
They all say Dave's crazy

Posting insults in a beat of his heart
Changing cyberspace into life
He has danced in rec.radio.amateur.policy
Then a dancer becomes the netcop of the "velley"

Posts can cut you like a knife
If they're about your Finnish ex-whore wife
On a wire between will and what will be

He's a maniac, maniac at your door
And he's whining like he's never whined before
He's a maniac, maniac at your door
At the behest of his Finnish ex-whore

On the internet sanity is a place Dave never sees
It's a hard cold place of mystery
He can read it, but he can't control it

You work all your life for that moment in time
It could come or pass you by It's out of band, but there's always a chance
If Dave's delusions stays the night

There's a cold connective heat,
Struggling, stretching for defeat
Never stopping with his head up his fat ass

He's a maniac, maniac, I sure know
And he's whining when you don't answer the door
He's a maniac, maniac, I sure know
And he's whining on the newsgroups like never before

(Solo)

Posts can cut you like a knife
Especially ones about your Finnish ex-whore wife
On a wire between will and what will be

He's a maniac, maniac, I sure know
And he's whining like he's never whined before
